Funding delay may cut back drainage work

by LYNN ASINOF

Improvements planned for the Wheeling Drainage Ditch this spring may be reduced as a result of the state decision not to allocate money for the project this year.

John Guillou, chief engineer for the Illinois Division of Waterways, recently announced that funding for the ditch improvements to the creek would be delayed at least one year.

Guillou said that there is not enough state money available during the 1973-74 state fiscal year to widen portions of the creek south of Wolf Road as planned.

The project is one of 11 waterway programs throughout the state that will be delayed because of lack of funds.

Village Mgr. George Passolt said he was disappointed that the village would not receive any state funds for the project this year.

"I was fairly upset about it," he said. "I was anticipating it would come, or some of it at least. It bothers me that it is not forthcoming." Passolt said.

PASSOLT added he plans to write to Guillou about the delay in funding for the ditch improvements. He added, however, he had only "slight hopes" of getting the decision changed.

When asked what the effect of this decision will be on Wheeling's flood control programs, Passolt said he wasn't sure. "It's hard to say," he said. "I think it will have its effect in lessening ditch improvements."

Village officials have been planning to widen the creek for some time in an effort to reduce the back-up of water where the creek enters the Des Plaines River. Last year the state allocated $60,000 for the creek project, but the village lost the money when it failed to let bids before the state deadline.

The village temporarily abandoned the project because the residents in Meadowbrook West objected to losing the large trees which line the banks of the creek.

PASSOLT said the village has not finalized plans for the ditch improvements because officials are still investigating ways of widening the ditch without removing the trees. "The thing we're trying to decide now is how to attack it," he explained.

All of the ditch improvements planned for this spring will have to be financed with village funds raised in a referendum several years ago.

Wheeling residents however, will benefit from one project to be financed by state funds. Approximately $80,000 has been earmarked for a retention basin in the Buffalo Grove area. This project will hold back some of the storm water from upstream areas.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Culligan Water Conditioning Co., 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have determined that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause.

Police charge 2 in Hackney theft

Two Evanston men were charged Tuesday by Wheeling police in connection with the December armed robbery at Hackney's Restaurant, 231 S. Milwaukee Ave.

The complaints were issued after one of the suspects, Eddie Gibson, was identified by one of the Hackney's owners. Gibson had been arrested by Evanston police after an armed robbery in Park Ridge.

According to Wheeling police, Gibson implicated the second suspect, Paul Edelen.

Evanston police said the suspects are two of three men allegedly responsible for armed robberies in Chicago, Oak Park, Park Ridge and Evanston. The three are also suspected of a robbery and shooting in Waukegan.

Evanson police said the three probably will be charged with 10 to 15 charges of robbery. At the time of Gibson's arrest, police confiscated a sawed-off shotgun, pistols, ski-masks and $600 in currency.

Gibson and Edelen are being held under $25,000 bond for the Wheeling robbery. In this case, they reportedly made off with $50 cash and a $175 money order after tying up two maintenance men who were cleaning the restaurant.

The first hearing in the case will be at noon Monday in Evanston.

$90,000 Culligan blaze in Mount Prospect

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pairitz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section.

"We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pairitz said. "The office machines were covered."

PAIRITZ SAID 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers, Pairitz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived. The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being sprayed all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six companies that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 253-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-8390.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Pairitz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electrical controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hack-meister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culligan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Klees was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Druffel was burned on the face by a chemical.

The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire equipment and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, aided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

New ambulance coming soon

The Prospect Heights Volunteer Fire Department should have its first ambulance by the end of May.

Trustees for the Prospect Heights Fire Protection District Tuesday night ordered a new $14,000 Wayne Medicruiser, a Dodge van customized into an ambulance. The vehicle will be able to carry four people (five if they're small), and supply them with oxygen, according to Fire Chief Donald Gould.

Gould said he already has eight firemen trained to provide emergency medical care at the scene. Four are paramedics and four are emergency medical technicians.

Currently, two other firemen are undergoing paramedic training at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. Gould said all of his men eventually would be trained to provide emergency treatment.

The Prospect Heights Lions Club has donated $3,000 toward the ambulance. The fire district will pay the rest.

The department currently has three engines, with a new one expected to arrive in July. A new car for the chief was delivered to the department earlier this month. Until the new ambulance is delivered, the department will continue to rely on private ambulance service.

The war

The Viet Cong charged that South Vietnamese aircraft raided a Communist-held airfield near the Cambodian border, causing "many deaths." The Saigon command denied the charge. In Laos, the Lao government and Communist officials hoped their new peace agreement would endure.

Faculty, board agreed on ground rules

School board to discuss negotiations

Contract negotiations between the Wheeling Faculty Council and the Dist. 21 Board of Education are to be discussed in an executive session at the school board's regular meeting at 8 p.m. tonight.

Earlier this week, negotiating teams from the board and the WFC approved the ground rules for the talks on next year's contract.

Negotiations last year were open to the public. However, all sessions regarding the 1973-74 teacher contract will be closed.

The following statement was issued by both parties Tuesday:

- "The Wheeling Faculty Council and School Dist. 21 negotiating teams met from 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 19."

- Ground rules as previously agreed upon were approved as printed. Comparative proposals were exchanged and explained.

- The next meeting of the negotiating teams is scheduled for March 5 at 4 p.m."

MARGO RICHTER, WFC chairman, yesterday refused to discuss Monday's session or to disclose the topic of the March 5 meeting.

Dist. 21 Assistant Supt. John Barger, was unavailable for comment. Barger is the spokesman for the board's negotiating team.

The board is also scheduled tonight to approve an application for refunding of the Omni-House Youth Services Bureau. The application is for a $65,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. The grant is made through the school district.

LAST YEAR the bureau received a grant for more than $130,000. Because of ILLEC rules only half that amount can be granted on a yearly basis.

Other items on tonight's agenda are:

- Approval of tax shelter annuities.
- Approval of judges for the April 14 school board election.

- Acceptance of teacher resignations.
- Hiring of new principals for Twain and Whitman schools.

- Selection of a representative to a School District Organization Study.

The board will also hear a special report on the district's health services and a legislative report from Supt. Ken Gill.

The meeting will be in the board room of the Dist. 21 Administration Center, 999 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

Capital improvements occupy Stevenson board

The Adlai Stevenson High School board spent a majority of its time discussing capital improvements within the school at a regularly scheduled meeting this week.

Members examined a list of 39 items suggested by the administration and the board's building committee but took no action. Board Pres. Robert Anderson asked the finance and building committees to review the list and recommend final action at the Mar. 19 board meeting.

INCLUDED on the list is a recommendation the present temporary bleachers on the home side of the football field, which seats about 480 persons, be moved to the visitor's side and replaced with a permanent grandstand seating at least 800 spectators.

In addition, and for the first time since it opened in 1965, Stevenson will become a member of a regular athletic league next fall.

Also being considered is additional seating in the gymnasium which would increase spectator capacity from 1,152 to 1,728.

Other major items which the committees will review include draining and leveling of the varsity baseball field, refinishing the tennis courts, more hall lockers and additional ventilation in the physical education locker rooms and some classroom areas of the original building.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board adopted the 1973-74 school calendar recommended by Supt. Harold Bonser. Classes will begin on Wednesday, Aug. 29, 1973, with teachers reporting a day earlier. Christmas recess begins Dec. 21, 1973 and students return Jan. 7, 1974. Spring vacation follows Easter Sunday and the last day of school is June 13.

The board expressed its appreciation to the Sentry Club, Stevenson's athletic booster organization, for a donation of $360 to help purchase additional gymnasium equipment. The board will provide matching funds for a vaulting side horse, balance beam and Reuther board which will be used in the new girls interscholastic program this spring and by physical education students throughout the year.

A new negotiating agreement, which has been under discussion by teacher representatives and the board for several weeks, was referred to the school attorney for a final check before action by the Stevenson board at its regular meeting on March 19.

"Until the closing, we really can't do anything," Venit said.

PLANS for the three-bay, one-floor addition were drawn up in May, 1971, when voters approved a $275,000 bond referendum for an addition, remodeling of the station and more equipment. Trustees have slated $64,000 to pay for the land and to equip the new facility. About $140,000 is planned for construction of the addition, remodeling of the existing station and miscellaneous expenses such as legal fees. An additional $71,000 has been used to purchase a squad car and pumper truck and to pay a $16,000 debt on the 1968 pumper truck.

Under current plans for the addition, the trustees will have to get permission to relocate an alley that separates the current station from the Cook property. Venit said if trustees decide to use the alley, they will have to petition the Cook County Zoning Board to vacate it. He said a hearing would then be held for anyone to voice objections to relocating or vacating the alley.

Hearing on 2nd Harper campus nears

The possibility that a second Harper College campus will be located on the outskirts of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove may soon become a reality.

A public hearing will be held in the near future as a step towards setting aside a site for the campus at Palatine and Schoenbeck roads in Arlington Heights.

The hearing will be held by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission, which will decide whether or not to designate the site for educational purposes in the village master plan. At the present time, the 160-acre site is owned by the Mayo Foundation.

Though negotiations for the land have not yet started, Harper College officials told the village board Monday night that they would expect to begin building on the site in about 5 years. The Illinois Junior College Board must also approve the land purchase.

According to Harper's most recent projections, the school will be serving over 33,000 students by 1985 as compared to 10,700 students this year. The current Harper College site at Roselle and Algonquin roads in Palatine is scheduled to be completed in 1980.

The school's master plan calls for construction on a second site after 1978.

An Arlington Heights ordinance states that the college will have one year to develop the site in the event that some other developer comes up with a viable plan for the land.

Stickerless cars ticketed fine will be increased to $10, therefore costing him a total of $20, Walsh added.

The initial cost of Wheeling vehicle stickers was $8. Residents who have not purchased ones will have to pay a $5 late charge to obtain one. Motorists who are ticketed for not displaying a Wheeling sticker will be required to pay a $5 fine in addition to the initial cost and the late charge, bringing the cost to $10.

If the motorist is late to pay another late charge of $5, bringing the cost of the sticker to $20.

Biblical musical tells of Christ's life

TEEN-AGERS FROM 15 area churches, all members of the "Life" musical group, get together for a rehearsal for their next performance.

Suburb mass transit radio program topic

Two area village trustees, one from Wheeling and one from Arlington Heights, will express their views on mass transportation in the Northwest suburbs on WMMF-FM on Friday and Sunday.

Wheeling Trustee Bill Heil and Arlington Heights Trustee Dwight Walton took part in the panel discussion, which was taped Feb. 13 at Harper College. A third member of the panel was a representative of Metron Systems Co., a new transportation company in the area.

Heil said that while discussion centered on transportation problems in the Northwest suburban area, the new Wheeling village bus received considerable attention.

The radio program will be aired at 6:45 p.m. Friday and at 9 p.m. Sunday. WMMF-FM is located at 92.7 on the dial.

THE GROUP practiced from January until May to get the production letter-perfect, then went to churches throughout the area to perform it. "It went over so well we performed it about 10 times," Nancy said. "We happened to have standing ovations in many places."

After the success of "Tell It Like It Is," the group was reluctant to break up. "We couldn't let it go, so we started on 'Life' in July," Nancy said.

The group gave the first performance of the musical in November at the Alcoholics Rehabilitation Center at Lutheran General Hospital. Since then they have performed the musical about 15 times in churches and hospitals throughout the area. There are about 10 more performances planned for the future, but as Nancy explained, "every time we perform, we get more requests."

NANCY SAID she thinks joining the musical group has made a noticeable change in her friends' lives. "My group of friends has changed. And we're very close because we've been working for so long for something," she said.

Nancy admitted that the "Jesus movement" has helped to liberate many young people in talking about their religious beliefs. "The Jesus movement let Sound like an ad for an underground commune? Not at all. It's the promotion for a new biblical musical called "Life," now being produced by 67 youngsters from 15 churches in the Mount Prospect area.

First produced by Paul Skiles and a group called The Young World in Iowa several years ago, "Life" dramatizes the life of Christ in contemporary language and song. As the foreword to the musical explains, "It speaks to the young world. Of values. Of choices. Of consequences. But most of all it speaks of the life-giving Son, Jesus."

The Mount Prospect production of "Life" began last year with a group of students talking at lunch at Prospect High school about their lack of things to do.

"None of us in our separate church groups could do anything because we were so small," explained Nancy Flores, a member of the youth club at St. Mark Lutheran Church.

NANCY MENTIONED that she had seen a production of "Life" while she was visiting in Iowa the summer before. When she told her friends what the show was like, the group decided to plan a similar production themselves.

"I sent out letters to the 15 churches in the area and we held a meeting in January," Nancy said. "We only expected about 20 kids, but 45 showed up."

The only requirement to join the musical group was that a person "be a Christian and have a desire to spread Christianity," Nancy said. There were no singing tryouts or acting credentials required. "we just felt we shouldn't try to be good to spread a belief. We wanted to convince through people," she said.

Ironically, the group decided not to produce "Life" first, but rather "Tell It Like It Is," a folk musical of a similar nature.

St. Mark Lutheran Church loaned the group $75 to buy copies of the musical score. Nancy asked Ann Carpenter, a youth worker at St. Mark's to be the group's sponsor. Practice sessions were held twice a week on Monday and Saturday evenings.

After the success of "Tell It Like It Is," the group was reluctant to break up. "We couldn't let it go, so we started on 'Life' in July," Nancy said.

The group gave the first performance of the musical in November at the Alcoholics Rehabilitation Center at Lutheran General Hospital. Since then they have performed the musical about 15 times in churches and hospitals throughout the area. There are about 10 more performances planned for the future, but as Nancy explained, "every time we perform, we get more requests."

NANCY SAID she thinks joining the musical group has made a noticeable change in her friends' lives. "My group of friends has changed. And we're very close because we've been working for so long for something," she said.

Nancy admitted that the "Jesus movement" has helped to liberate many young people in talking about their religious beliefs. "The Jesus movement let kids who were Christians be more open about it. Before it was hard to admit it," she said.

Though "Life" will probably only run until the end of the school year, the group intends to produce more musicals. "I'm positive they'll want to continue," Nancy said.

Calls for new appropriations procedures

Stevenson proposes reforms

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., has introduced legislation that would establish new procedures for appropriations by the U.S. Congress.

Stevenson's bill contains three major provisions:

- That Congress be required each year to set an absolute ceiling on federal spending, based on the President's budget, economic conditions and projected revenues.

- That all federal programs be funded through one omnibus appropriations bill, rather than through separate bills, which would give Congress better means for comparing costs and benefits of various programs.

- That the President be prohibited from impounding appropriated funds and thus blocking or curtailing programs approved by Congress.

"THE NEED FOR congressional action to bring about fiscal responsibility and reordered priorities has never been greater," Stevenson said.

According to Stevenson, "fiscal responsibility will be required if we are to avoid the threat of a new round of inflation. Reordered priorities are necessary if we are to meet our pressing public needs while still keeping government spending under control."

"Congressional action appears mandatory if we are to preserve the Constitutional separation of powers and the checks and balances which the Founding Fathers rightly deemed indispensable to a viable democratic form of government," he said.

UNDER STEVENSON'S proposal, a joint committee consisting of members of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee would be required, prior to receipt of the President's budget, to hold hearings and make estimates on tax revenues for the coming fiscal year.

The Congressional Joint Economic Committee, after receiving the President's budget, would then make recommendations concerning budget surplus or deficit.

Using these recommendations, the appropriations committees of both houses would then conduct hearings and draft a bill establishing total permissible expenditures for the next fiscal year.

be solid. It will be steady. It will be sustainable.

"Let us choose responsible prosperity," he said.

The President opened by reciting a series of economic statistics already made public by the administration. He said that despite unemployment, which still is running at 5 per cent of the labor force, "the job picture today is very encouraging."

The President also said the purchasing power of the average worker's take home pay rose last year more than any time since 1955.

Nixon promises reduced food prices by mid-year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said that government programs to combat inflation, especially in food prices, will produce results that by mid-year will mean "your dollars will go further at your local shop or supermarket."

The President defended his economic policy — including the largely voluntary Phase III wage and price controls, federal budget cuts, and the recent devaluation of the dollar in a radio speech to the nation. It was a preview of the economic section of the State of the Union report he will send to Congress today.

Nixon pledged a "responsible prosperity," in which wage increases are not consumed by inflation and in which the economic boom does not depend "on the artificial stimulus of war."

THE PRESIDENT conceded food prices will continue to increase "for some months to come" until government programs to increase the supply of food begin to be felt. But he predicted the upward rise in food costs will be brought under control in the second half of the year.

"Your government is already moving vigorously to expand our food supplies," Nixon said. "We are encouraging farmers to put more acreage into production of both crops and livestock. We are allowing more meat and dried milk to come in from abroad. We have ended subsidies for agricultural exports and we are reducing the government's agricultural stockpiles. We are encouraging farmers to sell the stock they own."

"Now, measures such as these will stop the rise of wholesale food prices and will slow the rise of retail food prices.

"Unfortunately, they cannot do much about prices in the next few months but they will have a powerful effect in the second half of the year," he said.

"We have a good chance to reduce the overall inflation rate to 2.5 per cent or less by the end of 1973," Nixon said. "That means your dollars will go further at your local shop or supermarket."

THE PRESIDENT's remarks on food prices paralleled a report he gave Monday to the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO in Miami. That report, however, was made behind closed doors and only second-hand versions of the President's comments were made public.

Nixon defended his decisions to cut from the budget a number of social programs launched in the Johnson administration and earlier, which he said have not been worth what they cost.

Although many of the programs marked for elimination are intended to help the poor, Nixon insisted his action did not mean he was not concerned about those who are poverty-stricken.

"We must also switch our spending priorities from programs which give us a bad return on the dollar to programs that pay off," he said. "That is how to show we truly care about the needy."

THE PRESIDENT proposed no new steps in his radio speech, concentrating instead of an overall defense of actions already taken or announced.

"Our recent round of budget cuts can save $1 billion in this fiscal year, $1.5 billion next fiscal year, $2.5 billion the year after," he predicted. "That means an average saving of $700 over the next three years for each of America's 75 million taxpayers."

The President did not explain the figures. The government budget is increasing each year but apparently the President referred to cuts below the amount that would be needed if he did not order those economies.

Nixon insisted that by dismantling the Pay Board and Price Commission he was not removing the teeth from the government's wage and price controls.

He said the Phase III program "relies largely on self-administration, the voluntary cooperation of the American people. But if some people should fail to cooperate, we have the will and we have the means to crack down on them."

"We would like Phase III to be as voluntary as possible, but we will make it as mandatory as necessary," Nixon said.

THE PRESIDENT said the recent dollar devaluation will help ease the nation's balance of trade deficit, but he repeated that he will ask Congress for new legislation to arm American trade negotiators with the possibility of tariff increases to help them bargain for a "fairer shake" for American business and labor.

"If we do these things, 1973 can usher in a new era of prolonged and growing prosperity for the United States," Nixon concluded. "Unlike past booms, this new prosperity will not depend on the artificial stimulus of war. It will not be eaten away by the blight of inflation. It will

Council of Governments endorses single transit agency

by ROGER CAPOTTINI

A wave of support for the concept of a single mass transportation system to serve the entire six-county Chicago metropolitan area continued to swell yesterday.

day as the Cook County Council of Governments (COG) threw its weight behind the one-agency approach.

The endorsement was given at a luncheon meeting of the COG executive committee in Chicago. It was the second significant endorsement for the concept in the past week — following the expression of support voiced Saturday by the ad hoc Suburban Mass Transportation Coordinating Committee, a group of mayors from the six-county area.

The COG committee yesterday also endorsed a proposal aimed at assuring equitable representation for suburban areas in the single agency and made suggestions regarding funding and long-range planning for such a system.

COG represents 74 governments in Cook County. No representative from the City of Chicago attended yesterday's session.

ALTHOUGH THE committee did not endorse a specific legislative proposal for a single-agency system, most members clearly are in favor of Senate Bill 150, sponsored by State Rep. John Connolly, R-Waukegan.

That bill, also known as CMATS (Chicago Metropolitan Area Transportation System), calls for the creation of a single district, incorporating the Chicago Transit Authority, suburban bus lines and the six operating commuter rail lines.

It has been billed as, "an answer to the elimination of the present chaos of decentralized duplication, fragmented operations, uncoordinated plans and wasteful competition for public transit funds in the governor."

Walsh noted the makeup of the advisory committee was revised in the bill from last year in response to suburban objections that the suburbs were not being adequately represented. He said the makeup of the advisory council, "is as close as possible to the one-man, one-vote" theory, which to him makes it "an acceptable package in terms of what is politically possible."

THE COG COMMITTEE also recommended money for the system should come from an additional levy on gasoline in the six-county area, in addition to a percentage of the state's share of motor fuel tax funds.

THE CMATS bill avoids the question of funding — leaving the matter for consideration in separate legislation.

Armed with the endorsements approved by the executive committee yesterday, a COG representative said he will travel to Springfield today to make the views known to the senate committee on transportation. Rowland Schlegel, COG executive director, said he will speak to the committee at a hearing scheduled on the CMATS bill.

More support for the single-agency concept was expected to come last night from the members of the Northwest Municipal Conference. Walsh said yesterday the matter would be discussed at the meeting in Rolling Meadows in the hope of gaining still more suburban support.

New Brownie uniform to make debut

There is something new on the Girl Scout fashion scene this year — a new Brownie Girl Scout uniform.

The word "uniform" is something of a misnomer, because Brownie Girl Scouts will no longer look alike. The new uniform is so versatile it will allow each girl a choice of 24 different ways to wear it.

On March 3, just in time for Girl Scout Week, the new Brownie uniform will be introduced. It will have five separates to mix 'n' match — an A line jumper, blouse and tie, pants, shorts and rib-knit top, all in permanent press with soil release finishes. With these, each girl will be able to express her own individuality, dressing the way she likes and still be in official uniform.

The jumper can be worn alone as a dress or combined with the blouse, pants, shirts or top to get any one of 12 different effects. An optional belt increases these possible combinations to 24 different looks.

More important, the new uniform's versatility makes it adaptable to every Brownie Girl Scout activity from running, camping and hiking to dressing up for church or synagogue in Girl Scout Week, March 11 to March 17.

THE NEW UNIFORM is alive with color. The knit top and tie are tangerine to go with the brown pinpoint check of the jumper and pants. The blouse is white with brown variegated stripes of a stylized Girl Scout trefoil design.

In the early days of scouting only size distinguished Brownies from their older sisters. They all wore the same uniform. But in 1926, the Brownie Scout had her own brown dress complete with peaked pixie hat and matching bloomers.

In 1933, the uniform became a brown cotton dress with short raglan sleeves and round collar, and a brown woolen beret alternated with the peaked hat. In 1941, the uniform became a one-piece dress of brown cotton chambray, and the brown felt beanie was introduced.

It wasn't until 1962, the last Brownie uniform change, that a little color was introduced. This was the addition of a tangerine tie and a tangerine embroidered Brownie emblem on the beanie. The beanie is still part of the uniform.

The environment

by LEA TONKIN

PEACE WITH nature: seeking to soothe the ruffled feathers of hawks and doves on this front, President Nixon says victory is within reach in the battle for a better environment.

He wants Congress to approve 10 pieces of legislation it refused to enact last session, plus eight new proposals in this campaign. Old proposals range from attacks on industrial polluters emitting high-sulphur fuel to controls over strip-mining. Safe drinking water standards and the establishment of a national land use policy and wilderness areas in the eastern states are among the new proposals.

Saying he takes a dim view of the "doomsday mentality which says we are destined to pollute ourselves out of existence," the President indicated he will announce "wide-range initiatives to insure necessary supplies of energy at acceptable economic and environmental costs" in his upcoming energy message. Originally slated for January or February, this message may now be delayed until mid-March or later.

Coordination of the many agencies dealing with energy and the environment is expected to be an important part of the energy message. Also, changes in oil import regulation and other emphasis on new technology.

ALREADY UNHAPPY about the prospects for Nixon's energy policy, the Washington-based Environment News Service says the consensus among legislative aides and environmentalists in Washington is that the President will emphasize: coal as the best fuel to meet American energy requirements; selective loosening of air pollution controls to allow greater use of coal-fired power plants; opposition to strict strip mining control; continuation of modified oil import quotas; deregulation of natural gas industry; voluntary energy conservation measures; reorganization of federal agencies for unified energy policy; and long-term reliance on liquid metal fast breeder reactors.

Typical is the comment by Richard Sandler, energy consultant to Ralph Nader: "If the oil companies haven't contrived the energy crisis, they've certainly exploited it to their maximum advantage. Oil company line as swallowed by Nixon is a modern hellfire and brimstone speech saying that, if we don't follow the company line we'll all end up freezing in hell."

RELAXATION of rules can save you money. That's the contention of Ford Motor Co. Pres. Lee A. Iacocca, in his appeal for easing tough auto pollution standards. Federal cleanup policies would require use of costly catalytic converters for 1975 exhaust-cleaning standards. Iacocca says the antipollution systems for 1975 models will cost an extra $300 per car.

Time is running out, according to Iacocca, echoing General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. complaints. He said it's only three months away from start of testing required for 1975 model production, and reliable test results are not yet available.

He'd like a one-year delay in 1975 pollution control standards, with interim standards cutting back on acceptable emission levels. A tougher standard in California, amendment of the Clean Air Act to extend interim standards through 1976 and study of auto pollution by the new Office of Technology Assessment are also favored by the Ford executive.

"Backed to the cliff edge of desperation," the auto industry is facing the possibility of a total shutdown if 1975 standards are enforced, contends Iacocca. A U.S. Appeals court recently ruled the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency must reconsider an earlier rejection of auto maker requests for a delay in implementing the Clean Air Act standards.

PROPOSED hearings on animal waste regulations were postponed for six months in action by the Illinois Pollution Control Board. Steven Klein, the board's legal advisor, said the IPCB granted a motion of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency which sought to suspend the hearings.

Odors and water pollution hazards were to be dealt with by prohibiting livestock operations in certain areas and requiring strict controls in other areas, Klein said of the proposed standards. Hearings already have been held in several Illinois municipalities. According to Klein, the postponement will give all interested parties a chance to study the record and a new federal proposal.

Farmers testifying at the hearings complained that these regulations would lead to higher costs and force many Illinois farmers out of business. Higher food costs would result from this stifling of competition, they maintained.

YEAR OF DECISION for the atom and the lake. According to the Lake Michigan Federation, worries about nuclear plants vary, as each unit is unique in siting and design. The federation urges citizens to be informed on these issues as efforts to license three more nuclear power plants around Lake Michigan proceed in 1973, as well as hearings on the operating and construction licenses at two other sites.

At the nearby Zion station, startup is slated this year on at least one of the two generating units. Operating license hearings are slated in April by the Atomic Energy Commission. Defective core design, vulnerability to sabotage are issues cited by intervenors in addition to its location near large population centers.

"THE ATOM AT WORK: peaceful or perilous" will be discussed at a public meeting in the main auditorium of the Technological Institute of Northwestern University, Evanston, on March 7. The 7:30 p.m. meeting will include discussion of issues raised at the April hearing.

Range of viewpoints will be presented by: Byron Lee, assistant to the president of Commonwealth Edison Co.; David Comey, director of environmental research, Businessmen for the Public Interest; Donald Eggen, chairman of the nuclear engineering department at Northwestern; and Jacob DuMelle, a member of the IPCB. Stephan Merrick of the Lake Michigan Committee on Pollution will moderate the discussion.

Sponsoring organizations, in addition to the Lake Michigan Federation, include National Council of Jewish Women of Evanston-Niles; Evanston Peace and World Affairs Center; Illinois Women's Political Caucus of the Tenth Congressional District; Evanston League of Women Voters; and the Sierra Club.

ATTY. GEN. Frank J. Kelley intervened on behalf of the state of Michigan in a lawsuit seeking to stop pollution of Lake Michigan by four Wisconsin cities. The lawsuit, begun by the state of Illinois, alleges that untreated raw sewage and improperly treated sewage is being dumped into the lake by Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha and South Milwaukee.

Seeking to restrain this discharge of sewage and to seek further relief as necessary, Kelley said, "As a result of these discharges into Lake Michigan, the quality of Lake Michigan as a source of drinking water, recreation, sailing, fishing and other legitimate uses is significantly degraded."

ABOUT-FACE in request for less strict pollution control regulation by Commonwealth Edison Co. causes some speculation on the "energy crisis." Late last week, the utility dropped its bid for an exemption for a major downstate power plant after state EPA officials questioned its request.

At the Powerline station near Peoria, Edison wanted to use the coalburning units as a means of conserving oil supplies. After EPA officials pointed out the increased emissions of dust and sulphur dioxide that would result from this action, the utility was asked to prove that it had exhausted all possible sources of oil. An Edison spokesman then said the variance "isn't urgent," due to moderate weather conditions.

Four-part tax plan's best

Two proposals aimed at speeding the collection of property taxes in Cook County are expected to be introduced during the current session of the Illinois General Assembly.

Both are identical in purpose, if not in method, and warrant careful consideration by the legislature. The first was designed by Cook County Board Pres. George Dunne, the second by State Sen. Bradley Glass, R-Northfield.

While we commend the objective and concern they share, we prefer Dunne's plan.

Under either proposal, property taxes in the county would be collected earlier in the year, thereby eliminating or reducing drastically the necessity for governmental agencies to issue tax anticipation warrants.

Currently, property taxes are collected in two equal installments, payable May 1 and Sept. 1 of each year. Because of the late collection dates, governmental bodies frequently are forced to issue warrants or other short-term notes to provide the needed monies until the taxes are collected.

The interest paid on those warrants and notes by the several hundred taxing bodies in the county each year has been estimated at more than $30 million.

Dunne's plan calls for a change in the collection system to four times a year. A partial tax bill would be issued by Dec. 15 each year and the first installment, representing 16 2/3 per cent of the total, would be payable by Jan. 15. Equal payments would then be due March 15 and May 15, with the balance due July 15.

Glass' bill retains the two-installment collection schedule, but advances the dates and percentages of those payments. The first installment would amount to 60 per cent of the total, payable Feb. 1 each year. The balance would be due July 1.

Glass has noted his plan would bring more money to the taxing agencies even faster than Dunne's plan. Additionally, he said the four-installment plan would be inefficient because the county treasurer would have to compute and mail tax bills four times a year instead of twice.

While we recognize the Glass plan would increase the amount collected earlier in the year, we do not feel a four-installment plan significantly would increase the costs or work of the treasurer's office — an office well endowed with computer equipment.

Moreover, we suspect the senator's plan, if adopted, might create a hardship on many taxpayers — particularly on older persons.

While it is true many people deposit their tax payments with their mortgage payments to banks and savings and loan associations each month, older persons who have paid off their mortgages might be hardpressed to meet the 60 per cent February payment.

If either proposal, essentially, will meet the stated objective, one perhaps slightly inconveniencing the county treasurer's office, the other presenting a hardship on some taxpayers — we will opt for the former.

But while we are inclined toward Dunne's plan, we feel adoption of either one would represent a progressive step in the collection of taxes. Either plan would eliminate the current unreasonable system, through which millions of dollars are wasted and we urge the legislature to stop this annual drain.

'1984' rejected

It seems like only a few days ago that President Nixon was saying in his second inaugural address that the government should not meddle so much in the lives of Americans.

Now we learn that the Defense Department would like to place a radio receiver in everyone's home so warnings of impending tornadoes, floods or nuclear attack could be transmitted more quickly.

Well-meaning as this might be, the idea of electronic devices that link individuals' homes with government offices is more than a little distasteful.

Maybe it is because the plan smacks so much of George Orwell's "1984" where the ultimate dictator, Big Brother, keeps track of people via television cameras placed in every room in every building.

But it is chilling to think of the potential for illicit spying involved in the presence of electronic devices in our homes.

The Defense Department reportedly wanted to force television set manufacturers to build the warning device into all new sets. But the White House opted for a voluntary system, apparently mindful of the "1984" parallels.

The Pentagon protests that its system, soon to undergo its first tests, cannot listen or watch, only warn. And it says that under the current siren-based system, it takes a half-hour to reach even 75 per cent of the population.

Could we not, however, improve the warning system as much, simply by expanding the siren network or installing the radio receivers on street corners instead of in homes?

Such a system would, if anything, cost less than a mandatory in-home device. It would be more effective than a voluntary individual home setup. And it would avoid the unpleasant hints of totalitarianism that might make us wonder even more if the road to 1984 isn't paved with good intentions.

Bob Lahey's column

Otto Kerner, nine years ago

by BOB LAHEY
Political Editor

The first (OK, the only) time that I met Otto Kerner, there were two distinctly startling things about the encounter.

The first was those incredibly deep and penetrating and beautiful blue eyes. Beautiful may be a strange way for one man to describe another man's eyes, but there is no other suitable word. They were like laser beams, looking straight into and through yours and causing a sort of tingling in the back of your skull.

They were unquestionably the eyes of a strong, direct, capable and honest man who had never known a moment's sleeplessness.

I harbor this suspicion that the career of Otto Kerner, who rode a wave of public confidence to the governorship and an honored position on the federal bench — until it crashed against a rock of bribery and perjury — was rooted in the bottomless depth of those penetrating blue eyes.

You simply could not look into those eyes without the deep-seated conviction that you were talking to an honest man.

Otto

That's the other thing. When I first (OK once) shook hands with Otto Kerner, I was looking eyeball-to-eyeball at those cerulean eyes. The trouble was that the governor was standing on the front porch of a small-town home, and I — never considered a candidate for center on the basketball team — was standing on the first step.

From all the pictures of Kerner that I had seen, with that chiseled chin, wavy hair and massive shoulders, I would have been convinced that he was at least 6-foot-4.

But that was a shock that passed as you heard him talk, witnessed his charming smile, his imposing self-assurance. After half an hour in his presence, he had become 6-foot-4 again.

His host was a young Democratic attorney, the son, I think, of a former county Democratic chairman, who was at that time part of a reform movement trying to clean up some questionable elements in the party and oust some of the old money politicians from their power bases.

Memory dims about what the governor had to say over punch and cookies that afternoon, but I think it had to do with honesty and integrity in state government.

Kerner, in his campaign visit to Champaign County, had come not to the holders of power, but to the obscure rural home of the advocate of cleaning up what we later came to know as "race-track politics."

I don't recall exactly what he said and I don't recall what I wrote about a first story I ever wrote about a governor. But I do recall going away thinking it was nice to have a governor who was 6-foot-4, if not by the tape measure, at least in his commitment to honest government.

Amnesty editorial angers reader

Your editorial of February 14 still sticks in my craw and try as I might I can't swallow it.

To call deserters, dodgers and objectors prisoners of war is beyond my comprehension. It is a gross insult to the real prisoners of war. Men, some of whom spent the best eight years of their lives in a country not of their own choosing, under conditions we just simply can't imagine. You have to live through it to know it.

As for your kind of prisoner of war, I say leave them where they are. If their chosen country ever gets into difficulty they will all defect back to us anyway. Just remember, their objection begins in the spine and not in the mind. Amnesty? What for? We did without them before, we don't need them now. Even the real P.O.W.s are only second best. The ones we should mourn for are the thousands who will never return. Their families deserve and should have our sympathy and help. Those brave men deserve our everlasting thanks, love and devotion.

Business Today

by LeROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The hospital industry is becoming a substantial tax-payer.

Most people think of hospitals as being either tax-supported or tax-exempt. However, since Medicare and Medicaid came into existence and the prepaid health insurance industry has expanded, investor-owned hospitals and nursing homes have spread across the country. They pay both property taxes and federal and state income taxes.

There are about 40 companies in this business, operating chains of from half a dozen to several score institutions. They still have less than 5 per cent of the hospital beds in the country but are buying up some long-established voluntary hospitals and taking over the operation of others.

One such company, Extendicare, Inc., of Louisville, paid out $3.29 million in property taxes last year, plus $6 million in federal, state and local income taxes.

THE GROWTH-RATE of the investor-owned hospital business indicates there will be lot more tax-paying hospitals in the years ahead.

This is inevitable, according to David A. Jones, Extendicare's chairman, because communities will not be able or inclined to build more tax-supported hospitals, and it is getting increasingly difficult to build and maintain voluntary hospitals.

Voluntary hospitals have a vast majority of the beds now. They also have experienced extreme increases in daily operating costs. That's mainly because of the division of control in their operation between the medical staff, the hospital administration and the trustees or sponsoring organization, which may be a church group.

Jones said many of these hospitals actually are making money but the surplus disappears in inadequate cost controls and ill-advised policies. Before the era of inflation many tax-exempt voluntary hospitals accumulated large surpluses which they invested in expanded facilities, not always wisely.

THAT INVESTOR-OWNED hospitals can operate considerably more cheaply is generally conceded. They also have less capital investment. Jones said Extendicare is building new hospital facilities at $25,000 to $30,000 a bed against a national average of about $50,000 a bed.

They save through volume buying, reducing maintenance expense, using unitized doses of medicines and drugs and other methods.

Jones said that most investor-owned hospitals try to avoid duplicating existing facilities, already adequate in a community. Nevertheless, he said 4 of Extendicare's 48 hospitals provide full emergency room service and many take emergency patients. Most provide facilities complete enough for even open heart surgery.

Several of its hospitals are teaching hospitals.

It operates St. Joseph's in Louisville, the largest hospital in Kentucky, taken over in 1970 from the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth.

More hearings set in ICC utility ad probe

Probing the need for public advertising and who should pay for it, the Illinois Commerce Commission scheduled another hearing in Springfield today and has tentatively planned a March 1 hearing in Chicago on this subject.

Lining up in favor of promotional utility ads are Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and Commonwealth Edison Co. Opposition to the cost and content of ads has been voiced by intervenors including the Independent Voters of Illinois and Citizens for a Better Environment.

In the most recent hearing on utility advertising policies, Illinois Bell's vice president of public relations, Edward M. Block, testified advertising helps the utility keep operating costs down.

He told hearing examiner Stephen Claggett Illinois Bell spent approximately $3.8 million last year on different types of promotions and advertising. The company passed along $270,000 of this amount to its parent firm, American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the rest to consumers.

Block described 64 per cent of the company's advertising as informative and 36 per cent as promotional. Without advertising service, rates would increase, he said.

The pressure to allow branching is on the financial industry this year more than in past years, as federally chartered savings associations may begin branching operations July 1. "If a (branching) bill doesn't pass, we're going to be in a serious dilemma as far as the state chartered savings and loan associations," Lanigan said. "The federally chartered S&L's will have a competitive advantage."

LANIGAN SEES the benefits of a limited branching proposal in terms of consumer needs. Greater efficiency and providing more services are among the advantages.

The Illinois Bankers Association (IBA) voted earlier this year not to accept a proposed recommendation for change in bank structure to allow limited branching operations. Last week, IBA president John McKnight urged "progressive" bankers to take their branching proposals directly to legislators in Springfield.

The Federal Home Loan Bank announced it will allow limited branch operations for federally-chartered savings associations as of July 1. More than 30 applications for branch operations have been received by the board.

No-return container hearings open today

The next Illinois Pollution Control Board hearings on proposed nickel deposit for no-return beverage containers in Illinois will be held today and tomorrow in Chicago. The hearings will each begin at 10 a.m. at the Field Museum.

Hearing examiner Steven Klein said earlier that testimony will be accepted in person or in writing. These hearings could be the last conducted on the proposal. A deadline would then be set for submitting additional information.

The proposed regulation was submitted by the solid waste task force of the Illinois Institute of Environmental Quality. It would impose a five-cent surcharge on one-way beverage containers sold in Illinois.

A variety of environmental and civic groups have testified in favor of the measure. Opposition has come from glass industry representatives and labor organizations.

Additional information is available from the association offices by calling 678-366.

GENERAL INFORMATION:

Palatine, the fifth town on the solid line of northwest "finger" communities along the C&NW's right-of-way, is a cross between country town and city suburb. The central village has a peaceful appearance given by towering trees and large frame houses. Palatine celebrated its centennial as a "real home town" in 1955, during the decade of its 182% population growth. Recently, several industrial parks have been developed along with separate distinct areas for light industry and professional building complexes.

SCHOOLS:

There are 13 elementary and 2 high schools serving the area. The pupil-teacher ratio is 22.1 with $627 spent annually per pupil. In addition, there are 2 Catholic and 1 Lutheran elementary school. Harper Junior College is also located within the village.

CHURCHES:

Included in the village are 3 Catholic, 3 Lutheran, an Apostolic Baptist, Bible, Christian Service, Episcopal, Evangelic and Reformed, Presbyterian, and United Methodist houses of worship.

HOUSING:

The majority of the homes in Palatine were built during the last 12 years, and range in price from $34,000 to $175,000. New homes start at $37,500. There are some 2,200 rentals priced from $200 to $350 per month. Several multi-acre total living developments are under construction, and there are many ultra-modern townhouses and apartment complexes on the perimeter of the village.

TRANSPORTATION:

C&NW railroad provides 53 minute service to the Loop (40 minutes on express trains). United Motor Coach buses make 89 minute trips to the Loop. Schaumburg Transportation Company provides local bus service and Northwest Tollway entrance is 3 miles south of the village.

MEDICAL:

Northwest Community Hospital in adjacent Arlington Heights and Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village provide health care. There are 3 family medical centers in town, plus an additional center in the planning stages. There are currently 16 practicing doctors and 15 dentists in Palatine.

TOWN SHOPPING:

The active two-part downtown area is supplemented by 5 outlying areas. In addition, Palatine residents may make use of Randhurst Center in nearby Mount Prospect and Woodfield Mall is located 2 miles south at Golf Road and Route 53. There are 3 20-unit shopping centers planned for areas on the perimeter of the village.

RECREATION:

The Palatine Park District and the Salt Creek Park District serve this suburb and the surrounding communities. There are several forest preserves, 2 community golf courses, plus 8 nearby public and private country clubs, tennis clubs, and golf courses. Arlington Park Race Track is located 2 miles southeast of the village. A Y.M.C.A. is to be completed in 1973.

HISTORY:

Many of the early settlers of the Palatine area came from New England, probably in search of rich farmland. Using Indian trails, they continued north and west of the settlement at Fort Dearborn (named Chicago). Two of these trails are today Algonquin and Rand Roads. The location of the Village of Palatine was determined by the building of the present Wisconsin Division of the Chicago and North Western Railway, which first operated as the Illinois and Wisconsin and then the Prairie du Chien and Fond du Lac. The government of Palatine officially began in 1866.

No history would be complete without some mention of the enormous population growth during the last 25 years. In the 12 years since 1960, Palatine's population has increased from 11,504 to 27,500, a jump of more than 239%. During the last 12 years there has also been a marked increase in the industrial growth rate.

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS:

Palatine residents enjoy numerous social and civic clubs, and there is the famous "Joint" teenage supervised social club.

GOVERNMENT:

The Mayor of Palatine heads its village form of government. He is also the Village President, and heads a Board of 6 trustees, all of whom are elected at large. The Village Manager, chief administrator, is responsible for carrying out the policies and legislation passed by the Village Board.

CREB holds club meeting

The increasingly-attractive avenue of syndication is the topic of the February 28 meeting of the Chicago Real Estate Board's Salesman's Club, according to Thomas P. Conzardy, president of the Club.

The featured speakers are Michael R. Sparks, president and treasurer of Sparks & Co., and Robert D. Brodley, president of Systech Development.

Meeting co-chairmen Barbara Novak, of Baird & Warner, Inc. and John Desch, of Anton Schmid & Co., have arranged for the meeting to be held at the Burnham Park Yacht Club, 1500 S. Linn St. The program begins at 5:30 p.m. with a complimentary cocktail hour hosted by Baird & Warner, Inc.

All people holding full membership in the Club will not be charged for the meeting. The registration fee for non-members is $10.00 each, and a full-course dinner is included.

Sparks is also chairman of the board of Sparks Real Estate Partnership Securities, Inc., and vice-president and secretary of OBM Corporation. Having been active in real estate since 1968, Sparks specializes in apartment properties. His company presently manages more than 4,000 apartment units.

Brodley is also vice-president of the Systech Financial Corp., one of the nation's largest syndicators. He recently was a partner in the formation of Shelter Real Estate to syndicate a great number of apartment buildings.

For meeting reservations, contact the C.R.E.B. office at 18 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, 60603.

Mrs. Ellis joins Rich Port, Realtor

Dotti Ellis, sales manager of the Park Ridge office of Rich Port, Realtor, has announced that Frances Bond has joined her staff as a sales associate.

She will be working with buyers and sellers of residential property in Park Ridge, Des Plaines and other nearby communities.

A native of Park Ridge, Mrs. Bond graduated from Maine East High School and attended Gregg Business College. Prior to joining Rich Port, she was secretary-treasurer of Northwest Commercial Printers.

The Park Ridge, Rich Port, Realtor office is one of seventeen throughout the northwest and west suburbs specializing in residential, commercial and investment real estate.

Des Plaines building mortgage increased

Baird & Warner has recently completed an increase to $1,750,000 on its existing leasehold first mortgage for the multi-tenant industrial warehouse and office building located at the southeast corner of Touhy & Wolf roads, Des Plaines.

The increase in the financing, according to the company, was due to the success of the project and increased rental over the projected rents. This 214,000-square foot property was, when announced, the country's largest multi-tenant incubator building.

Sold By Dorothy Bogdas

... this says it all!

Yes, another home both listed and sold by Starck. Sure, some of our listings are sold by other brokers through MAP Multiple Listing Service, Inc. BUT, we sell a whole bunch of our listings and we do it FAST!

How?

In any successful business the most valuable resource is people. We are very proud of all the salesmen, managers and office personnel in our organization. We select them carefully, train them well and keep retraining so that our clients and customers get total real estate service.

In addition, our advertising and merchandising is aggressive and combines both quantity and quality. Every home we list has its own merchandising campaign put into writing. You are kept informed of all details and progress every step of the way until the property is sold.

An important part of merchandising is establishing the proper selling price for your property. Using established and accurate appraisal techniques we prepare a Value Analysis on your property. This results in a fast sale at top market price for you.

We offer three exclusive extras that greatly assist us in selling your property:

1. Inter-City Relocation Service Inc. 650 nationwide Realtors constantly are referring their transferred clients to us. In 1972 this has resulted in over $2,000,000 in additional sales.
2. Palace Guard, Inc. In this age of consumerism buyers expect to purchase things and know that they will work properly or will be fixed so that they do. Palace Guard Service is only offered through us.
3. The Starck Home Guarantee Purchase Plan and Petere PET Equity Program permits us to sell a buyer your property and "take his home in trade" anywhere in the country.

Since 1960 Robert W. Starck & Co., Realtors have sold thousands of homes in the great Northwest Suburbs. We have grown to five offices with over fifty associates.

We'd love to spotlight your home with our SOLD sign!

Oakwood offers fine craftsmanship

Beneath and behind the furnishings in the Oakwood model home at Steeple Run, the construction-wise visitor will recognize a high level of craftsmanship. There's no skimping on hidden details. All the important finishing touches are meticulously performed. All materials are of top quality. Yet the home is spacious, luxurious, and carries a price tag of only $38,500.

The builder is Realty Company of America (REALCOA). According to Harold Palmer, president of REALCOA, "A lot of factors contribute to the high level of craftsmanship we put into our Steeple Run homes. But one of the most obvious is the fact that we've built these same models for a long time in other REALCOA communities such as Hinsdale in Darien. Our workmen know the details of these homes by heart, so they can work accurately and fast. This efficiency, by the way, is one reason why we can offer these homes at substantial savings over comparable homes in other communities."

The Oakwood is a three-bedroom split-level — brick and aluminum siding — with a double front door entry. There's a broad, tiledoyer, (18 feet 5 inches x 12 feet), carpeted living room and carpeted formal dining room on the main level. The decorator-appointed kitchen features a choice of colors and wood cabinetry, eye-level double oven and range with swinging out hood, under-counter dishwasher, garbage disposal, mica counter tops and a compartmental sink.

There is even a spacious pantry — a popular feature with any housewife. The breakfast area of the kitchen is, a wrought-iron-railed balcony which overlooks the optional lower level, including 21 feet 9 inches x 12 feet 5 inches paneled family room. A brick fireplace focuses attention on the far end of the room.

Also on the lower level is a bath shower and an exceptionally large laundry/utility room.

Up the carpeted stairway, the upper level contains three large bedrooms and a family full bath with ceramic floor and wall tile and cultured marble vanity. All bedrooms are fully carpeted — including the closets.

BUYERS OF the Oakwood will share with other Steeple Run residents in the enjoyment of over 40 acres of private parkland in their "back yard." Lakes, too, are being created. And many recreational conveniences, including a club house, swimming pool, tennis courts, cycle paths and "tot lots" will add to the value and pleasure of Steeple Run living.

The Naperville area near Steeple Run abounds with excellent, nearby schools, churches of all denominations, country clubs, etc. Shopping is convenient, with Yorktown and Oak Brook Shopping Centers just a few minutes away. Burlington-Northern train service and nearby expressways bring you to downtown Chicago in minutes.

Furnished models are open at Steeple Run from 10 a.m. until dusk, seven days a week, and can be reached by taking the East-West Tollway to Rte. 53 (South Exit). Go south on Route 53 to Maple Avenue, then west approximately one mile. From the western suburbs, take Rte. 53 to Maple Avenue, then west on Maple to Steeple Run.

For years, that reliable electric pump has been providing all the good fresh well water your family needs.

Now you're thinking about installing a second or third bathroom in your home. Or buying an automatic dishwasher. Or putting in a lawn sprinkler. Suddenly, you discover that "old reliable", just won't deliver the water you need, at the pressures these new facilities require.

If you are modernizing your home with new water-using appliances (or perhaps your family is getting larger), then it's time to take a good, hard look at your present home water system — to determine if it will give you the type of service your family needs, or will need in the future.

What about your water system pump, for example? The important question here is: Do you have a pump that will deliver all the water your family needs, when you need it? You should have enough pressure to allow the use of several outlets at the same time.

To determine the correct pump size, a knowledge of the peak water demand in your home is essential. The demand, or capacity, in gallons per minute should equal the number of water outlets installed in your home. For example, a water system with a capacity of 12 gallons per minute would be required for a modern home with two bathrooms, a kitchen, an automatic dishwasher, an automatic washing machine, a laundry tub in the basement, and two outside faucets.

YOUR WATER system should be capable of delivering the required capacity in your home continuously for one hour. You'll need about 75 gallons a day per person for household use, plus more for outside use. If you live on a farm, these requirements are much greater, of course.

A water system is normally set to operate at pressures between 20 and 40 pounds per square inch. Where special situations exist — where the pump is installed at a great distance from the house or outlets are more than 20 feet above the pump — manufacturers now recommend 30 psi to 50 psi systems.

If you want to make sure you have the right water system for your home, the Water System Council suggests that you contact a reliable local water systems dealer. He may be a well driller, a plumber, a hardware dealer, or a home appliance dealer. Your dealer will be happy to check out your present system to see if it will do the required job. He will help you calculate your exact water requirements based on the facilities and appliances installed in your home. He'll help you select the right system if your present system needs replacing.

A water system properly sized for pressure delivers a full even flow of fresh water simultaneously to all levels in the house. For more information on modern wells and water systems, write Dept. 16, Water System Council, 221 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Brown's renews lease at shopping center

Brown's Fried Chicken, one of the original tenants, has renewed its lease at the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center.

Marty Wilts of Baird & Warner, Inc., leasing and management agent for the center, announced that Winton Clements, the proprietor, has renewed his lease for five years.

The fried chicken establishment which is located in the enclosed mall at the west end of the center, has been in operation there since the center first opened in 1956.

Mrs. Polanzi named salesman of the year

Rich Port salesman honored

Faye A. Harris of Rich Port, Realtor, Schaumburg office, received the award for the highest sales volume in the five offices in the Northwest division for the month of January, 1973. This was accomplished after only six months as a sales associate.

Bert Carlson, sales manager, made the announcement and stated that Mrs. Harris had done an outstanding job and was well on her way to receiving the coveted membership in the Million Dollar Sales Club.

Prior to joining the Rich Port organization, Mrs. Harris worked in the admissions office at the University of Illinois and taught school in Homer, Ill. and El Paso, Tex.

She is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, receiving a B.S. degree in education. In addition, she attended Texas Western College at El Paso, Texas, where she took graduate courses in guidance and counseling. She also took real estate courses at Harper College.

A native of DuQuoin and Carbondale, Mrs. Harris with her husband, Wade, and two children reside in Hoffman Estates. She is a former president of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, a member of the Barrington Belles Golf League, and the Hillcrest PTA.

The Schaumburg office of Rich Port, Realtor is located at 8 North Roselle Rd., and is one of five offices in the Northwest, and twelve in the Western suburbs serving more than 100 Chicago land communities, all specializing in residential, commercial and investment real estate.

TIPS TO HOME BUYERS AND HOME SELLERS FROM
MAP MULTIPLE LISTING REAL ESTATE SERVICE

When You Try To Sell Your Property Yourself . . .

You have a long period of inconvenience, expense, tedious work and frustration.

Your chances of finding a buyer are not only limited but also diminish with the length of time the property remains unsold. It's much more difficult for an owner to "talk price" directly with a potential buyer than it is to negotiate through an experienced Real Estate salesperson.

Your "For Sale by Owner" sign may as well say "Curiosity Seekers, Welcome" because you'll find yourself again and again answering the doorbell for lookers who have no intention of buying. Your MAP Multiple Listing Service Real Estate salesman can screen the lookers from the qualified buyers and save you days of wasted time, trouble and energy.

Savings and Loan League sees more housing output

Continuing low vacancy rates in both single-family and multi-family housing, coupled with the rise in consumer buying expectations regarding the purchase of homes this year point to another excellent year of housing output in 1973, according to the United States Savings and Loan League.

In its Trends Annual Report, the League pointed out that the vacancy rate on single-family homes in the third quarter of 1972 was only 0.9 per cent, the lowest level since 1960. Even rental units vacancy rates have not increased much, despite the record construction of rental units.

"At 5.8 per cent in the third quarter of 1972, the rental vacancy rate is still well below the average level which prevailed from 1968 to 1967," the publication stated.

According to the report, its optimistic view of the 1973 housing scene is not reflected by all observers, several of whom are forecasting a far more significant decline in housing.

The publication said that the decline analysis is based on the premise that the pent-up demand of the late 1960's has been met, and the annual demands since then have been easily accommodated.

The publication flatly states that much of the confusion about how much housing is needed stems from "hopelessly inaccurate" projections by the Census Bureau. According to the Bureau's old household formation projections — which formed the basis for the 10-year national housing goal of 26 million units — the supply of new units including mobile homes during 1971-1972 has exceeded these projections and overbuilding has resulted.

"THE MAJOR ERROR of this analysis results from the fact that these household projections have been found to be hopelessly inaccurate," the Trends report declared. "Census estimates of household formations through March 1972 show the old projections to have underestimated household formations by over 1.2 million. Moreover, the error has been widening during the last few years, making the possibility of a nationwide overbuilding situation extremely unlikely."

The Trends report also pointed out that many observers have over-estimated the supply of new units as well. Much of the new mobile home stock goes for commercial and industrial applications or as replacements. At most, only 75 per cent of mobile homes go to the housing inventory.

"If the appropriate adjustments are made to both the demand and supply sides of the housing equation," the publication said, "the imbalance is not a surplus on the supply side. Quite the contrary, a substantial demand backlog exists which must be added to 1973's incrementally strong demand outlook."

The Trends report said there are other factors working for a favorable 1973 housing outlook. It said:

"Of greatest importance has been the relative success of our country's anti-inflation fight. With the rate of inflation now only half the level of a couple of years ago, interest rates and the flow of funds into mortgage lending institutions should remain favorable to housing next year, although not as favorable as in 1972."

Home builders take steps to reduce noise pollution

Noise pollution may be at an all-time high.

"But in one area — home building — constructive steps are now being taken to halt this threat to domestic tranquility and health."

So declares Jackson W. Goss, president and chief executive officer of Investors Mortgage Insurance Co., Boston, an organization in the private mortgage insurance industry.

"Home builders are helping to create refuges from ear-shattering noise," Goss says. "They feel that the least one can expect is to escape noise pollution in one's own home."

HE DEPLORES the fact that so many innovations designed to effect the ultimate in convenience, to help reduce the work load and to bring about greater pleasure, are the very ones which have caused serious noise factors.

Mobile home mortgages decrease

Delinquent mortgages have decreased for the third consecutive year, according to the 21st annual survey on mobile home financing produced by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association.

Totals from 321 participating financial institutions revealed delinquent accounts in 1971 were only about 1.5 per cent of $30,363 outstanding accounts, compared with 2.1 per cent of 483,115 outstanding accounts in 1969.

"More financial institutions participated in the current survey than ever before. This is a strong indication more lending institutions are becoming interested in mobile homes each year," said Dick Mitchell, director of land development for MHMA, who added that the survey included savings and loan associations, banks and other finance companies.

Financial accounts were listed in three categories: loans from 30-59 days, 60-89 days and 90 days and over.

The BIGGEST decrease in delinquent mortgages was in the 90 days and over category which includes most of the loans. The figures showed delinquent accounts down to 0.2 per cent, a one-tenth of a per cent decrease since 1969. However, in 1969 there were fewer outstanding accounts.

The survey also noted total outstanding accounts in 1971 were valued at more than $3.045 billion. An average account increased about $200, which was not reflected in product price increases.

The total dollar value of outstanding accounts has increased every year since 1967. In the last two years outstanding accounts jumped from $2.8 billion to more than $3 billion in 1971.

Mitchell also noted the 21st annual survey contains more information than any previous one. "The finance committees greatly expanded the questionnaires. More institutions participated this year than ever before," he said.

The 21st survey also includes a five-year history of mobile home shipments to states, and a record of manufacturing and distribution to the seven regional areas of manufacturing, as well as a 10-

"L.N.G." may play a significant part in your future. "L.N.G." stands for liquefied natural gas -- and it's one of the ways of meeting this country's growing energy needs. It's created when natural gas is "cooled" to minus 260 degrees Fahrenheit. At that temperature, the gas condenses into a liquid 1/600th its former volume. As a result, large quantities can be stored in relatively small refrigerated containers. This form of gas can be vaporized quickly for use on those days when especially large amounts of gas are required. In addition, it provides a way of economically bringing in natural gas from around the world.

Swimming Editor

When it comes to consistent superiority in area swimming over the years, two Arlington Heights schools are tops in the Herald area.

St. Viator, Suburban Catholic Conference champion this year, and Arlington, Mid-Suburban League champ, have several things left to accomplish before they can be ranked among the best in the state. One of the big goals that await both is winning a district title.

Chalking up one league championship after another is fine, but being successful in the state tournament separates the good from the very good.

Both the Cardinals and the Lions have a very good opportunity to begin a tradition this Saturday at the Highland Park District in Winnetka. Diving and swimming begin at the same time as Highland Park's meet.

Arlington's Don Anderson and St. Viator's John Fleck both agree that their teams will be battling it out, but they disagree on who will be the outside com-beting Little Giants.

Also vying for valuable state qualifying spots and district points will be Wheeling, Hersey, Rolling Meadows and two swimmers representing Palatine, one of the few schools in the MSL that doesn't have a team. Diving will begin at 9:30 a.m. with swimming going at 2 p.m.

Prospect, Elk Grove and Forest View will be competing at the New Trier East District in Winnetka. Diving and swimming begin at the same time as Highland Park's meet.

Arlington's Don Anderson and St. Viator's John Fleck both agree that their teams will be battling it out, but they disagree on who will be the outside com-

"It looks like Highland Park's the team to beat," said Anderson, presently preparing his Cards for improvement over last year's third-place finish.

"Deerfield — that's the team to beat," said Fleck, who watched the Warriors finish right behind Highland Park (45-13) in the Central Suburban meet on Saturday. Although the Little Giants beat them out for third place behind state power New Trier West and Glenbrook North, Deerfield had one of its relay teams disqualified.

"Their first men aren't really outstanding, but their second men are almost as good as their first ones."

Although he'd hate to see it happen, he can see the district being won or lost on the final relay. St. Viator was second in '72.

St. Viator will have six very good chances of taking firsts, according to Fleck. The events are the medley relay — Mike Salerno, Kevin Szarabajka, Jim Wolf or Monte McCollum and Jeff Iversen, Ed Fitzsimmons in the 200 and 400 freestyles, Salerno in the backstroke, Iversen in the 100 freestyle and the freestyle relay team — Iversen, Chris Kenny, Salerno and Fitzsimmons.

Szarabajka's chances in the breaststroke are questionable because of the strong field in the persons of Deerfield's Paul Naft, ranked top in the state in the last honor roll, and Chip Tom, Highland Park's second-ranked stroker.

Also questionable are Wolf and team disqualified.

Although he'd hate to see it happen, he can see the district being won or lost on the final relay. St. Viator was second in '72.

St. Viator will have six very good chances of taking firsts, according to Fleck. The events are the medley relay — Mike Salerno, Kevin Szarabajka, Jim Wolf or Monte McCollum and Jeff Iversen, Ed Fitzsimmons in the 200 and 400 freestyles, Salerno in the backstroke, Iversen in the 100 freestyle and the freestyle relay team — Iversen, Chris Kenny, Salerno and Fitzsimmons.

Salerno, tops in the state in the backstroke, will receive his only competition from Arlington's Charlie Dunn. In a dual meet earlier in the season, Salerno just touched out Dunn for first place. Salerno was second in the '72 district.

"The 200 (freestyle) should be wild," said Fleck, referring to the battle among Call them the golden boys of the Mid-Suburban League.

Refer to them as the individual stars of last week's conference meet.

Say that they're two of the finest swimmers to ever come along in the four-year history of the league.

All the above describes Prospect's Rick Fox and Elk Grove's Scott Bolin.

These two blond torpedoes tore up the competition Friday in the MSL showdown. They smashed conference records in their specialties with amazing ease to become the only double winners.

But league championships are only warmups for the class swimmers.

This weekend is what the whole swim season is about for Rick, Scott and the rest of the outstanding athletes who populate the state's pools. This is district weekend. Qualifying Saturday.

Both will represent their school's best hopes of advancing to the state finals, being held March 2-3 at Hinsdale South. They'll be in probably the strongest district in the state — New Trier East. Among the fine teams is New Trier West, favored by some to upset Hinsdale Central.

"I mainly had my sights set on the state meet," said Fox while discussing his calmness at the MSL meet. He obviously wasn't worried about winning. "I've been thinking about that (finals) for the last couple of months."

"I was hoping to set a couple of conference records."

Two-year-old marks in the 50 and 100 freestyles went down under the swift strokes of this 6-foot-6, 178-pound sprinter. His 22.4 was off his best effort of the season (22.0) in the 50, but his 100 clocking of 48.6 was a drop from his previous low (49.8).

Scott, a varsity veteran despite being a junior, lowered both of his bests with 2:04.9 in the 200 individual medley and 1:49.9 in the 100 breaststroke. Prior to last Friday, he had respective times of 2:05.7 and 1:50.6.

"I was just trying to get two firsts mostly and possibly get a second in that last relay," said Bolin. His latter hope was snuffed out, however, thanks to his good friend, Rick.

Swimming just minutes after winning the breaststroke, a very tired Scott kept his team almost even with eventual winner Arlington through the first two legs of the relay. His teammates managed to hold on to second place until late in the final leg. That's when his foxy friend overtook the Grenadier anchor man with a great finish.

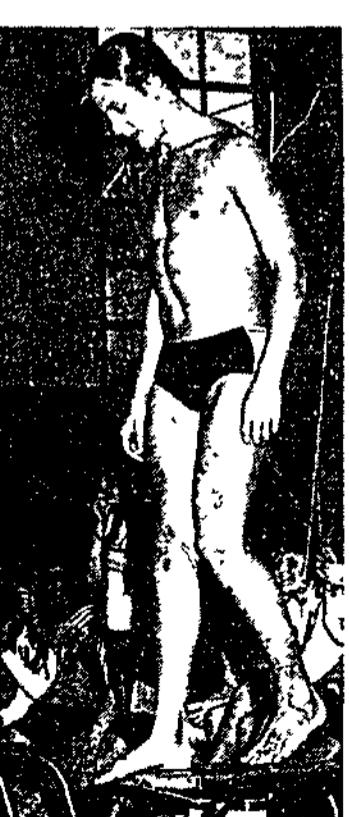

Bolin, who packs plenty of muscle into his 5-0½, 155-pound frame, has known Fox for several years and swims on the same AAU team during the off season. Both began swimming about the same time — near the end of grade school — with Scott being caught up in the Elk Grove park district program after receiving a great first impression.

"I just went to practice one day and just stayed on," he said.

His freshman year he competed on the sophomore team before moving up to varsity for the district. "I was scared to death," he admitted while recalling his early efforts to qualify in the 200 and 400 freestyles. He successfully competed last year and took fourth in the 200 and sixth in the 400.

Rick also had his first taste of state meet pressure in 1972. After his fourth-place showing in the district, he failed to make the finals because he "missed a turn due to the pool's lighting," said Fox. "But I haven't got any hangups about the pool. I've swum in the New Trier East pool twice before."

His main objective was qualifying last

POISED PROSPECT performer Rick Fox readies himself for the 100-yard freestyle at the Mid-Suburban meet Friday. Fox was one of only two swimmers to finish a double winner, taking the 100 and also the 50 in record-breaking sprints. The other was Elk Grove's Scott Bolin, a good friend.

Flitzenmeyer and Arlington's Joe Nitch and Dave Hartman. "The 400 should be the same thing."

Hartman, a second-place finisher in last year's district, will swim in the individual medley along with the 400 free.

Dunn should be "the man to beat," according to Anderson, in the individual medley.

Figuring to do pretty well for Arlington will be Pete Wroblewski in the breaststroke, Mike Nitch in the 100 freestyle and Ray Hollenbach in diving. The latter should be battling for first with MSL champion Allen Zasadny of Hersey.

Anderson sees his free relay team being a dark horse behind St. Vlator and Deerfield.

"Depth-wise, this district's not that good," pointed out Fleck. "It probably ranks third or fourth. As far as times go, there will be some of the better times in the state."

In summing up, the St. Vlator coach added, "Between us and Arlington we might make enough damage for one of us to win it."

The rest of the MSL teams don't enjoy such high hopes:

WHEELING

Coach Doug Cotner's never had the pleasure of taking a boy to the state meet as a competitor. His long wait might be over this year.

Wheeling's best shots appear to be George Wurtz in diving, Bill Modica in the 200 or 400 freestyle, Ken Bergman in the individual medley or breaststroke and Paul Lindquist in the 50 or 100 freestyle.

PROSPECT

Making a "team" of two will be Scott Pyker and Glen Spaulding. Byker will be going in the breaststroke and individual medley. Spaulding will be probably competing in the butterfly and a freestyle event, possibly the 50.

Prospect and Elk Grove — two fine young teams in the MSL — have the misfortune of being at the same Winnetka District as potential state champion New Trier West. Still, both coaches have high hopes for their top stars.

SPEED SUGGESTION

Leading the Knights will be Rick Fox, one of the class sprinters in the state. He has an excellent chance of notching firsts in both the 50 and 100 freestyles. He was fourth in the former and sixth in the latter in '72. His experience should pay off this Saturday.

The breaststroke should be a really dandy of a race with a handful of the state's best in action. Going for Coach Jerry Lovejoy's Knights will be John Todd and Jeff Young with Elk Grove's Scott Bolin and several others aiming at the title.

Prospect's medley relay team also has a good chance of qualifying for the state meet.

ELK GROVE

Scott Bolin finished fourth in the 200 and sixth in the 400 as a sophomore. He won't be in either of those events Saturday afternoon, according to Coach Jim Harrington.

The Grove coach has his fingers crossed for a victory in the individual medley for Scott. His hopes for the veteran junior in the breaststroke might not be known until the official times are given; for his competition is so close to him that 10ths or 100ths of a second could determine victory or defeat.

Brother Brent, a freshman and an MSL champion, has a possible shot at qualifying in the "IM" also.

Unless some of the other Grenadiers have a really outstanding meet, they'll mainly be competing to gain experience for future districts.

FOREST VIEW

The Falcons finished third in the very tough New Trier West district in '72, but graduation took its toll. Coach John Hillary has just two swimmers that have an outside chance of qualifying — Doug Schlaak in the 50 and 100 and Jeff Gelsler in the backstroke. The latter went to state on the medley relay team last year.

Just like Elk Grove and Prospect, Forest View will be trying to gain as much experience as possible.

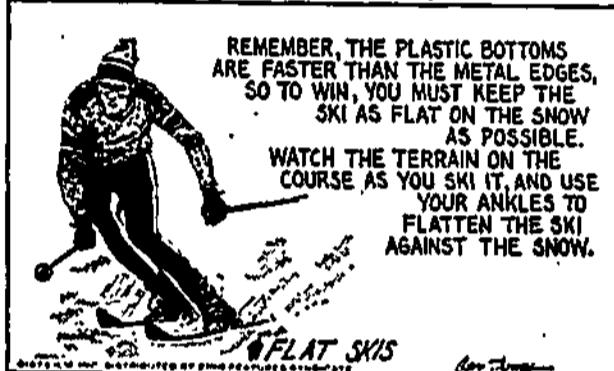

ON HIS WAY to victory in two events is Elk Grove's Scott Bolin. The Grenadier junior won the individual medley and the breaststroke to become one of only two swimmers to capture double victories in the Mid-Suburban League meet Friday. Prospect's Rick Fox — one of Bolin's swimming buddies — was the other.

BILLY KIDD'S SKI CLASS:

SPEED SUGGESTION

Card sophomore champs, others praised by coach

For a coach whose team just defeated the closest competition by more than double the score, Arlington's Don Anderson seemed just as enthused about the overall showings in the Mid-Suburban League sophomore meet.

"Our kids did very well," said Anderson, "but we only got four firsts, which really shows the balance of the meet."

Paced by the pair of record-breaking victories by Rob Carstens, Arlington rolled to its fourth conference title in four years of league play with 95 points. Rounding out the final six meet places were Hersey (46), Wheeling (41), Prospect (38), Forest (36), Elk Grove (19) and Rolling Meadows (11).

Carstens captured the 100 butterfly (1:02.7) and the 100 backstroke (1:01.3). He also was a member of the 200 medley relay team which won in record time (1:58.4), too. Joining him were Dixon O'Brien, Dave Schultz and Don White.

"He's just been terrific all year," said Anderson. "I think he's undefeated in both of those events."

Kiernan Mack rounded out the top scoring with his record performance in the 200 individual medley (2:21.2).

All told, nine new marks were registered in the Hersey-hosted meet. Accounting for the remaining ones were Forest View's Kevin Redig in the 200 freestyle (1:58.7), Hersey's Jeff Speakman in diving (328.4), Wheeling's Dan Woodruff in the 400 freestyle (4:19.7), Prospect's Brad Busse in the 100 breaststroke (1:08.1) and the Forest View freestyle relay team of Jim Rohr, Mark Oliver, Mark Buczak and Kevin Redig (3:48.4).

Other winners were Hersey's Craig Bruce in the 50 freestyle (23.0) and Prospect's Gary Eichhorst in the 100 freestyle (53.8).

Anderson was most impressed with Speakman and his second-place teammate, Tim Brennan (301.8), who "were just excellent"; Busse, who "was magnificent" and "swam a great race" to beat out Mack (1:09.8); Redig, who had a "tremendous 200 and then blacked out in the 400 against Woodruff in a great race, and then came back to win the free relay for them"; and the Forest View free relay which "destroyed the conference record."

Other Arlington athletes who registered valuable seconds and thirds were Corky Buechner in the 200 free (third), the 400 free (second), O'Brien in the individual medley (third) and the breaststroke (third), Dan Stabbing in the 50 free (second) and the 100 free (third), Doug Sandell in the backstroke (second), Schultz in the butterfly (second), Jeff Munk in diving (third) and the 400 freestyle relay team (second).

UNWANTED SPOTLIGHT. Despite an amateur's distracting flesh, Arlington's Ray Hollenbach soars through a tough routine during preliminaries Friday at Olympic Pool. Hollenbach rolled up 359.25 points, but it was only good enough for second as Hersey's Allen Zasadny won the event with 370.40. Arlington captured the team title, however.

Indoor track and field highlights

Pirate Williams runs 4:23.4 mile

A 4:23.4 winning time in the mile run by Scott Williams, remarkable for so early in the season, highlighted Palatine's participation in the Panther Relays at Proviso West last Saturday, opening the Pirates' indoor track season.

Coach Joe Johnson did not take a full contingent to the big 12-team meet and Palatine finished in a three-way tie for eighth place. York won the meet narrowly over Thornton.

Johnson said of Williams' time: "He was shooting for the indoor record of 4:18.7, but he was pleased that he won. That's the best time in the state so far this year, although Virgin hasn't been timed yet." He was referring to Craig Virgin of Lebanon, two-time distance state champ and cross country state winner who will be shooting for national records.

Palatine had two other placers in varsity running. Jim Fitzgerald was fourth in the 80-yard high hurdles with :7.9 and Doug Patterson was fifth in the 800-yard run with 1:28.7.

Palatine will be in a meet at Maine East this Saturday that will also include Fremd, Arlington and Rolling Meadows.

HERSEY WINS, 76-23

Hersey captured first places in eight events to easily down Schaumburg, 76-33, in indoor track competition at Hersey Saturday.

Wins were spread out for the Huskies with only Mark Conrad getting two firsts with :8.7 in the 50-yard low hurdles and 12-6 in the pole vault. Other Huskies who triumphed were Tom Burridge and Jay McCarthy in a tie with 10:09.8 in the two-mile, Craig Musser with :7.1 in the 50 high hurdles, Ron Stephani with 2:05.5 in the 800-yard run, John O'Connell with :37.2 in the 440-yard dash and John Jones with 4:39.3 in the mile. Dan Leder was second in the half-mile with 2:03.6.

Another double winner was Bob Cummings of Schaumburg with 19-4 in the long jump and 5-6 in the high jump. The Saxons' only other winner was Mickey Ellis with 48-0 in the shot put.

Seconds for Schaumburg came on Ken Jaffke's 47-4; shot put, Ed Martin's and Steve Wright's :7.4 in a tie in the high hurdles and Eric Porter's :5.8 in the 50-yard dash.

SAXONS FINISH 2ND

Schaumburg had already opened its season last Thursday in a triangular meet, won by Glenbard North with 52 points. The Saxons had 47 and Crown 37.

In a surprise and amazing distance for this early in the season, Ellis put the shot 50-11½ for one of three Saxon wins. The other two were by distance standout Arnold Jackson with 9:45.9 in the two-mile and 4:38.2 in the mile (Jackson had not run against Hersey because of a sore knee).

Coach Dennis Garber's squad got seconds from Bob Nathey with 11-6 in the pole vault, Cummings with 19-1½ in long jump, Bob Nonnelli with :5.9 in the 50-yard dash and Ken Jaffke with 46-6 in shot put.

Schaumburg has three indoor meets in a row scheduled for this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, all on the road — at Elgin, Niles West and Wheeling, respectively. Hersey will not compete again until next month.

FREMID TOPS TRIANGULAR
Fremd gained a narrow triangular track victory Saturday at Deerfield, their 57 points edging Deerfield's 56. Arlington was third with 24.

Tom Wistar and Dave Scott paced the Vikings with two first places apiece. Wistar took the 50-yard dash in :5.6 and the 440 in :55.6, while Scott was first in the 800-yard run with 2:08.5 and the mile with 4:44.0.

Fremd's other first came on an astonishing performance for such an early indoor meet — a 53-1 loss by Jerry Flinn in the shot put.

Arlington got only one first — from Greg Karam in the pole vault with 12-4. Tom Holt was second in the mile run with 4:47.0.

Wilson Fieldhouse of Fremd had the same time as Scott in the 800, 2:08.5, but was barely nosed out.

Fremd also won the sophomore meet with 74½ points to Deerfield's 54½ and Arlington's 13.

Arlington and Fremd will compete against each other again this Saturday, in a five-team meet at Maine East starting at noon.

ADDISON TIPS GROVE

Elk Grove's indoor track team grabbed five first places and six seconds with some fine individual performances despite dropping a 57-52 meet to visiting Addison Trail in the first indoor competition of the season.

Steve Busse collected two first places and a second to pace coach Jim Wender's Grenadiers. He won both 60-yard hurdles events, the highs in :7.7 and the lows in :7.2, and was runnerup in the 50-yard dash in :5.7.

Distance runners accounted for two other firsts with cross country stars Brian Powell taking the two-mile run in 9:34.0 and Damian Archbold winning the 880 in 2:06.4. The other first was by the four-lap relay team of Steve Jensen, Busse, Brian Walther and Joe Lawson with 1:13.5.

Seconds besides Busse's were Jensen's :7.3 in the low hurdles, Archbold's 4:41.3 in the mile, Lawson's 18-8½ in the long jump, Walther's 10-6 in the pole vault and Mark Miele's 45-10 in the shot put.

'CATS, MUSTANGS FALL

Wheeling and Rolling Meadows both lost to Maine South in an indoor track meet in Wheeling's fieldhouse last weekend. The winners totalled 76 points to Wheeling's 45 and Rolling Meadows' 15.

It was the Wildcats' first indoor meet, while Rolling Meadows had one previous date, losing another triangular to Glenbard North and Wheaton North.

Steve Drake starred for the hosts in the meet at Wheeling with three individual victories — in the 50-yard dash with :5.7, 440-yard dash in :54.8 and 880-yard run in 2:02.

Wheeling had three other wins — by Bill Chebek with an outstanding 55-½ in the shot put, Dave Berry with :7.2 in the 50-yard high hurdles and the four-lap relay team with 1:13.

Steve Balogh accounted for both of Rolling Meadows' firsts with 5-10½ in the high jump and 18-9½ in the long jump. Other fine performances for the Mustangs came in the shot put with John Sloan's 55-6 toss being discounted because of a scratch and Bill Blackmore getting 50-11½ for third.

Against Glenbard North and Wheaton,

Rolling Meadows had three firsts — by Balogh with 5-8 in the high jump, Joe Brightwell with :5.9 in the 50-yard dash and Sloan with 51-7 in the shot. Blackmore was second in that event with 50-6½.

Against Evanston the Cougars had just a pair of firsts. One was another school indoor record by Rick Jensen, who covered two miles in 9:54.9. Paape again won the pole vault with 11-9.

Conant's next meet is this Saturday at Niles East.

This one hurts! Harper has control, then falls

by ART MUGALIAN

There was a lot of towel-throwing and locker-kicking. Players sat with their sweating shoulders hung low. Harper's dressing room was not a pleasant place to be Tuesday night.

Defeat came to the Harper Hawks on the St. Vlato gym floor and it came in a most frustrating and agonizing manner. Roger Bechtold's team was ahead in the sectional semi-final match against Malcolm X College 68-57 with 5:49 to play. And they lost.

"We had the game won," Bechtold lamented after falling 63-76.

"It had to be the man-to-man press they applied," the Hawks' coach said in trying to focus on a turning point. "It forced us to make turnovers. Then they took some clutch shots from outside."

The Malcolm X Hawks are a big, fast, rugged team out of Chicago and their style of play is strictly run and shoot. But Harper's Hawks stayed with them through most of the game.

Harper pulled out a 14-9 lead mainly on the shooting of sophomore guard Don Lewan. But Malcolm X began moving, slowly at first, then faster, piling up a 28-21 lead.

Then a fast, furious exchange of baskets highlighted the closing minutes of the half as Harper recovered the lead 36-34. Steve Heldt paced the Harper Hawks in their comeback with eight points in the last five minutes and 17 for the half.

Philander White, the head coach of Malcolm X, explained his team's slow start: "We got in here late and we were a little nervous. We thought we were going to miss the game."

Harper increased their lead in the second half as they began connecting on lob passes to center Dave Schmitt. Schmitt, the 6-foot-8 sophomore, piled up the points on his short jump shots from within 15 feet.

Malcolm X had 11 more points than Harper in the second half.

White's tactics were to guard Schmitt closely with a man in front and a man behind the Hawk center. That defense proved effective the last third of the final half.

The one man who almost single-handedly beat Harper was 6-2 forward Ray Waits. The speedy sophomore led all scorers with 38 points, including 25 in the second half.

"It was on him," White said of his team's leader. "Waits knew he had to do it. He's one of our captains, who else can I rely on?"

Harper's team leader, guard Scott Feige, was held to four points for the night and he was hampered almost immediately with foul trouble. He played very little in the second half, and when he entered the game, he fouled out within a minute. Feige's presence was sorely missed by the Hawks of Harper.

Bechtold was upset and for good cause. "I thought we controlled the ball game right up to the closing minutes," he said. "We had them playing our game. But you have to give Malcolm X credit. They didn't give up."

"I'm not making alibis for our team," Bechtold continued, "but we ran out of steam at the end. We did things that a tired team does. We didn't move to get open."

kets, one which tied the score at 71-71 and another which gave Malcolm the lead for keeps, 75-73. Gunn finished with 14 points.

For Harper, Heldt had 23 points, Lemon 21, and Schmitt 16.

Harper finished the season strong, only three games below the .500 mark.

"Our ball club has played high caliber ball the last part of the year," Bechtold commented. "Some people don't realize that on our campus. I wish we had had a little more support at the school."

The Harper Hawks have nothing to be ashamed of. They're a great bunch of athletes.

Riessen out to prove he ranks with tennis elite

Marty Riessen, Chicago's greatest gift to the world of tennis, will return to his hometown Feb. 28 through March 4 to compete in the $50,000 Kemper International Tennis Tournament.

Riessen is having what he describes as "a pretty good year" on the World Championship Tennis 1973 tour. He is leading the WCT '73 tour contingent in Europe in both championship points and prize money.

Having reached the semis of the inaugural tournament in London before being knocked off by eventual runner-up Mark Cox of Great Britain, Riessen went on to take the second tourney by defeating Ken Rosewall and young Roscoe Tanner in Milan.

"It's always a thrill to beat Rosewall," Riessen said of his semi-final victory. "He's such a classic competitor and champion."

In winning the Italian Professional Championship in Milan, Riessen had to overcome Tanner's blistering serve in the finals.

Riessen and his doubles partner, defending Kemper International champion Tom Okker, won the doubles championship at both of this year's tournaments.

It has been a long, hard road since Riessen won four successive Illinois State High School Singles Championships while under the coaching of his father at Hinsdale High School.

He went on to play both basketball and tennis at Northwestern University before forsaking professional basketball in favor of tennis. Teamed with Clark Graebner at NU, Riessen claims he was not able to concentrate on tennis because he was tied up with basketball for six months of the year.

"I really couldn't make big improvements in my tennis play until after I graduated," he said.

Clare Riessen, Marty's father, made the move to Northwestern at the same time Marty did. "My father is my best coach," the younger Riessen said. "He's so patient with me. We'll work the same shot 50, 70, even 80 times in succession and he never complains."

The hard work paid off, although not as rapidly as Riessen would like. "I can still remember calling home while on tour and asking for money," he admits.

Now, with a Masters in Education and a third of the way towards a PhD in School Administration, Riessen also has shown he has improved every year he has been on the WCT tour. He tied for fifth in points and finished sixth in prize money last year.

Last year was spectacular for Riessen.

He finished 1972 ranked ninth in the world. Defeating Cox, Rosewall, Arthur Ashe and Rod Laver for his lone tournament win last year in Quebec, Riessen posted a 43-19 won and lost set record.

Riessen was runner-up in three tournaments last year. He beat Ashe and John Newcombe before bowing out in the final at Washington. He finished second at Vancouver and lost to Laver in the final in Denver.

Reaching the semis at Las Vegas, Riessen also made the quarters at the Winter Finals in Rome and in four other tournaments, including the Kemper International.

With his doubles partner Tom Okker, Riessen won 11 international doubles competitions last year.

Because of increased competition on this year's tour, Riessen believes that the saying, "You win when you are lucky," applies more than ever.

The young kids who joined the tour in 1971 have improved to the point there is a greater likelihood of more elimination round upsets," he explained. "A 24-year-old, unheralded New Zealander named Brian Fairlie already has won the tour's first tournament in London.

"This and the settlement of the player jurisdictional dispute between WCT and the International Lawn Tennis Federation has evened up competition and loosened the hold of a few players on most tennis championships.

"Eleven eastern European players have joined the WCT '73 tour and will be competing in the Kemper International," he continued. "Georgian-born Alexander Metreveli, the Soviet Union's top player, is a real prize. He's the first athlete to come out of the Soviet Union who admits he is a professional."

Metreveli and Europe's finest, Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, now may compete on the WCT '73 tour during the first four months of the year, while WCT's contract pros may compete in such ILTF-sanctioned events as Wimbledon and Forest Hills during the remainder of the year.

With these new players competing in Chicago for the first time in the Kemper International, this also marks the first time there is a 64-man field competing for the all-time high in WCT tour prize money, $1,250,000. The Kemper International is one stop on the tour which culminates in the WCT finals in Dallas during May. The top four point makers from both the Chicago and another WCT touring group will battle for the WCT singles and doubles championships in Dallas.

The $74,436 in prize money Riessen earned last year makes him one of four of the top six WCT money winners competing for the Kemper International crown. Rosewall, Ashe, Okker and Riessen each won between $74,436 and $130,950 last year. Great Britain's Mark Cox, who lost to Fairlie in the London final after finishing ninth in the WCT's money derby last year with $50,750, also will be in the Kemper International field.

According to Aaron Cushman and Asher Birnbaum, who have been responsible for bringing major-league tennis to Chicago for the past six years, the week-long singles and doubles competition here will be played at two locations to enable fans from different parts of Chicagoland to see championship matches near their homes.

The elimination rounds will be played at Lake Forest West High School between Feb. 26 and March 1. Quarter-final rounds, however, will be played there and at the north campus of Lyons Township High School, LaGrange. Semis and finals will be held only at the LaGrange location.

The finals of the Kemper International will be broadcast live on the NBC-TV network.

All matches in the Kemper International will be the best of three sets with the exception of the singles' finals, which will be the best of five sets. A 12-point tie-breaker will be used when the set score reaches six games each.

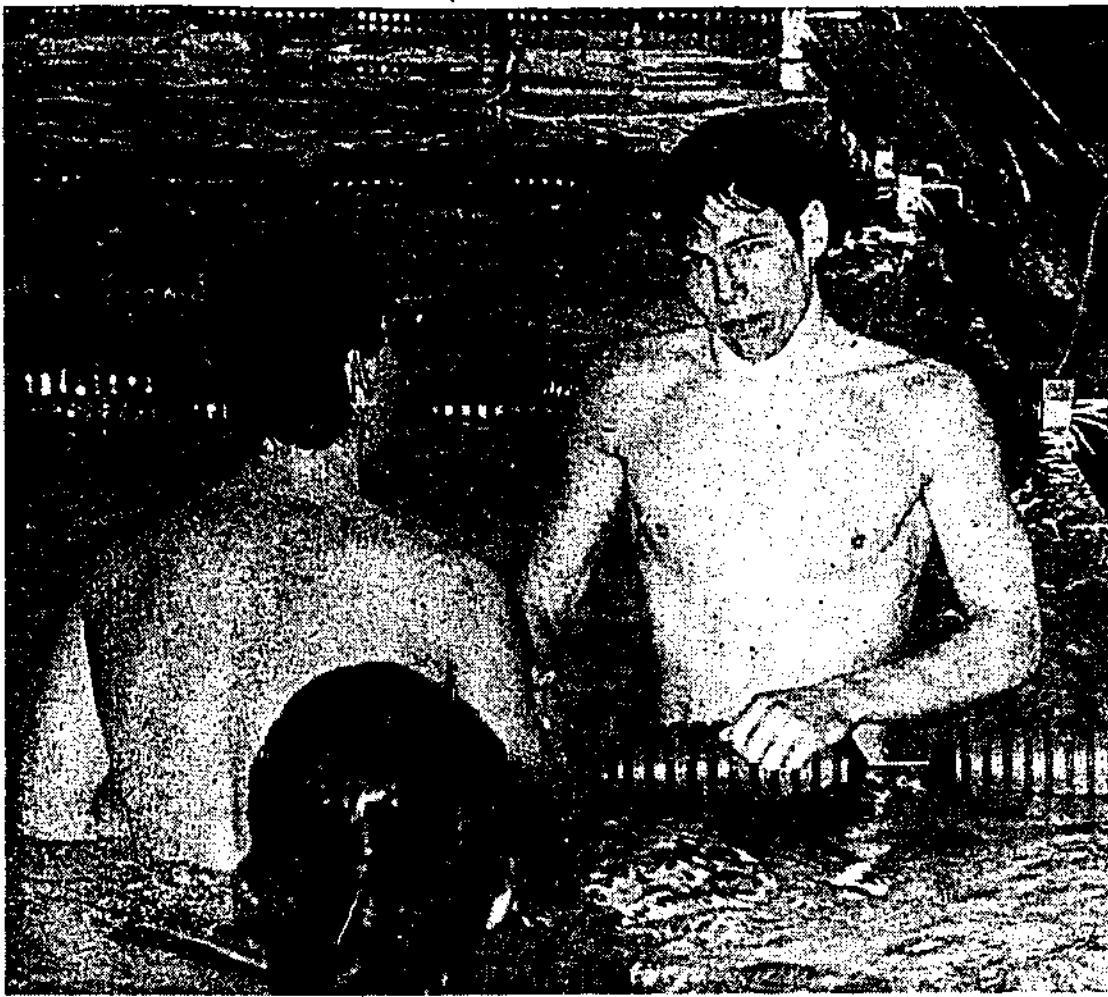

Elimination rounds will be played beginning at 6:30 p.m., while the quarterfinals and semis begin at 7 p.m. and the Sunday, March 4, finals at 11:45 a.m.

Tickets range in price from the $3.50 student and $5.00 adult elimination and quarter-final round prices to the $5.00 baseline and $6.50 sideline prices for the semis and finals.

Tickets may be purchased at Ticketon outlets and at Montgomery Ward, Sears and Crawford department stores or by sending a check payable to All-Star Tennis, Inc., 333 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, 60601.

With these new players competing in Chicago for the first time in the Kemper International, this also marks the first time there is a 64-man field competing for the all-time high in WCT tour prize money, $1,250,000. The Kemper International is one stop on the tour which culminates in the WCT finals in Dallas during May. The top four point makers from both the Chicago and another WCT touring group will battle for the WCT singles and doubles championships in Dallas.

KEEPING IT IN THE 'family' are Joe Nitch, left, and Dave Hartman. These Arlington distance men went 1-2 in the 200 freestyle with Hartman nosing out his teammate. They reversed roles a short time later with Nitch edging him out for first in the 400 free. Together they helped the Cardinals to an easy Mid-Suburban League victory in the conference meet.

McLeod to visit Rotary

JIMMY MCLEOD of the Chicago Cougars will speak to the Arlington Heights Rotary Club Thursday at 12:15 at the Arlington Park Towers Hotel. McLeod, a goalie, played nine full seasons in the Western Hockey League and led the division in shutouts in four of those seasons. He also set a league record for playoff shutouts and played briefly with the St. Louis Blues of the National Hockey League.

Evening star

Among Chicago White Sox regulars last year, outfielder Pak Kelly hit better at night than any other batter on the team. His batting average in night games was .284, although it was only .239 in the daytime.

In earning its third triumph of the season, Rolling Meadows outscored Stevenson, 75-57, in a non-conference contest Tuesday night.

The Mustangs dominated every phase of the game including shooting (33 of 68 from the floor), rebounding (45-21) and turnovers (20-15).

"That's when you know your offense is working," Meadows coach Ken Arneson said while scanning the official scoring book. McKervey captures diving; Bierwirth lands two 2nds

by MIKE KLEIN

One first place from Maine East's Tom McKervey plus two seconds by Maine West's Larry Bierwirth were the best individual efforts by Herald area swimmers in last weekend's Central Suburban League championship meet.

McKervey edged New Trier West's Doug Metcalf for the diving title, out-pointing his Cowboy opponent, 371.20 to 361.08.

In a mild surprise, East's Glen Sedjo couldn't get second when he totaled 338.25 points, 20 more than fourth place diver Mike Pence of Maine South.

West's Bierwirth placed second in 100 and 200 freestyles, finishing behind New Trier's Andy Veris in both races.

Veris set a new CSL standard with a 1:43.49 clocking in the 200. Bierwirth completed the distance in 1:49.50.

In the century freestyle, Veris set another conference record with a 49.43 clocking. Bierwirth swam 50.41.

Veris was easily one of the meet's outstanding performers. Aside from winning the 100 and 200 freestyles, he anchored New Trier's winning (3:24.22) 400 freestyle relay team.

As expected, the Cowboys were easy winners in this meet held at Highland Park. New Trier amassed 274 points, well ahead of runner-up Glenbrook North which had 171. The hosts were third with 143 points.

Maine East nudged Maine West for sixth place, 62-81, while North finished in a tie for ninth place with Maine South. Each school had 60 points.

Maine North, East and West went five-seven-nine in 200 medley relay competition which opened the meet last weekend.

North's Don Larson, Don Polz, Jeff Rusk and John Monaghan combined for a 1:49.78. East's Wayne-Westman, Greg Erickson, Carl Anderson and Jack Klein swam 1:34.41. West's George Erickson, Mark Clark, Bill Samp and Tom Rasch went 2:01.22.

East's Ken Meyers finished seventh (2:12.74) and West's Cary Dahl eleventh (2:18.00) in the 200 individual medley. North's John Monaghan placed seventh (2:33.54) and West's Rick Landuyt ninth (2:37.73) in the 50 freestyle.

place winner in 100 butterfly competition. He placed tenth in 59.91 seconds.

Aside from West's Bierwirth, teammate Rick Landuyt also placed in 100 freestyle. He swam the distance in 52.29 seconds.

Two Herald area entrants were place-winners in the 400 freestyle. West's Gary Dahl was seventh (4:10.88) and East's Matt Kano eleventh (4:20.46).

East's Ken Meyers swam a 1:00.49 for fifth place in 100 backstroke. Teammate Wayne Westman was ninth in 1:03.90. West's Erickson placed tenth in 1:03.91.

North's Jeff Rusk and Don Polz placed three-four in 100 breaststroke behind winner Paul Naji of Deerfield (1:04.82) and Highland Park's Chip Tom (1:04.33). Polz had a 1:05.51 clocking and Polz 1:06.73.

East's Al Hilters was tenth in that event with a 1:06.88 swim.

West, East and North placed four-seven-eleven respectively in the 400 freestyle relay.

West's Dahl, Rasch, Landuyt and Bierwirth swam a 3:33.09. East's Meyers, Bob Miner, Carl Anderson and Brad Kroll went 3:38.32. North's Polz, Larson, Mike Manning and Mike Vernon had a 4:05.82 timing.

District competition will be held this weekend. East and West go to Evanston for the 9:30 a.m. diving and 2:30 p.m. swimming sessions on Saturday. North will be at New Trier East where sessions will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

East hopes to qualify divers McDervey and Sedjo plus Meyers in the 200 individual medley and 100 backstroke for the March 2-3 state competition at Hinsdale South.

North could qualify its 200 medley relay team plus Monaghan in the 50 and 100 freestyles. Also, Rusk and Polz in breaststroke plus Rusk in 200 individual medley.

West is hoping to get Bierwirth through in the 100 and 200 freestyles plus on the 400 freestyle relay team which will include Dahl, Rasch and Landuyt. Other possibilities are Landuyt in 50 freestyle and Dahl in 100 freestyle.

Abortion fight continues

Many views presented . . .

It has been said never to mail a letter you have written in anger as you will cool down later and regret sending it. But in my case, I will not "cool down" until the abortion issue is resolved in our state. I get furious when I see two men arguing abortion when obviously neither of them will ever be in the position of having to make that decision. In the past year there were approximately 480,000 abortions performed in the United States alone. Is it wise to bring to life another half million unwanted babies, many of which would wind up in homes or on welfare roles??

Why am I so strong in my opinion? I'll be proud to tell you — an abortion saved my life! During my last pregnancy I was very ill. I was hospitalized three times for dehydration yet they could find nothing medically wrong with me. My own doctor suggested going to New York for an abortion and my reaction was shock. If he suspected an abnormal fetus why couldn't he do a simple D&C here? Because the hospital board is very strict and would probably not approve (just in case the fetus was a normal one). I finally flew to New York where a legal abortion was performed in conditions that would take up another letter to describe. However, they discovered instead of a fetus growing inside me I had a hydatidiform mole, which is a growth resembling a mass of purplish grapes. If it had gone undetected would have died within a few weeks. If I had not been desperate and gone all the way to New York for an abortion I wouldn't be here today to see my three boys grow up.

Why should people like me, or young pregnant teens, or mothers with more than they can handle now, be suppressed from having an abortion which they desire? They themselves are the ones that will make the decision and have to live with it — it will not affect you people who are anti-abortion! If you don't want one you will never be forced to have one.

The point is this: Let us all make up our own minds. We women are the ones who would be making the heartbreaking decision whether to give the baby up for adoption or raise it on very little funds or whatever. Don't make us go out of state where the conditions may be less than desirable — let us be admitted to a nice, clean hospital or clinic where the procedure can be done quickly and effectively. Wisconsin has already come through — what about you, Illinois???

Diane Farina

Wheeling

P.S. Planned Parenthood has an abortion referral service and will be glad to help and/or counsel anyone who is interested. I have just spoken to them and was told because of an injunction there are very few legal abortions being done in Wisconsin; however, they are still being referred to New York State.

Women are going to continue to have abortions — legal or illegal! In the latter case not only killing the fetus but mutilating or killing themselves. To eliminate the double hazard, women should be given an opportunity of a safe abortion.

Many of the anti-abortion groups, who have a deep respect for the life of the fetus, seem to me are going about trying to save these fetuses by effecting the wrong legislation. Instead of trying to keep the law against abortion, they and the rest of us, should be trying to get laws passed that could take many of the pressures off a woman or a family. To motivate against the option of abortion would save more fetuses than a law which forces women into an illegal act.

The legislation I suggest consists of federal, state and local monies to the following:

Birth control research is a field that seems to be tremendously behind other types of research in this country. Money is needed for this research. With the exception of female sterilization, all known methods of birth control, including vasectomy, have dangerous side effects or are ineffective.

Monies should also be spent for good day care centers so that mothers could work to support their children, or further their education or participate in civic affairs knowing the children are being well cared for.

Low cost or free drugs and medical care should be provided for children and pre-natal patients with these funds.

The question arises now of why should everyone's tax money go for these programs. The anti-abortionists have made these concerns the responsibility of our society. If a fetus has a right to life, he or she has a right to a quality life as a child.

Laws are also needed to make mandatory maternity leaves available to women from their employers.

Finally, one of the most discriminatory laws which must be rescinded is that which requires a father's name on a birth certificate, the lack of which stigmatizes an innocent child as illegitimate.

The anti-abortion groups who have shown their strength and support with their rallies, etc. could easily turn this strength and power into lobbying pressure for these changes in legislation.

Also many of these groups are based in certain religious institutions. What better base to work from to change attitudes. A change in attitudes is necessary so that a single mother need not be ostracized and that a couple may adopt a racially different or mixed child without facing hostility.

As I stated at the beginning of the letter, abortions (even though illegal) are available, and the decision to have one is a woman's right. Many economic, legal and social pressures must be eliminated before many women can decide that the future holds enough for the fetus and themselves so that the fetus should be born.

What my letter is trying to say is that the morality of giving a fetus a right to life is also question of the morality of giving him or her a right to a reasonably good life. Before certain changes come about more women will choose abortion than to bring a child into difficult living conditions whether they are economic, legal or social.

People are always saying, in regard to abortion, that we are not being forced to have an abortion. That we should just let them do what they want to.

Don't they realize that we who are against it have to live in this society also? That we have to explain to our children that we permitted others to kill their babies if they wanted to? Well, I'm not going to have to explain it to them. I'm going to keep fighting until we win. We want an amendment to protect the rights of the unborn child. I pray to God that we get it soon.

Susan Neumann

As a registered nurse, I could not work in a hospital that performed abortions. I could not work on one unit saving lives knowing that in another unit doctors and nurses were murdering babies.

Doctors in this area have their scalpels sharpened. They will reap an extra $100,000 to $120,000 a year from abortions. And it's easier than following a woman through pregnancy and delivery. However, I wouldn't go to one of these doctors, as I don't feel they value life too much. I wouldn't go to their hospital either. Its values aren't any better.

Abortion is a grisly affair. The D & C method cuts the baby all up, scrapes him out and throws him away. The suction machine sucks him up, and in so doing pulls the baby's body apart. The salting out method takes over an hour to slowly kill the baby. He breathes in the salt and is poisoned. At the same time his skin is being burned off.

Unfortunately, self is all important these days. Unfortunately, a baby must live in its mother for nine months. It is murder when we kill life. Yes, it's small, but it's the only one like it. We must value life in every way or we will begin to die as people.

A letter that appeared in the February 14 issue of the Herald, The Public's Issue section by Edwin J. Kudalis, moved me to write this letter.

Until recently I didn't have any strong views on the subject of abortion. I guess I felt like a lot of people do. I felt I personally would never have one, but other women should be allowed to do as they please.

Kathy De Michael, RN.

I believe I don't know what to write to you. I know you have already received thousands of letters and, if indeed you have time to read them, what could I say that would be any different?

I believe a man who is in your position of honor and trust, in the pursuit of justice must be an extremely fair-minded man. So I make one request. I beg you to hear the other side of the abortion issue. We've seen and heard from the advocates of abortion.

I beg you to give the babies, yes, the babies themselves, the opportunity they should have had before your decision to let you see their side. In the name of justice and life, and all I pray this country still stands for, I beg you to pay a visit to the nearest hospital. Ask to see the aborted babies. As you view the tiny bodies in the trash can, you may see some still breathing. Many are aborted this way. See the ones with their skin burnt off by the saline method. Look at their faces. Did you ever see such a tortured look on a baby's face? What a horrible death to endure.

Do this one thing. You owe it to all of us, especially the babies, and yourself too. It is the only way to put your mind to rest once and for all about your decision. Only by seeing the babies themselves will you ever know.

Please, sir, I beg you to do this. I beg you and pray for your wisdom and guidance.

In this day and age of saying it like it is and truth to every detail when referring to abortions, don't say the "contents of the uterus are sucked or scraped out." Please be honest and say "the baby's body is sucked or scraped out." After all, that's what we're talking about, you know.

print and some of us really want to know why.

For instance, on Monday, February 12, the Herald reported that the court case was being continued because the village of Wheeling was considering rezoning the entire Strong Street area for multiple family dwelling. That way, the village could no longer be accused of spot zoning.

Bravo to Betsy Brooker and the Herald for printing the other side of the abortion issue.

We are indeed talking about a human life from the moment of conception.

Betsy's analogy of the Supreme Court decision and the Hitler regime is not far-fetched. The court is sanctioning the elimination of a part of our society. I fear for our country — who will be next?

Shopping center needs news stand

We here in Palatine have a new shopping center at Hicks and Baldwin Roads, but it is impossible to buy the Palatine Herald, or any newspaper for that matter, in this otherwise convenient complex with its chain department store, chain drug store and chain food mart.

Instead, we must cross a very dangerous intersection to purchase them. It seems to me the installing of a news stand would be a great incentive to the consumer to institute such a convenience. If I were a shopping center manager I would make it mandatory, as one of the first things to set up when planning such a development.

Applaud paramedics

I am writing in regard to the Palatine paramedics whom I needed in a hurry because of a very severe attack of bronchial asthma at about 2 in the morning. Then I needed them at about 7 a.m. At that time they took me to the hospital.

I want to thank the two men who were with me both times, whose names I do not know, for their way of treating a sick person, very excellent and kind.

One week later I had to have the paramedics again. This time there were two other men and they took me to the hospital immediately and they were just as fast and kind as can be, so keep up the good work, men.

Whatever your names are, my family and I thank you so very much.

I'm home now and doing quite well. Thank you a million times.

The building is surrounded, don't try to escape, we're coming in. Alright men, get the leaders of this organization first, then round up the members, room by room.

This is the biggest raid of the day, 500 of them. You might meet some resistance though, getting them to leave without finishing their ice cream. Just remember all that money the government is being cheated out of, 500 members times 30 valentines each at eight cents equals $1,200.

What's this all about? The post office is having a whole grade school arrested

The Doctor Says...by Dr. Lawrence Lamb

What to eat to gain weight

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you tell me the basic foods for gaining weight. I mean the high protein, high carbohydrate foods. Also could you tell me if a quart of milk is too much. I am 15 years old.

Dear Reader—The basic foods to eat to gain weight are those that have a lot of calories for a small amount of weight or volume.

Basically, these are the foods that are rich in fat and those that are made of concentrated sweets.

Most of the natural high protein foods aren't particularly good for gaining weight.

To illustrate, lean round steak with all visible fat removed is 70 per cent water and really doesn't contain an awful lot of calories for the volume of food a person eats. By contrast, pure lard contains no water and is one of the highest calorie foods you can get.

Many carbohydrate foods really don't contain a lot of calories, for example, the vegetable group. By contrast, flour which contains very little water contains a lot of calories. Sugar is loaded with calories as are syrups, honey, molasses, candies, nuts and similar foods.

I DO NOT encourage people to gain lots of weight and fat deposits. If you want to increase your muscle mass, that's fine, but the best way to do this probably would be an exercise program involving weight training. In this way you could build more muscle mass.

The foods you could use in this case, of course, would be high protein foods such as lean meats, lean chicken, lean fish, low-fat or fortified skim milk, bean seeds, and cereals. A good balanced diet is adequate. The body will select the proteins it needs for muscle building and all the rest are used for energy or converted to fat like other foods. The secret to the weight gain will be the weight training program.

No, a quart of milk is not too much. Many scientists would say it should be fortified skim milk to help prevent an excess fat intake and thereby protect against the development of fatty deposits in the arteries.

There are a lot of good fortified milk products on the market which will meet this purpose. Milk is one of our most important sources of calcium in the diet and you'll need it to build a strong healthy body. Mature bean seeds are also a good source of calcium as well as protein.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have always heard that one should not eat fish and drink milk at the same meal and people have told me of experiences they had of getting very sick after eating this combination. Now I hear there is nothing to that theory. Please give me your opinion and why did these people get sick?

Dear Reader — This idea has no scientific basis. Both are perfectly good foods. Neither contains any toxic elements that will cause a healthy person to become ill. Your friends either ate bad fish, drank bad milk or the illness was unrelated to fish or milk.

Stamp Notes...by Bernadine M. Rechner

Australia marks switch to metric

The Australian Post Office will issue its first 1973 adhesive March 7 with the release of four 7-cent stamps commemorating the country's change from the imperial system to the metric system of weights and measures.

The stamp subjects — mass, length, volume and temperature — are four aspects of metric measurements which will greatly affect the daily lives of all Australians. Each subject will be printed in sheets of 100 stamps.

A 28-cent souvenir pack containing the four stamps will be available from the Australian Post Office Philatelic Service, Communications House, 199 William St., Melbourne, Australia 3000.

Fully-service first-day cancellations on the official cachet are also available from the same address for 37 cents each.

Your self-addressed envelopes go to the same address. Remember to enclose your remittance in Australian funds and send your requests by airmail.

THE FIRST Philatelic Center in the eastern region of the U.S. Postal Service opened Feb. 18 at Philadelphia. A special postmark and cacheted envelope featuring the Liberty Bell is available to commemorate the event.

The envelopes, stamped and cancelled, can be ordered from the Philatelic Center, c/o Postmaster, William Penn Annex, Philadelphia, Pa. 19107. The cost is 35 cents each or three for $1. A long (No. 10) envelope, self-addressed and stamped, should be enclosed for return of the cachets. Orders will be accepted as long as the supply of covers lasts.

THE VOTE, from six participants, in Curiosity Survey No. 2 —

Tom Sawyer proved the best-liked single stamp of 1972 with four votes. Yellowstone and Stamp Collector issues received one vote each. Favored status was also bestowed on the Cardinal, Mall Order and Cape Hatteras releases.

Wildlife Conservation topped the best liked series with three votes. One vote went to the Olympic issue, one to the National Parks issue and one to the Champions of Liberty series of an earlier day.

Readers purchased a variety of other collectibles offered by the Postal Service, including stamped envelopes, post cards, the book, mini-albums, souvenir cards and first day covers.

Four readers agreed the postal service should cater to stamp collectors. Profit for the service and the value of stamps as a propaganda vehicle were among the reasons cited.

A dissenting voice came from a Palestine collector who felt "they make it almost impossible to get a stamp that will be of much value any more because of the number of stamps that are printed."

A Roselle reader feels "there is no reason why the Postal Service can't cater to stamp collectors."

Collecting Coins

by Mort Reed

Following a recent rash of advertisements offering to buy and sell 1971 Eisenhower Proof dollars at less than the established mint price of $10, many collectors began to panic. Especially those newcomers to the hobby holding several specimens. To them this sudden "devaluation" is viewed as a blow to pride as well as wallets, and they wonder how to cope without taking a financial beating.

While there is nothing illegal in an offer to buy and sell a coin at less than its original purchase price, such an offer is certainly unusual and I have yet to find one knowledgeable numismatist able to justify the predicted "crash" in the market value.

Contrary to popular belief, there is no exact formula that will determine the eventual value of a coin. Unless it is being bought or sold for its precious metal content it is worth no more nor less than the highest dollar offer by the greatest number of people under normal conditions.

THE EISENHOWER Proof dollars are no exception. With precious metal content of 40.9 parts silver to 59.1 parts copper, intrinsic value is considerably less than face value, which eliminates any potential as an investment in the silver market. But the same is not necessarily true of its future as a collectors' item, since it is virtually impossible to predict the demand for any coin restricted to a mintage of less than 4½ million.

Anytime a restricted or limited edition fers to buy 1971 Eisenhower Proof dollars at $8.73 and sell the same coin at $9.50. The seller would have to subtract from this offer an additional 20 cents mailing and insurance fee leaving him with less than $8 of an original $10.

Now add to the $9.88 advertised selling price the 75 cents required by the dealer for postage. This runs the final cost to the new buyer up to $10.25. Twenty-five cents more than the coin would have cost him had he ordered direct from the Mint.

SUCH AN arrangement in my opinion, benefits only those who seek to make a fast buck at the expense of new and inexperienced collectors with little thought as to the damage rendered the entire numismatic hobby.

The numismatic industry finally has an ideal working arrangement with the Treasury and the Bureau of the Mint in particular, and I suggest we do nothing to bring discredit to either side by demanding investigations and refunds every time someone feels he is being forced to pay more for a specialty item than he can afford.

So retain your Eisenhower dollars if for no other reason than that they cost you $10 each. Any impending depreciation implied by an offer to buy or sell at less than the base price is strictly for psychological purposes.

of anything is completely subscribed to in the allotted time and at the asking price, the value of the item offered is established. And while it may be too high for some potential buyers, the fact remains there were those ready to enter into a perfectly legal transaction of their own accord, and they should not have to suffer a mental or financial penalty as a result of exercising the option.

The Bureau of the Mint advertised the availability of the Eisenhower Proof dollars in advance of their production. There wasn't the slightest hint as to the investment value of those coins and all orders received to a specified date would be honored.

CONSEQUENTLY, the Mint sold 4,232,279 1971 Eisenhower Proof dollars; well-packaged and delivered by registered mail at a cost of $10 per coin with a limit of five to a customer. Admittedly at a profit.

As a result, there are those who maintain the profit realized by the Mint was "unconscionable" and some rather weak efforts are being made to command a $2 refund on each coin sold. This of course, is ridiculous since such a refund would require a congressional appropriation of over $8 million, and then only after a long and costly investigation into Treasury pricing policies.

IF THE ORIGINAL $10 figure is excessive, as some would have you believe, then the advertisements referred to earlier in this article are more than slightly ambiguous. For example. One dealer of

Bell exec to head Crusade of Mercy

Charles L. Brown, president of Illinois Bell Telephone Co., has been appointed general chairman of the 1973 Crusade of Mercy by the organization's trustees.

John L. McKinney, president of the Pioneer Electric and Research Corp., was elected president of the Crusade. He succeeds Donald S. Perkins, chairman of the board of Jewel Companies Inc.

Brown succeeds Tilden Cummings, president and director of the Continental Illinois National Bank.

Brown will be responsible for directing a volunteer team of business and civic leaders. The Crusade of Mercy combines the annual appeals of the Community Fund, Red Cross and 91 affiliated suburban chests of the Suburban Chest Council in 155 suburban communities.

In 1972, the Crusade raised nearly $33 million for metropolitan Chicago voluntary social services such as adoption, child care, counseling, rehabilitation and special education.

Better fix that window rattle

Window troubles get noticeable as winter starts to fade away. You try to open one and find it stuck.

Or the breeze sets up a rattling. Sometimes the rattle is due to a poorly fitted sash. If there's a gap so that the sash can move back and forth against the top then fill the gap with sponge rubber weatherstrip.

More often, especially after a hard winter, the rattling is the sound made by a loose pane of glass. Putty takes a beating from the weather; eventually dries out and cracks. Rain may even seep in as it hits the glass.

Sometimes you have the problem of a window that won't open, yet rattles. That's definitely a loose pane of glass in a window that is stuck.

THE FIRST THING to do is take care of the glass. Get the window open later.

Remove all of the loose and crumbling putty. If you remove any putty from an edge, then take out the rest of the putty along the same edge. A putty knife is the tool to use.

Look for the glazier points next. These are triangular shaped bits of metal that hold the glass in place. Replace all the loose ones. One about every four inches is right.

Exposed wood surfaces should be treated with linseed oil before repainting the window. Use glazier's compound instead of conventional putty. It doesn't dry out and therefore will last longer.

ROLL A LUMP between your palms until it is the thickness of a pencil, then apply to the edge of the glass. Then beat it with a putty knife to leave a smooth, even surface.

Paint it when it is dry so that it matches the frame. While this last step is optional, it's a good thing to do.

There is such a thing as a glazier's chisel, but lacking one, use the widest, thinnest chisel you can find. This is what you use to loosen a stuck window.

Very carefully work the chisel between the sash and the stop — the part of the frame it rides against. Get the blade in and work it back and forth very gently. Repeat wherever the window is sticking.

IF THIS WINDOW is paint-stuck on the outside, work the chisel under the sash. Work slowly and carefully. Use a mallet to pound the chisel if you have to.

With the window unstuck, lubricate to prevent future trouble. Use a grease stick or painted or varnished surfaces, melted paraffin on unfinished wood.

Casement windows have their share of trouble too. Oil the hinges. Take off the rotary opener and apply grease to the gears. Use a wire brush to clean out the inside of the frame.

On any kind of window, check the lock. Sometimes this is loose. Tighten the screws, or apply larger screws.

Q. When I married recently, I wrote my new name on my social security card. Is there anything else I should do?

A. Yes, you need to fill out a form to change your social security record which is kept in Baltimore, Md. You can get the form at any social security office.

After you send it to us, we will mail you a new social security card with your new name and the same number that you have now.

Q. My son is 38 and totally blind. When he applied for social security disability payments last year, he was told that he hadn't worked recently enough to get benefits. I heard that changes in the social security law change the work requirement for blind people. Is this true?

A. Yes. A person who becomes disabled by blindness still needs a certain number of social security work credits, but he no longer has to have the credit for recent work required of other disabled workers. For example, your son, who became blind in 1972 needs credit for four years of work, but it doesn't matter when the credits were earned.

REMINDER: Those of you who missed your initial enrollment period for Medicare will have until April 2, 1973 to enroll for Part B coverage to begin July 1, 1973.

STUDENTS who get monthly social security payments may now get checks for a time after 2nd birthday, according to Norman R. Thoresen, manager of the Arlington Heights Social Security Office.

Under a change in the law, an undergraduate student can continue to get social security payments through the end of the semester or quarter in which he reaches age 22.

If the student's school does not use the semester or quarter system, payments can continue until he completes the course he is taking or 2 months after he reaches 22, whichever comes first.

"The change means students will no longer face the problem of having their benefits stop in the middle of a school term," Thoresen said.

About 590,000 students are now getting monthly checks because a parent insured under social security retired, became disabled, or died. Checks for dependent children normally stop at age 18, but payments continue to 22 for young people who are in school full time and remain unmarried.

Under previous law, social security payments stopped when the student reached 22.

'Harper College on the Air' enters 6th year

"This is Harper College on the Air" goes into its sixth year of broadcasting on station WRMN-AM, at 11:45 a.m. Sunday.

Student achievement recognition awards, women's state gymnastics meet, regional sales seminars and an interview with guitarist Jim Croce will be campus news featured on this month's program.

This monthly newscast is a continuing project of the radio-television news course in the two-year journalism sequence at Harper College in Palatine.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

As Abe Lincoln put down the dummy, he remarked, "Well, George, if I didn't know your reputation for telling the truth I would think you lied a little with your two-spade bid."

George Washington, sitting South, said nothing. He let West's Jack of diamonds hold the first trick. West continued with the 10. George played low from dummy and ruffed.

Then he replied, "I don't know how honest my bid was, but if East has an honest 10 or 17 point no-trump I will make game."

See if you can work out the end-play that George visualized. In any case, here it is:

He led a trump to dummy; ruffed a third diamond; led a second trump to dummy and played a low club.

East could not afford to play the ace and George was in with the king. He got back to dummy by leading a third trump; played the queen of diamonds and discarded his four of clubs.

East was stuck on lead and made his best play of the heart king, but George just ducked that also.

That was the last shot in East's locker. A club lead would set up dummy's queen for a discard of the last losing heart while a second heart lead would be right up to dummy's ace-jack.

Meet 'Kung Fu's' Oriental superman

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Kung Fu" is the title of a new television series. It is also the philosophical discipline of a great majority of Chinese which includes astonishing physical dexterity.

Karate and Judo are child's play compared with kung fu.

This assessment comes from Chow Tai-wai, which is not to be found on the menu beside egg foo young. No, Chow Tai-wai has westernized his name to David Chow, a millionaire businessman who also is technical adviser to "Kung Fu."

"CHOW IS A highly educated, hip native of Shanghai who split from the old country when the Communists and the old guard began shooting at one another. He was 14 years old and a kung fu master."

"If it weren't for the revolution I'd still be in China," said Chow. "But I'm grateful for the success I've found in the United States."

His success is comprised of licensed financial consultant, dancer, photographer, sportscar racer, airplane pilot and actor. He also is adept at magic tricks, bongo drums and is a crack rifle shot.

Chow is, it appears, an Oriental superman.

"An important thing," says Chow, "is the obligation to ourselves for monetary and emotional security. Another is the respect and love of your family and neighbors. They try to incorporate these concepts in the scripts of the new series. It makes viewers sit back and think a little bit."

tial art because it contains the fighting techniques of the tiger, leopard, eagle, snake, white crane and dragon.

Even Chow cannot fully describe the fang and claw combat of dragons.

But the fighting element of kung fu is invoked only when the peaceful philosophy approach does not dissuade an enemy or common crank who wishes to do you bodily injury.

In that event the kung fu advocate thrashes out with arms and legs so speedily that an opponent never sees the blow that kills him.

CHOW HAS A standing bet with anyone that he can snatch a coin from the open palm of an individual before he can close his fingers over it.

The well-constructed Chinese gentleman will bet you $20 on his skill. He picks up a lot of quarters this way which he really doesn't need.

"Acting is just a hobby with me," Chow said. "I think I can understand the mechanics of the series better if I spend some time in front of the cameras."

So far in his 30-some-odd years David Chow hasn't had to employ kung fu attack. After the quarter-in-the-hand trick the prudent man does his best to become chummy with Mr. Chow.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tim Holt died the other day, and, to a movie buff or veteran watcher of motion picture reruns on television, his name immediately brings to mind the indelible impression he made in one particular acting role.

Holt appeared in many movies, and was a Western star, but he had the role of a lifetime in one of the best films of all time, "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," and he made the most of it. His costars in this classic were Humphrey Bogart and Walter Huston, and, to this day, watching them work together is a sublime pleasure.

SOME ACTORS appear in countless movies and leave no lasting impression of themselves, either as performers or as human beings. And then there is the actor who seems to have been born for a great role given him, and with a single performance implants himself in our minds. We react with a glow, an admiration, a sense of elation, when we think of him in this particular part.

And that is how it is when one thinks of Holt in "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre." We recollect how, in the search for gold along with Huston and Bogart, his self-questioning evolved when things got rough and tough and nasty, and how the treasure he really mined from the experience was his sense of personal discovery that allowed him to keep his perspective and, eventually, to survive.

Huston was the voice of judgment and, in a way, prophecy in his keen assessment of his two companions, and the simple but worldwide philosophy of his outlook. His occasional comic flights were deceptive and laced with bite. Bogart, if not an outright villain, was the weaker side of human nature. Holt was Everyman at the crossing, a person the audience could identify with closely. And he gave the film a character of total directness so that all the key elements stood out that much more clearly.

WHAT ADMIRE of "Sierra Madre" will ever forget the incomparably performed ending when, after Bogart is killed by bandits, Huston and Holt find the slashed sacks from which the gold dust has been allowed to blow away? The old man Huston starts laughing at the irony of it all, at the months of hard work that, in the end, resulted in no money for their efforts, with the gold dust blowing back to the earth. Holt suddenly begins to see the tragic humor and, uncertain at first, then joins wholeheartedly in the laughter. And then they part.

"The Treasure of the Sierra Madre" is so great a film that even the commercials and butchering it gets on television only damage it but cannot destroy it.

IRS offers correct tax return forms

The Internal Revenue Service has announced that persons receiving the wrong income tax return forms can obtain the correct forms from the government agency.

Roger C. Beck, district director of the IRS for Northern Illinois, said a number of taxpayers who normally should have received the Package 1040 series have received the Package 1040A series instead.

He said if a taxpayer received the wrong package he could obtain the right one by writing to the IRS, Chicago District Office, P. O. Box 1193, Chicago, 60690, or he can use the order blank which is part of the 1040A package.

Beck added that the taxpayer should use the pre-addressed peel-off label attached to the first tax package he receives on the form he finally returns.

Schaumburg hockey facts

(Editor's note: The first account of the state championship of Schaumburg's Squirts and third-place finish of the Panthers appeared in the front news section of Wednesday's Northwest Suburban Herald. Another summary follows.)

Schaumburg King Squirt team, sponsored by the Woodfield Auto Dealer, entered in the Illinois Amateur Hockey Assn. State Tournament, Novice Class and brought the first hockey state championship to Schaumburg.

The Squirt played Peoria and won 5-4. The following week they beat Springfield 9-1. The first of their semi-final playoff games in Peoria Feb. 17 against the Naperville Sabres. The Woodfield Auto Dealer Squirts came out on top 4-3.

The fight for first and second place was Feb. 18 against the Tri-City Blues, and the Kings brought home the championship with a 4-3 win. Coach Tom Ryan says his team won by excellent offense and defense play, and hard forechecking and backchecking. However, his promise that the team could throw their coach into the shower immediately after winning the championship, may have been a major contributing factor. Ryan exited the locker room smiling, gratefully accepting a waiting blanket from a trail of water and 17 solid cheering new state champions. Members are Scott Almquist, Dan Dunn, Tony Barucca, Steve Chak, Bill Dunne, John Gould, Dennis Heurin, Kevin Kline, Scott McArthur, Jon Melkerson, Dan Relly, Scott Ross, Mike Rueckl, Kevin Ryan, Jerry Scott, Bob Vugler and Bill Waghorne. (Game details are below under "Squirts".)

The Schaumburg King Bantams team, sponsored by Omega Sports, played two games in Pekin, competing in the Illinois State Tournament. To qualify for the tournament finals the King Team defeated Springfield 2-1 and Elmhurst 13-6 in regional play. In their first game in Pekin, the Omega Kings were defeated by the eventual state champion Downers Grove 4-6. The game seemed to be a letdown for the Kings who missed several fine scoring opportunities early in the game and then were outplayed by the fine Downers Grove team.

In their consolation game the Kings came up with a three-goal first period and went on to defeat the Joliet Pioneers. The result was a third-place finish in the state tournament. Bantams "Novice" Division. Members of this very fine team are Brian Archibald, Joe Cleva, Curt Deppner, Tim Johnson, Barry Kazminski, Kurt Kline, Craig Landis, Steve Murphy, Carl Olson, Bob Payson, Mike Relly, Scott Schmitz, Todd Vugler, Mike Waghorne, Jim Wilson and Todd Zarko.

The Schaumburg hockey league teams have completed their 20th week of Polar Dome league play with three wins and three losses. In state tournament play, two of the King teams played in the finals this past weekend in Pekin, while the King State team will travel to Peoria the weekend of Feb. 23, 24. The scores, goals and assists were as follows:

SQUITS (ages 5 & 6)

Schaumburg 3, Dundee 8
McArthur Realty Mites played a busy three-game week, starting out with a win over the Dundee Goats. Jon Zeller earned a shutout. King goal scorers were Bob Vugler, Patrick Courtney, John Sievin, and Anthony DeVito. Assistants were one each for Danny Ursula, Bob Jody Horn. Shots on goal were Kings 59, Dundee 3.

SCHAUMBURG 1, ELMHURST 1

The second game for McArthur Realty Mites was an excellent game skated by equally matched teams. The King goal was scored by Bob Melkerson, unassisted. Goaltender Michael Stevenson turned back 17 out of 14 shots on goal. The King assist was one goal, and Jody Horn. Shots on goal were Kings 59, Dundee 3.

SCHAUMBURG 4, ELMHURST 3

The McArthur Realty Mites made their third game a win over their out of state visitors. Hard digging by King Joel Haugan earned him a goal. Scorers also were John Stavin and 2 goals by Bob Melkerson. Assistants were Patrick Courtney, Scott Dunn and Bob Melkerson. Shots on goal were Schaumburg 17, Michigan 16. Goals from home went to Zeller.

SCHAUMBURG 2, ELMHURST 8

The Woodfield Auto Dealer Squirts played a powerful game of offense and defense against the Huskies and outshot them 24-12. Goaltie Scott McArthur earned a shutout. The Hijackers scored in the first and second periods. Scoring a goal each for the Kings were Dennis Heurin, Bill Dunne and Mike Rueckl. Assistants were Bob Vugler, Jon Melkerson and Scott Ross. Schaumburg 4, Naperville Sabres 3 (state semi-final playoff game).

The Woodfield Auto Dealer Squirts got off to a fast start with the first goal of the first period scored by Dennis Heurin assisted by Scott Ross and Tony Barucca. Three minutes later King Bill Dunne scored the second goal assisted by Jon Melkerson. The third King goal was scored in the second period by Scott Ross, unassisted. The fourth goal, also in the second period was by King Mike Rueckl, assisted by Scott Ross and Dennis Heurin. Offense and defense play was superior to the Kings outshot the Sabres 12-5.

SCHAUMBURG 4, TRI-CITY BLUES 2

In the state championship game the Woodfield Auto Dealer Squirts again took fast lead with a goal in the first period by Scott Ross, assisted by Mike Rueckl. The Kings scored again in the second period, this one by Mike Rueckl, assisted by Scott Ross and John Gould. After each goal in the first two periods, the Sabres came back with a goal and the third period began with a 2-2 tie. Excellent King checking and goaltending by Scott McArthur held the blues down so they outshot the Kings 21-12. The action-packed game remained locked until the final 5 minutes of play when King Mike Rueckl scored the winning goal, unassisted. In the last minute of play, Tri-City pulled their goalie, and King Dennis Heurin found an open net, and with 22 seconds left put in the fourth goal.

SCHAUMBURG 4, PEORIA 2

In this week's play the King Pee Wees lost their hope of making the playoffs by losing to the Huskies. The goals were scored by Ron Krause in the second period, and a third period goal by Jon Mizrahi. Assistants went to Joe Freeman, Paul Donavan and Jeff Mrozinski. Shots on goal were Huskies 21, Kings 11.

SCHAUMBURG 7, ELMHURST 3

The Omega Kings took their 20th straight at the Polar Dome against the third-place Elmhurst Bantam team by a score of 7-3. Mike Waghorne and Barry Kazminski turned in hat tricks and Scott Schmitz added a single goal. Joe Cleva and Mike Relly picked up assists. The Omega Kings need one more game to finish the season undefeated. Shots on goal in the game Kings 23, Elmhurst 7.

STATE TOURNAMENT

SCHAUMBURG 4, JOLIET 0

The King Bantams traveled to Pekin to play two games in the Illinois State Tournament Novice Division. In their first game they met the Downers Grove Royals and were defeated by the now state champions. The Kings started the game by outscoring the Royals 6-3 in the first period, but were unable to score. It seemed to slow up the Omega team, so the result was a 4-0 defeat at the hands of the fine Royal Team. The Royals then went on to defeat Niles 7-4 for the state championship.

In their consolation game the Kings came up with a third-goal first period and went on to defeat a fine Joliet Pioneer team. Goal scorers for the Omega team were Joe Cleva with two, and Mike Waghorne and Barry Kazminski with single goals. The Omega Bantams had to settle for third place in the state tournament.

SCHAUMBURG 2, ELMHURST 2

Following the state tournament, the King Bantams played a practice game with Rockford and defeated them 6-2. The Omega team played a fine hard-checking game and totally dominated the final two periods of the game. The King goals were scored by Bob Payson with two, and single goals in Todd Zarko, Tim Johnson, Scott Schmitz and Barry Kazminski.

SCHAUMBURG 1, ELMHURST 4

Two goals in the third period gave the Elmhurst team a hard-fought victory over the King Team. The Schaumburg goal was scored by Bob Krause on an assist from Steve Ochancian. The Kings were outshot by Elmhurst 22-2.

SPARKLING GLASS and mirrors add interest and depth to the small formal dining area of the Tom Wageman home in Elk Grove Village. Velvet-like upholstery in shades of green complements carpeting.

member has his own activities and interests yet they are still a closely-knit unit. Children, from left, are Paul, Meg, Tom and Kris.

Suburban Living ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

by FRAN HECKART

From the outside Tom and Letty Wageman's development house looks like all the others on the block. On the inside it's a unique and individualized home that radiates warmth and personality.

The couple moved into the four-bedroom home in an Elk Grove Village subdivision about four years ago and have been remodeling ever since.

"Renters lived in the house before we

Letty regarding her remodeling technique. "Choosing carpeting first provides a starting point for decorating."

A WALL OF MIRRORS adds depth to the small formal dining area adjacent to the living room. The simple design of the table is accented by elegant upholstery in shades of green on the chairs.

Not overpowering but definitely dynamic are the vivid splashes of orange, black, yellow and brown flowers on the patent-finish wallpaper in the kitchen.

The brilliance of the paper, which has the appearance of being hand-painted, provides a pleasant contrast to the cool greens in the living and dining areas.

Rust-toned carpeting not only covers the kitchen floor but a built-in bench along one wall. The bench was Letty's way of eliminating space-consuming chairs from her skinny kitchen. When Tom and Letty gather with their five children Kris, 15; Beth, 14; Paul, 12; Tom, 11; and Meg, 7, only four chairs are needed now.

Copertone appliances add to the rich brown tones of the kitchen.

A narrow back hallway used to be the laundry area, but Letty had plans to change that, too. She persuaded Tom to move the washer and dryer upstairs.

With five active children, an upstairs laundry room is much more convenient for the busy homemaker.

"THE FORMER SPACE was so small and there was always congestion around the back door," Letty said. "It seemed everytime I had the dryer door open, the dog wanted out or somebody wanted in."

she laughed.

The old laundry area has been transformed in a practical storage area. A second refrigerator is camouflaged by two adjacent closets, one of which conceals a laundry tub. Directly across is an attractively decorated guest washroom.

Since the Wagemans' home has no basement, they have implemented every available space for storage. For example, they cut a space underneath the stairs for a closet to store china and dining accessories.

One of the uncompleted projects is the family room. Already they have changed the standard builder-installed fireplace and carpeted the room. Wallpaper and a conversation pit are envisioned for the future.

At this point Letty modestly called attention to the one tree in the back yard.

"When we moved here there wasn't a bush on the place," she said. "Now we have a tree."

Letty feels wallpaper is much more interesting than painted walls and has imaginatively chosen patterns for all of the rooms. In addition, carpeting can be found throughout the house.

"NOT ONLY is carpeting easier to maintain but adds a more cozy and comfortable effect," said Letty.

She affectionately refers to her husband as a "work nut" but has recently assumed added responsibilities herself.

Letty and a friend formed a corporation and opened a resale shop in Wheeling called Second Chance.

"We both have five children and felt there was a need for this type of outlet," Letty commented. They accept used articles — except furniture — on consignment and sell them in the shop.

Letty works every other day in the shop, so at the present time remodeling has taken a back seat to business, but she says there's always some improvement to be made.

"This is the second home we've done so we've learned to do things we like at a minimum cost," said Letty. "We've also learned to do projects that are somewhat portable so they don't have to be left behind."

How Suburbia Lives

moved in," said Letty. "There wasn't a lot of major renovation to be done, but let's just say it had been neglected."

One could not say the same today. Thick shag carpeting in a tasteful lime green has been laid in the living and dining areas.

Unlike many suburban homes with formal living rooms, the Wagemans' has a comfortable and warm appearance. A wall of cabinetry and book shelves provided a ready-made focal point around which to decorate the room. Two wing chairs in a creamy light yellow accent the carpeting and brown-toned love seats.

"I always work from the bottom," said

Test TV as teacher

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Several hundred youngsters who have never seen television before have been introduced to the medium through "Sesame Street" in six remote villages in the Blue Mountains of Jamaica.

Their reactions to the popular preschool program are being tabulated by a team of international researchers attempting to find out if video cassette technology can be applied to education in areas of the world that lack access to electricity or television signals.

Cameras on top of battery-powered television sets recorded on videotape the responses of the youngsters as they watched the programs. The videotapes represent a "living data base" which will be analyzed at the Center for Research in Children's Television at Harvard University.

In addition to testing the mobility of equipment, the project is seeking to determine which segments of "Sesame Street" are viewed most attentively, whether children who normally speak a Creole dialect can comprehend programming in American-style English, and what children perceive in the medium of television itself.

The research project was developed by the Children's Television Workshop, creators and producers of "Sesame Street" and the Sony and Suzuki corporations of Japan, which are providing equipment and technicians for the project, in cooperation with various Jamaican government offices.

BOLD GEOMETRICS pattern the wallpaper in Paul and Tom Wageman's bedroom. Designed to withstand the wear of active boys, the room is decorated in predominantly bright red and royal blue with white accents. The blue bedspreads of fur-like fabric are sturdy yet add softness to the room.

SUPPORTIVE FINDS volunteer Herold Doctor, Chicago, ready to deliver meals from Lutheran General Hospital to homebound residents in the area. Mrs. George Sellke of Des Plaines, center, heads the volunteer program of bringing hot meals and cold suppers to the ill, elderly or handicapped.

Sisterhood banishes winter with spring fashion show

"If you're suffering from winter blues and you would like a little something different to do, come and see our super special fashion show, 'Springtime 'Round the World,'" suggest the women of the Sisterhood of Congregation B'Nai Joshua Beth Elohim.

The show, for both men and women, and the petite buffet which follows, will take place March 7, at 8:30 p.m. at 801 Milwaukee Ave., Glenview. Women's clothes featured will be from The Village Set in Skokie; men's apparel from The Dandy in Glenview.

Elaine Gayle of The Village Set will be commentator. Models will include the following Des Plaines residents: Joyce Ginsburg, Shirley Boton, Arlene Detina, Donald Stillman, Jerry Karp, Burton Spellman and Marvin Glanzrock.

Admission donation is $2.50. Tickets will be available at the door and the public is invited.

Shirley Boton is Sisterhood president and Gloria Karp is ways and means vice president. Both are Des Plaines residents.

Break the ice

NEW YORK (UPI) — The next time a spat's in progress at your house, break the ice by saying "If you don't stop that, I'm going to run down to the cellar and jump out the window."

You'll get a laugh — if the cellar window is at ground level.

Service League delivers meals to ill, elderly

Ill, elderly or handicapped persons who live within a five-mile radius of Lutheran General Hospital and who have been referred by a physician, may now receive home-delivered hot noon meals and cold suppers prepared in the hospital's food service department.

Fifty volunteers, headed by Mrs. George Sellke of Des Plaines, deliver the meals seven days a week. Special diets are available to patients requiring them.

Mrs. Sellke is a long time member of the hospital's 1,000 member Service League, and served as its president from 1969 to 1971. "As the program grows, more volunteers will be needed," she said. "Those interested should call the volunteer office at Lutheran General Hospital, 696-2210."

Home-delivered meals are part of the community outreach program of the hospital, located at 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge. Cost for the two meals is $3.25. The hot meal alone is $1.65.

New member tea

New members of Arlington Heights Woman's Club will be entertained at tea this afternoon in the home of Mrs. Anthony Tomaso, 1538 N. Haddow, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Frank Currier, president, and Mrs. Richard Blair, dean of chairmen, will answer questions about the organization and its social and philanthropic activities.

Two shows for antique buffs coming in March

Area antique buffs can have a heyday in March. There are two shows coming up.

The Junior Woman's Club of Palatine will be staging its fifth annual show Friday and Saturday, March 2 and 3, and the Mount Prospect Woman's Club will be staging its ninth annual show Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 13-15.

The Palatine show will be held at the Plum Grove Club in Palatine and the Mount Prospect show will be held in the Mount Prospect Community Center.

As a special presentation dealers are preparing exhibits of their personal collections for the Palatine show. These collections include tools, banks, weather vanes, barbed wire, decoys and pottery.

Mrs. Richard Komarewicz is chairman of the Juniors' show which will have booths set up by 24 dealers. Managers are Anapoly Antiques, Palatine, and show hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Antiques etcetera are managers for the Mount Prospect show which will feature 24 dealers displaying their wares.

Show hours will be 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday; and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday. Early bird tickets are on sale for $1 and may be obtained by calling 259-7383. At the door tickets will be $1.25.

The Mount Prospect Community Center is located at 600 See Gwin.

Proceeds of both sales will go toward club philanthropies.

Luncheon, at $2, will be served from 11:30 to 1:30.

THE COMMITTEE working behind the scenes includes Mrs. Richard Pankey, Mrs. Donald Landphair, Mrs. Fred Fouch, Mrs. Richard Battis, Mrs. Herbert Lawrence, Mrs. Raymond Kivi, Mrs. Stephen Duncan, Mrs. Ron Cole, Mrs. Michael Andrew, Mrs. John Kohl, Mrs. Don Leissner, Mrs. Richard Thomas, Mrs. Lloyd Stober and Mrs. Kenneth Hobes.

The Plum Grove Club is located in Plum Grove Estates and can be reached from the West Frontage Road of Route 53. Directional signs will lead the way. Tickets are $1.50 at the door; advance sale tickets, available by calling 358-5036, are $1.25.

Next On The Agenda

THE SPARES

Miss Barbara J. Milkes, an Internal Revenue Agent of the Skokie office, will be the Spares Sunday Evening Club speaker Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 2328 Central Road, Glenview. Her subject will be "Federal Tax Savings for the Single Adults."

The club is a non-sectarian, non-profit organization for single, widowed, divorced and legally separated adults. Meetings are held the second and fourth Sundays of the month at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church. This Club, with 23 different activities, serves residents of Lake, Cook, Kane, McHenry and DuPage Counties. Guests are welcome. For information 734-6720.

KAPPA DELTA

"Up, Up and Away" is the theme of the annual benefit dinner dance March 3 for Northwest Suburban Kappa Delta Alumnae Association and at their meeting Monday members will complete decorations for this dance. Proceeds will go to St. Teresa Mission in Palatine, Northwest Suburban Aid to the Retarded, Community Action Plan in Mount Prospect; and to Kappa Delta's national philanthropy, the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Va.

This meeting will be held at 8 in the home of Mrs. Peter Postlewaite, 1972 Asbury Circle North, Hanover Park. Co-hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. Robert Scheuer of Hoffman Estates and Mrs. William Schubert of Wauconda.

Any new members interested in attending this meeting may contact Mrs. Thomas Meier at 235-8832.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS BOOK REVIEW CLUB

Reservations and cancellations for next Wednesday's meeting of Prospect Heights Book Review Club are due Monday. The group will be meeting in Old Orchard Country Club, Mount Prospect, at 9:30 a.m. for a continental breakfast and a review of "A Woman of Feeling" by Violet Weingarten. Reviewer will be Mrs. Michael H. Weinberg.

Welcome Wagon newcomer coffee

Women who are new residents of Palatine are invited to a coffee presented by the Welcome Wagon of Palatine.

The coffee is scheduled for 10 a.m. next Tuesday with Mrs. Dwight Mitchell as hostess. Reservations can be made through Mrs. Gerald Griffith, president, at 359-7839, or Mrs. Peter Buckstaff, 358-0292, hospitality chairman.

Membership in the club is open to all newcomers in the area. Monthly luncheons, ladies' and couples' bridge, cards, arts and crafts, knit and stitch and gourmet dinner for couples, are included in the activities. A spring dinner dance is scheduled for April 14 at Lancer's Steak House.

Las Vegas Nite for secretaries

North Suburban Association of Educational Secretaries will sponsor its second annual scholarship fund raising event, a Las Vegas Nite, Friday, March 2, in the Bensenville Tropicana Hotel 2149.

The evening will include music by The Wayfarers for the $2.50 donation. Tickets will not be sold at the door but are available by calling Kathy Craig, 624-1102.

A prayer breakfast for all

United Presbyterian Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church of Des Plaines will hold a prayer breakfast Monday. The event will take place in the Fellowship Hall of the church at Howard and Maple Sts., from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Louis C. Sciez, spiritual life chairman and general arrangements chairman for the breakfast, reports that the program will be a sharing of "soul food." Each attendee is requested to bring at least one of the following items: an inspirational thought, prayer, poem, Bible verse, hymn request or a personal experience to relate.

Plans were made for the BIL theater party to see "Mame" March 31. After the play, the Rolling Meadows home of Mrs. Marion Rankin will be opened for refreshments.

Following the prayer breakfast, UPW members will be called to order for a brief business meeting, chaired by Mrs. Michael Felten, president.

Barrette accents

Barrettes are being covered with fabric, painted with flowers or glued with stars to hold back and accent the new supershort locks.

ORT art auction with champagne

West Suburban Region of Women's American ORT will hold an art auction Saturday evening at the Flick Reedy Corp., 7 N. York Road, Bensenville.

A campaign preview at 8 will precede the 9 p.m. auction.

Proceeds will help operate, develop and maintain vocational education in ORT schools throughout the world.

Tickets at $1.50 may be purchased at the door. Further information is available by calling 537-3541.

The Stork sends news from Japan

When the phone rings in the Mount Prospect home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brieschke everyone jumps. It might be a call from their daughter Cheryl who has been living in Misawa, Japan for the last two and one-half years.

The phone call on Lincoln's birthday wasn't from Cheryl but from their son-in-law, Sgt. Clyde D. Reyes, who was announcing the birth of the couple's first child and the Brieschkes' first grandchild.

The Feb. 12 arrival, Kristina Lee, who weighed 6 pounds 9½ ounces, was born at the Misawa Air Force Base.

Cheryl called, too, and the Brieschkes and Mrs. V. Reyes of Cicero, the baby's paternal grandmother, are now looking forward to meeting Kristina in just a few months when the couple expects to return to the States.

LUTHERAN GENERAL

Coraline Elizabeth Delzer, born Jan. 29 weighing 9 pounds 9½ ounces, balances the ratio of girls to boys in the big family of Mr. and Mrs. Larry L. Delzer, 285 S. Wilkins Drive, Des Plaines. The other children are Michael, 14; Dianne, 13; Karen, 12; Herbert, 10; Steven, 9; Lori, 8; and Gregory, 19 months. Their grandparents are the Herbert Delzers of West Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. A. Isaacson of Republic, Mich.

Colleen Beatrice Johnson is the first girl for Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Johnson, 1446 White St., Des Plaines, who have two sons, Donald, 9, and Keith, 5. Born Jan. 29, Colleen weighed in at 8 pounds 3 ounces. Mrs. Beatrice Coyne and Charles Johnson, both of Chicago, are the grandparents.

Tom Papagiannis arrived Feb. 2, a son for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Papagiannis of 803 Rose Ave., Des Plaines, and a grandson for Mr. and Mrs. Nick Doumazos and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Papagiannis, all of whom live in Greece. Tom weighed 8 pounds 8 ounces upon arrival. He has two sisters: Sea, 5, and Georgia, 8.

Darcy Lenee Pfeiffer is the name of the little newcomer in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Pfeiffer of 2128 Fox Lane, Des Plaines. Darcy was born Feb. 2 and weighed an even 8 pounds.

Susan Marie Rippertella arrived Feb. 3, a sister for 3-year-old Julie. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rippertella of 349 Amherst, Des Plaines, and the granddaughters of the John Rippertellas of Morton Grove and Mrs. Henrietta Eshleman of Adrian, Mich. Susan's birth weight was recorded at 8 pounds 9 ounces.

Heather Lynn Nettelhorst, Feb. 4 arrived, weighed 5 pounds 14 ounces at birth. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William L. Nettelhorst, 80 Lance Drive, Des Plaines, who also have a son, William Scott, age 2. Grandparents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nettelhorst of Park Ridge and Mrs. Vera Pagan of Rockford, Ill.

Jamie Erica Silverman was born Feb. 7 to Mr. and Mrs. Steven C. Silverman, 634 Old Willow Road, Wheeling. The 7 pound 9 ounce baby is a first child for her parents and a grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. David Strauss, Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Silverman, Niles.

NORTHWEST COMMUNITY

Nicole Gwendolyn Zeger has joined a 2-year-old brother Wesley in the George Zeger home at 429 Janine Lane, Schaumburg. Nicole was born Feb. 13 weighing 6 pounds 11 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Krebs, Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. Venie Zeger, Shippensburg, Pa., are the grandparents of the children.

Charlotte Anne LaMarche was born Feb. 11 to Mr. and Mrs. George LaMarche, 632 S. McKinley, Arlington Heights. The baby, weighing 6 pounds 12 ounces, is a sister for Wesley, 10, and Warren, 9. Grandparents are Mrs. George LaMarche Sr., Rochester, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Campbell, Natchez, Miss.

Richard James Crane was a Feb. 12 arrival for Mr. and Mrs. William F. Crane, 4730 Arbor Drive, Rolling Meadows. The 7 pound 5 ounce baby is a brother for 25-month-old Billy and a grandson of Palatine residents, the William Matzkes and James Cranes.

Linsey Nicole Brown is the newest daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, 111 E. Charleston Lane, Hoffman Estates. She was born Feb. 12, a sister for Lisa, 6, and Lani, 2. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kopakin, Chicago, and Mrs. Cele Brown, Des Plaines, are the girls' grandparents.

Alan Edward Kraft is the new Hoffman Estates resident at 311 Winston Drive. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kraft, Alan was born Feb. 11 weighing 8 pounds 10½ ounces. Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Alkire, Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Kraft, Des Plaines, are the grandparents of Alan.

Todd Douglas Poore was a Valentine's Day arrival for Mr. and Mrs. Jim Poore, 9 N. Wille St., Mount Prospect. The Feb. 14 baby weighed 8 pounds 10¾ ounces, and is a brother for David, 14, Jim, 11, Joe, 8, Mimi, 13, Denise, 10, and Renee, 9.

Scott Edward Folkes is the new son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Folkes, 393 Mayfield Lane, Hoffman Estates. Born Feb. 14, Valentine's Day, Scott weighed 9 pounds 6 ounces. Todd, 6, is the brother of the baby and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Folkes and Gale Best, Rolling Meadows, and Mrs. Eric Plonk, Punta Gorda, Fla., are the grandparents. Mrs. Eric Best, Schaumburg, and Mrs. Gertrude McNulty, Rolling Meadows, are great-grandparents.

Tracy Marie Sychowski arrived on Valentine's Day to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sychowski Sr., 142 Brantwood West, Elk Grove Village. The Feb. 14 baby is a sister for Joseph Jr., 5, and Daniel, 2. Chicago residents Mr. and Mrs. S. Olin and Martha Sychowski are the grandparents of the children.

Mary Elizabeth Kauss will be sharing her birthday with St. Valentine for she was born Feb. 14. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Kauss, 106 W. Charleston Lane, Hoffman Estates, Mary Elizabeth weighed 7 pounds 2 ounces. Jennifer, 4, is the sister of the baby, and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kauss and James L. Dowd, all of Chicago.

Remember dresses? The kind that show your legs and make a girl look fragile and pretty? They're back again for spring.

This spring will feature a soft, feminine look, says Seventeen, the magazine. There is nothing old-fashioned about the new daytime dresses.

Making news for spring are shirt-dresses, especially in floral prints.

One dress look for spring: A mixed-up wrap-up features a floral pinny with sashes in back over a bold checked shirt.

Bill Lytle takes a bride

The Yorkville (Ill.) Congregational Church was the setting for the Feb. 3 nuptials of Diane Lynn Farren and William Douglas Lytle. The couple met at Illinois State University, Normal, where both are still students, and have returned to the campus after a short honeymoon at Pheasant Run.

Diane is the daughter of Mrs. Emil Farren of Yorkville and the late Mr. Farren. She was given in marriage by her brother Jeff.

Bill, son of the Douglas G. Lytles of 18 Glenbrook Dr., Prospect Heights, is a '66 graduate of Wheeling High School. Before going to Illinois State he spent three and a half years in the U.S. Army, serving as a Green Beret in Germany, and also attended the University of Tennessee and Elgin Community College.

THE COUPLE exchanged vows and rings at seven in the evening, then greeted 225 guests at a reception in the church hall. For the ceremony a group called "Our Friends," composed of Robert, Jim and Bonnie Bowker, friends of the groom, arranged and performed the musical part of the wedding.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Susan Kimes of Yorkville, was her matron of honor and James Bowker, Chicago, was best man.

The other girls in the wedding party were Bill's sister, Virginia Lytle, Betty Ransford, Bloomington; and Mrs. Nancy Niles, Yorkville, as bridesmaids. All the attendants were dressed in two-toned gowns with white chiffon bodice and floral printed skirt in shades of orange, yellow, red and navy blue. They carried bouquets to match.

THE BRIDE chose a white chiffon over taffeta gown with a high collar, long puffed sleeves and a deep flounce at the floor-length hem. It was accented with bands of lace.

Diane topped her gown with a headpiece formed by a wreath of fresh daisies, white carnations and baby's breath. She carried a colonial bouquet of assorted spring flowers.

Bill's groomsmen were the couple's brothers, Bruce Lytle and David Farren, along with Thomas Manderscheid of Wheeling. Ushers were Wayne Miller, the bride's uncle from Aurora; Richard Kruse, Bloomington; and Brad Morrison, Winneka.

The Consumer

by Monica Wilch

The Better Business Bureau reminds consumers in its brochure "Buying on Time": "You always pay more for something if you buy it on time rather than pay cash for it."

Before deciding to buy on time, the BBB suggests you ask yourself these questions:

- Can you make the payments out of your regular income?

- Have you any credit or cash reserve to cover an unexpected expense?

- Are you willing to give up part of your regular income for a number of months for the sake of a credit purchase?

How far is your credit already extended? Experts recommend that no more than 15 per cent of your income — after taxes and excluding mortgage payments — should be tied up in time payments.

Be sure to read the contract, advises the BBB, and see that it states in writing exactly what you are buying, the purchase price or the amount borrowed, any other charges, total amount due, amount of interest, percentage rate, number and amount and due date of all payments, plus all promises made by the salesman.

You should also ask what happens if you miss a payment, and what happens if you pay ahead.

But don't be rushed into a credit purchase. The Better Business Bureau of New York found that in many furniture stores in that area, sellers tried to get credit information out of customers before they had decided to buy and were deceptive about the terms of their installment plans.

Salesmen "may ask you where you work, how long you've worked there, how much you make, how much your spouse makes," said a BBB spokesman. "You don't have to give out this kind of information before a sale."

The seller must tell you the total cost of your credit purchase and should tell you how much your payments will be as well as how long. But in the New York survey, sellers evaded these questions. They often urged shoppers to "give me a few dollars down and sign some papers and we can start processing them while you're thinking it over."

The time to think it over is BEFORE you sign any papers.

Along with his resignation, Commissioner Miles Kirkpatrick of the Federal Trade Commission handed in his analysis of what the FTC needs to maximize its effectiveness as a regulatory agency.

Kirkpatrick, who will be leaving his post March 1, believes that the FTC must have "more muscle which only the Congress can give us."

First, he said, the FTC needs "clearly established and explicitly defined trade regulation rule authority." Secondly, it needs "explicit authority to seek temporary injunctions before the Federal courts to enable us in proper cases to bring illegal practices quickly to a halt, particularly those that are detrimental to the health and safety of our citizens."

The cease and desist order, which has been the only enforcement mechanism available to the FTC, "is not always an effective means of enforcing the law in the circumstances of the rapid change and mobility of our society," Kirkpatrick said, noting that the order often is hampered by "years of delay."

Finally, Kirkpatrick proposed that the FTC "should have the power to seek our own civil penalties and to enforce our own orders and subpoenas."

All of these measures have been proposed in Congress, and have so far been successfully opposed by business and industry.

Full-size mattresses for double beds provide each of the two occupants no more sleeping width than a crib mattress, according to William P. Daley, of B. F. Goodrich General Products Co. As a result, three of the wider "queen-size" mattresses are being sold for every four of the conventional units, he said, adding that there is a trend also toward latex foam as a mattress core.

Clock Stoppers!

In these busy, hectic times, it's difficult, more often than not, to coordinate the schedules of family members and friends.

Sad though it may be, it's true that few families are together at mealtime anymore, except perhaps on weekends or special occasions.

When entertaining, one has to allow for the guests who get caught in heavy traffic, the professional man who has to work late or the guests who, for no stated reason, call to say they will have to be a little late.

With clever menu planning, tardy guests needn't ruin the dinner. Today's buffet menu will wait. Just pour some more Partytime Punch. It's made with instant tea, so you can quickly stir up another pitcherful if need be.

If everyone in the family wants to eat breakfast at a different time, you can take that situation in stride, too — and without spending the morning as a short-order cook. No one will tire of the Quick Basic Breakfast menu. There are countless possible variations on the fruit and cheese theme, and the Honey-Almond Wheat Bread is so delicious that you can serve it frequently.

HONEY-ALMOND WHEAT BREAD

1 cup whole natural (unblanched) almonds	2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 cakes (6 oz. each) compressed yeast	1/2 cup buttermilk
1 cup warm water (80 to 85 degrees)	2 cups whole wheat flour, unsifted
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)	2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, unsifted
1/2 cup honey	Brown Sugar Filling
2 eggs, beaten	1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 teaspoon salt

Chop almonds. Crumble yeast into warm water and stir until dissolved. Stir in brown sugar and honey. Stir in eggs, salt, melted butter, orange rind and buttermilk. Mix flours with all but 2 tablespoons almonds; stir into liquid mixture. Let this very soft dough rest for 10 minutes. Scrape dough onto board or pastry cloth dusted with about 1/2 cup additional all-purpose flour; knead about 5 minutes, working in flour on board, until dough is elastic but still soft and tender. Place dough in greased bowl, cover bowl with saran and let rise in warm place about 2 1/2 hours or until doubled in bulk. (A turned-off oven with light on is a good place.)

Turn dough onto floured board again; gently pat into 12x10-inch rectangle. Sprinkle Brown Sugar Filling over dough and roll up from 10-inch side. Fold two ends under to make a ball-shaped loaf and place on greased baking sheet. Brush with some melted butter. Fold a 36-inch piece of foil to make a 2-inch wide strip 36 inches long. Fasten strip with paper clips to ring and set ring around dough. Cover dough loosely with saran and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Sprinkle loaf with remaining chopped almonds and some additional brown sugar if you like. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until golden brown. Makes one (3 1/2 lb.) loaf. Cut into halves or quarters and freeze separately if you wish.

Brown Sugar Filling: Mix 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed) with 1 tablespoon cinnamon and 2 tablespoons wheat germ.

CABBAGE STRATA

3 cups finely shredded cabbage	1 cup grated Swiss cheese
1/4 cup mayonnaise	2 eggs
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento	1/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon instant minced onion	1/2 cup white dinner wine or milk
1 teaspoon prepared yellow mustard	1 teaspoon salt
5 slices soft white bread, buttered	1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup grated Monterey Jack cheese

Well ahead of time, cover cabbage with water in saucepan, bring to a boil; drain. Combine with mayonnaise, pimiento, onion and mustard. Cut bread slices into quarters; make layers of bread, cabbage mixture and cheeses in 1 1/2 to 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle top with cheeses; cover with saran; chill. Beat eggs with milk, wine, salt and pepper and refrigerate in large jar with tight lid. 30 to 45 minutes before serving, shake jar to mix contents well and pour over casserole; bake at 375 degrees about 30 minutes or until mixture is puffed and browned. Serve fairly soon or hold in warm oven. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Double recipe if you wish.

APRICOT-GLAZED HAM

When purchasing bone-in ham, allow 1/2 to 1 lb. per serving. Place bone-in half ham cut-side down on rack in roasting pan; bake at 325 degrees until meat thermometer inserted centrally registers 160 degrees. For 6 to 8 lbs., allow 3 to 3 1/2 hours.

To make glaze, combine about 1/4 cup syrup from a can (1 lb.) of apricot halves, 1/2 cup apricots and 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed) in electric blender; puree. In saucepan, boil gently 5 minutes.

About 1/2 hour before ham is done, remove from oven and cut off any rind. Score fatty surface in diamond pattern and spoon or brush on some apricot glaze. Return to oven and finish baking, brushing with more glaze 2 or 3 times. Cool slightly, then chill. Serve on platter garnished with parsley and apricot halves.

ORANGE-ALMOND CAKE

Butter or margarine	1 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 to 1 cup sliced natural (unblanched) almonds	1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 packages (1 lb. 2 1/2 oz. or 1 lb. 3 oz. each) yellow cake mix	1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
	1/2 cup sugar

Generously coat a 10x4-inch tube pan with butter. Press almonds into butter to coat bottom and sides of pan; refrigerate. Prepare cake mix as package directs, adding almond extract. Pour batter into almond-coated pan to within 2 inches from top. (With some mixes you may have up to 1 1/2 cups remaining batter; use for cupcakes). Bake cake at 350 degrees about 1 1/4 hours; cool 10 minutes, then remove from pan and cool thoroughly.

For topping, blend cornstarch into a small amount of orange concentrate in saucepan; stir in remaining orange concentrate and cook, stirring constantly over medium-low heat, until sauce comes to boil and becomes thick. Stir in sugar until melted. Spoon over cake. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

PARTYTIME PUNCH

2 tablespoons instant tea
2 tablespoons sugar
1 bottle (1 qt.) apple juice
1 bottle (5 lb.) dry white wine
2 teaspoons aromatic bitters

Put instant tea and sugar in a 2-quart pitcher. Add apple juice, wine and bitters. Stir well. Add ice cubes. Garnish with bamboo skewers threaded with apple and lime wedges and maraschino cherries. Makes 8 servings.

Louisiana yam dinner

Sunday supper main dish

There's nothing more inviting on a cold and dreary winter day than a hearty supper that cheers the spirits as well as the appetite. Here are two new recipes that team two old favorites — Louisiana yams and ham — for your family to enjoy often during the winter supper season.

Try Applesauce Stuffed Louisiana Yams served with ham, Brussels sprouts, a green salad and milk. The combination is sure to please and there's no better time than now to have baked yams. The yams we find in the stores now are the special "cured" yams — those which have been stored under controlled conditions to improve baking quality and home-storage life.

A main-course idea in which the yams cook right along with the ham is Louisiana Yam Sunday Supper. The yams are mashed and placed in orange shells, then broiled with a ham slice. As the name suggests, the recipe is ideal for Sunday supper when company's coming, but it's also simple enough for any week-night meal.

APPLESAUCE STUFFEDLOUISIANA YAMS

6 medium Louisiana yams
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon aromatic bitters
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash cinnamon
1 cup applesauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Bake yams in 400 degree oven 15 minutes; reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake 45 minutes longer or until tender. Sift yams lengthwise; scoop out and mash inside, leaving 1/4-inch shells. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Fill shells with mixture. Return to oven about 10 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serve with baked ham. Makes 6 servings.

LOUISIANA YAM SUNDAY DINNER

4 medium oranges
4 medium Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and mashed or 2 cans (16 ounces each) Louisiana yams, drained and mashed 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened

1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash nutmeg
1 cooked ham slice,
1-inch thick (about
1 1/2 pounds)
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon orange juice

Cut oranges in half; scoop out pulp and chop. Combine mashed yams, chopped orange pulp, butter, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, salt and nutmeg. Mix until thoroughly blended. Pile orange-yam mixture into orange shells. Place on broiler rack with ham slice. Combine 2 tablespoons brown sugar and 1 tablespoon orange juice; mix well. Spread on ham. Broil 4 inches from source of heat 5-8 minutes, or until ham and yams are heated through. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Main dish salad opens door to Chinese cookery

If you haven't done it before, now is the time to explore the new trend to oriental styles in food, as well as fashion. In your own home. Discover just how much a little foray into the realm of Far Eastern cuisine, can add a lift to day-to-day living.

It's no wonder that Chinese cookery is rapidly becoming an important part of the American table. It's healthful, and it's one of the most appealing to those who are knowledgeable about fine food, as well as those who are not. The foods used may be the humblest. Even leftovers. But they are enhanced with an imaginative blending of textures and seasonings to make each dish as attractive to the eye, as it is to the taste buds.

A case in point is this appetizing, new main-dish Chinese salad, made with canned tuna, that you can whip up in minutes. It goes like this: Shred some lettuce; chop up scallions and parsley and spoon on top chunks of tuna. Toss these ingredients with a lemony soy sauce dressing and, finally, sprinkle with crunchy sesame seeds, almonds and chow mein noodles to give a toothsome texture contrast to the tuna and vegetables.

TUNA CHINESE SALAD

2 cans (8 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
2 cups coarsely shredded lettuce
1/4 cup chopped scallions
1/4 cup chopped parsley or watercress
1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup salad oil
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1/4 teaspoon ground coriander
1/4 cup sesame seeds
1/4 cup slivered almonds
1 can (3 ounces) chow mein noodles

Place chunks of tuna, lettuce, scallions and parsley in large bowl; chill. Mix lemon rind, lemon juice, oil, soy sauce and coriander; pour over tuna mixture. Sprinkle salad with sesame seeds, almonds and chow mein noodles; toss and serve immediately. Yield: 4 servings.

SECRET OF REAL GUMBO is the file power, pronounced fil-hay. Made from the dried young leaves of sassafras, then pounded and strained, file has a delicate flavor and adds a glutinous quality to the stew.

Basic gumbo is made of chicken, ham and oysters, but seafood is often substituted for chicken. Most constant ingredient is lean ham which adds fine flavor. In New Orleans, Corinne Dunbar's serves Gumbo File with shrimp and oysters; Antoine's recipe leans heavily on crabmeat with shrimp; Commander's Palace serves a seafood Gumbo with crab, shrimp and oysters.

SHOULD YOU want to try this at home here is my variation of Glenwood Plantation Gumbo which is not as difficult as some others to prepare. Peel and chop 2 onions fine. Peel 6 ripe tomatoes and chop, saving juice (or use canned tomatoes and juice). Chop 1 pod red pepper, 1 sprig parsley, and 1 sprig thyme (1/3 teaspoon powdered thyme). Wash, stem and slice 1 pint fresh okra (or 1 package frozen).

Cut a 1-pound slice of ham into squares, removing fat. In a large soup pot melt 1 tablespoon lard. Add chopped onions, ham and okra. Cook until all are well browned.

Add tomatoes and juice and cook until tender. Now add 2 dozen oysters (1 pint shucked) with juice which has been strained, 1 pound lump crabmeat cut in small pieces, and 1 pound shrimp peeled and deveined. Add red pepper, parsley, thyme and 1 bay leaf.

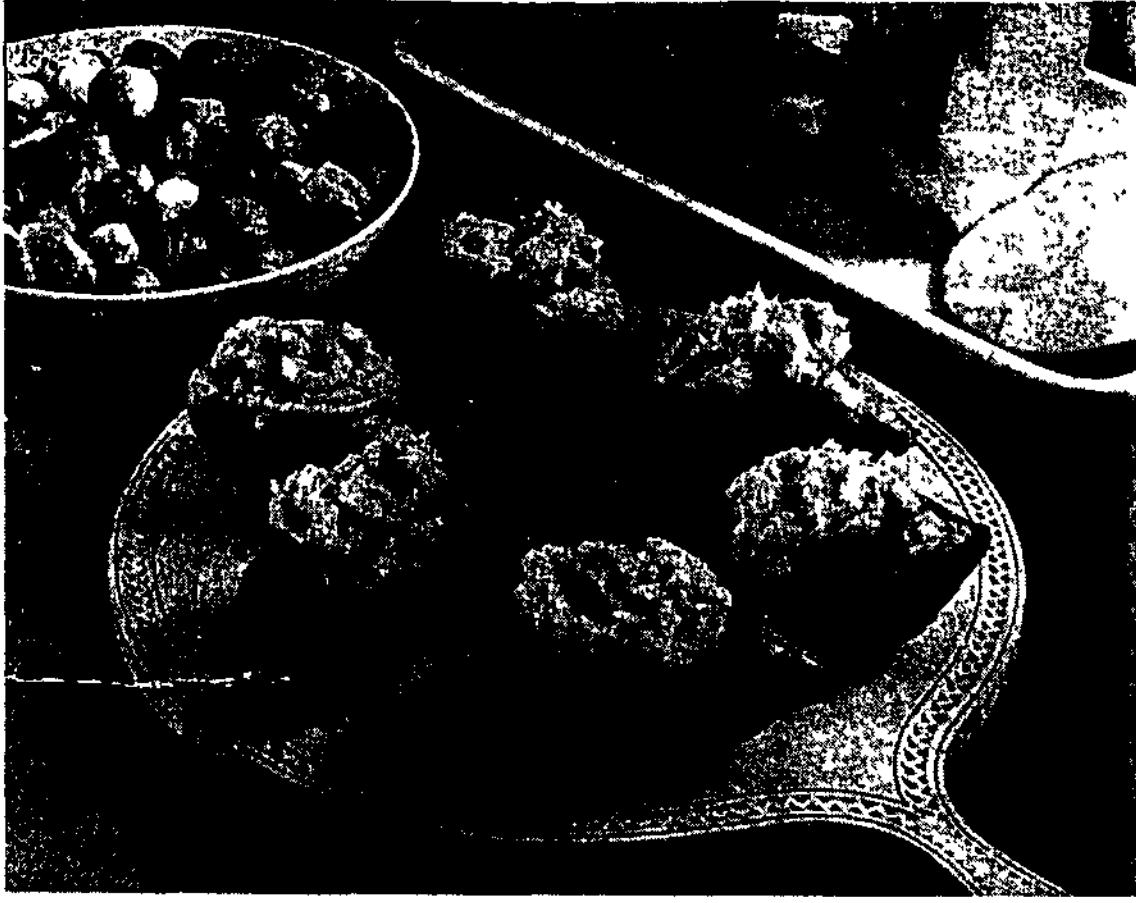

When gumbo is well blended and ingredients are well heated, add 3 quarts water and simmer for 1 hour or longer. Season to taste with salt and pepper and serve over cooked rice. Lots for 8 and enough for 10.

Applesauce Stuffed Louisiana Yams

Mushroom-based appetizers replace onion dip-and-potato chip routine

Those who entertain often or very little face the same dilemma: What to serve as appetizers that are different and hopefully low in calories? Some suggestions to vary the packaged onion dip-and-potato chip routine use mushrooms as a base.

MARINATED MUSHROOMS
1/2 cup low-calorie Italian dressing
1/4 teaspoon each, dried leaf tarragon, thyme and dill

weed
1/2 teaspoon snipped chives
1 can (6 or 8 ounces)
mushroom crowns, drained

Combine dressing with seasonings.
Pour over drained mushroom crowns in small bowl; marinate in refrigerator 4 hours or overnight. Serve chilled with crackers.

MUSHROOM APPETIZER PIE
Pastry for 1 double crust

9-inch pie
1/2 pound sliced bacon, cooked and crumbled
1 tablespoon freeze-dried or frozen snipped chives
2 cans (6 or 8 ounces each) sliced mushrooms, drained
4 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Roll all pastry to fit 12-inch pizza pan.
Sprinkle bacon and chives over crust.
Arrange drained mushroom slices in overlapping spiral pattern from center of crust to outer edge. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour over mushrooms; bake in 375-degree oven 35 to 40 minutes or until knife inserted 1-inch from edge comes out clean. Makes 16 servings.

MOLDED MUSHROOM PATE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup water
1 can (6 or 8 ounces)
chopped mushrooms

2 cups sour cream
1 hard-cooked egg, finely chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed
1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon freeze-dried
or frozen snipped chives

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in saucepans. Place over low heat, stirring constantly until gelatin dissolves, about 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in remaining ingredients. Turn into 3-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold to serve; garnish with pimento, parsley and Spanish olives. Serve with melba rounds, crackers.

MAGICAL MUSHROOM DIP

2 tablespoons each, salad oil, brandy and lemon juice
1 can (6 or 8 ounces)
chopped mushrooms, drained

1 medium onion, cut into small pieces
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

1 cup sour cream

Combine salad oil, brandy and lemon juice in skillet. Sauté mushrooms and onion with salt and pepper 5 minutes. Remove from heat; chill thoroughly. Just before serving, combine mushroom-onion mixture with sour cream in blender container. Blend on high speed until thoroughly blended and smooth. Turn into serving bowl and garnish with parsley.
Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Mostly For Men

by Charles Flynn

Gumbo is an original Creole conception and whenever you're in New Orleans or elsewhere in the bayou country, you'll find it interesting to try the many varieties offered on the menu of virtually every restaurant.

Basic gumbo is made of chicken, ham and oysters, but seafood is often substituted for chicken. Most constant ingredient is lean ham which adds fine flavor.
In New Orleans, Corinne Dunbar's serves Gumbo File with shrimp and oysters; Antoine's recipe leans heavily on crabmeat with shrimp; Commander's Palace serves a seafood Gumbo with crab, shrimp and oysters.

Secret of real Gumbo is the file power, pronounced fil-hay. Made from the dried young leaves of sassafras, then pounded and strained, file has a delicate flavor and adds a glutinous quality to the stew.

SHOULD YOU want to try this at home here is my variation of Glenwood Plantation Gumbo which is not as difficult as some others to prepare. Peel and chop 2 onions fine. Peel 6 ripe tomatoes and chop, saving juice (or use canned tomatoes and juice). Chop 1 pod red pepper, 1 sprig parsley, and 1 sprig thyme (1/3 teaspoon powdered thyme). Wash, stem and slice 1 pint fresh okra (or 1 package frozen).

Cut a 1-pound slice of ham into squares, removing fat. In a large soup pot melt 1 tablespoon lard. Add chopped onions, ham and okra. Cook until all are well browned.

Add tomatoes and juice and cook until tender. Now add 2 dozen oysters (1 pint shucked) with juice which has been strained, 1 pound lump crabmeat cut in small pieces, and 1 pound shrimp peeled and deveined. Add red pepper, parsley, thyme and 1 bay leaf.

When gumbo is well blended and ingredients are well heated, add 3 quarts water and simmer for 1 hour or longer.
Season to taste with salt and pepper and serve over cooked rice. Lots for 8 and enough for 10.

Mrs. Robert Daugherty

Her party fare is elegant

by LOIS SEILER

When Diane Daugherty of Des Plaines gives a dinner party, it is certain to be extra-special.

"I never feel a party is successful unless I've over-extended myself," Diane explained. It's her nature to be a perfectionist, and although her favorite dishes are time-consuming, advance preparation makes entertaining relatively easy.

Diane loves to cook, and her husband, Bob, encourages her to try all types of ethnic dishes. "We both like good food," Diane chuckled. "so that's an incentive." She seldom follows a recipe exactly, but improvises as she goes along, adding various ingredients to suit her taste.

Her Rolled Chicken Washington is elegant fare for a dinner party. It is made from skinned, boneless chicken breasts pounded into cutlets and rolled up around cheese sticks. The rolls are coated with flour, egg and bread crumbs. This much can be done a day ahead.

About an hour before guests arrive, Diane fries the rolls in deep fat. Then they are popped into the oven for a half hour before serving and served on a warm platter trimmed with spiced grapes.

Although the chicken rolls themselves are a delicacy, tender and flavored nicely from the cheese mixture tucked inside, Diane claims that it is the accompaniments, such as the grapes and an appealing rice casserole, that really makes this dinner.

The grapes can be prepared one to three days in advance. Small bunches of green grapes are marinated in a spicy mixture of sugar, vinegar, cloves, allspice and cinnamon until serving time. They look festive on the chicken platter, and taste delicious.

The butter baked rice can be made ahead, even the night before, yet is always fluffy and tender. It is soaked in boiling water first, sauteed in butter and then baked in chicken broth well-seasoned with garlic salt. The addition of parsley and almonds add texture and flavor interest.

Diane usually serves a green vegetable such as broccoli or French-style green beans and dinner rolls with this meal. For dessert she suggests Champagne Ice and a finger-type cookie such as Chinese Chews.

The Chews are little bar cookies, indigenous to Charleston, S.C., Diane's hometown. "I thought it was an original Southern recipe, as they are served so often in Charleston at bridge parties and teas," Diane said. "However, I've seen them packaged commercially up here, although they don't taste anything like the homemade variety," she said.

Included among the ingredients are a pound of brown sugar and a cup of chopped nuts, giving the cookies a flavor somewhat similar to that of a pecan pie.

"Some people have mistakenly thought there were dates in the Chinese Chews," Diane said. They are moist in texture, yet firm and chewy. Although appealing to adults, they also make a big hit with the Daughertys' children, Karen, 11, Robin, 9, Robert Jr., 8, and Michael, 5.

ROLLED CHICKEN WASHINGTON

1/2 cup finely-chopped fresh mushrooms, or 1 3-ounce jar mushrooms, chopped
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup light cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cups shredded sharp cheese
6 or 7 skinned, boned, whole chicken breasts
Flour
2 slightly-beaten eggs
1/4 cup dried bread crumbs

To make the cheese filling, saute mushrooms in butter about five minutes. Blend in flour; stir in cream. Add salt. Cook and stir until mixture becomes very thick. Stir in cheese. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly, until cheese melts.

Turn mixture into pie plate. Cover and chill thoroughly, about one hour. Cut firm cheese mixture into 6 or 7 equal portions and shape into short sticks.

To make cutlets, place each piece of chicken (the side where the bone is attached, up) between two pieces of plastic wrap. Overlap meat where the chicken breast is split. Working from center, pound with a wooden mallet to form cutlets about 1/4-inch thick. Sprinkle meat with salt.

Place cheese stick on each chicken breast. Tucking in the sides, roll chicken up as for jelly roll. Press to seal well. Dust chicken rolls with flour; dip into egg, then roll in bread crumbs. Cover and chill chicken rolls thoroughly, at least one hour or overnight.

About one hour before serving, fry in deep fat, 370 degrees, for five minutes or until crisp and brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Place in a shallow baking dish and bake at 325 degrees about 30 to 45 minutes, uncovered. Serve on warm platter trimmed with spiced grapes. Serves 6 to 7.

SPICED GRAPES

1 small bunch seedless green grapes
5 whole cloves
5 whole allspice
1 2-inch cinnamon stick
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup white vinegar

Select firm, not over-ripe grapes. Leave on stem and snip into small clusters. Wash and drain them. Lightly pack grapes and spices into a clean pint jar, being careful not to bruise the fruit.

In a saucepan, combine sugar and vinegar. Heat, stirring until sugar dissolves, boiling five minutes. Pour hot BROWN SUGAR AND chopped nuts give Chinese Chews a flavor somewhat similar to that of pecan pie. Mrs. Robert Daugherty makes the bar cookies from an original Southern recipe she obtained in her hometown, Charleston, S. C. She spreads powdered sugar over the warm cookies when they come from the oven.

Aluminum cookware

Hand soap and warm water may be used on all aluminum finishes as required, but the stronger cleaners must be chosen with care.

Follow manufacturer's directions when cleaning aluminum. Cleaners should not be slopped on or mixed or heated. If you don't follow directions you may seriously damage the aluminum finish.

Watch the drips when cleaning an aluminum surface. Cleaners which are harmful to aluminum may damage other material on contact. In some cases, cleaners tolerated by some materials will dissolve aluminum surfaces.

Avoid temperature extremes when cleaning aluminum. Cleaners work poorly when cold and too aggressively when hot. As a general rule, if you are comfortable, the cleaner will be at the right temperature. Avoid cleaning aluminum that is too hot to touch or when the temperature is below 30 degrees.

Monroe Duncan adds personality to Arlington Park dining rooms

by FRAN HECKART

Dynamic Monroe T. Duncan is beginning to have a noticeable effect on dining facilities at Arlington Park Towers Hotel.

From the Carousel, an all-American coffee shop on the first floor, to the Top of the Towers Penthouse restaurant, there's an unmistakable air of efficiency and spirit.

About six months ago Duncan became maître d'hôtel of the complex. With the position comes full responsibility for all food services in the hotel: menu planning and writing, training bus boys, waiters and waitresses, handling customer relations and communication with all food service personnel.

Table side preparations in the Top of the Towers formal dining room are one of Duncan's more impressive charges. Diners are likely to remember him as the arrogant young man creating a splendid Caesar's salad or a spectacular flaming dessert.

Under Duncan's direction menus of the Horseshoe Club, a private luncheon club, have been rewritten.

There is more than one way to describe a hamburger — the ground beef way and Duncan's way. It becomes minced beef on a seed cake for the latter. Instead of the more ordinary entries Duncan has initiated a style which exemplifies his creativity and passion for food.

"A GLASS OF ale, hunk of cheese, sauced onions and a loaf of bread" is the appealing description for Ploughman's Lunch on the Horseshoe Club menu.

Carbonated soft drinks become "effervescent beverages" with Duncan's touch.

During dinner hours the Horseshoe becomes an open dining room known as the Celebrity Room. However, its present atmosphere may be short lived for Duncan has plans to change that, too.

Already the horse paintings have been replaced by more tasteful prints of English artist A. V. Beardsley. And future plans include a thoroughly English endeavor.

The Helen Hayes entree will yield to Puck as the menu becomes a rendition of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." Duncan has plans to create a culinary parody using characters from the play.

Elizabethan costumes for the waitresses would also follow the English motif.

Duncan's true talents lie with the additions slated for the Top of the Towers. He hopes to include a "gourmet extravaganza" section to the menu to feature his specialties.

ENTRECOTE A LA RUSSE, steak fillet flamed with vodka and a variety of seasonings, and Crevettes de savoie a la Seay will be two of the maître d'hôtel offerings.

The latter, a combination of shrimp, mushrooms, garlic, butter and Parmesan cheese served atop croutons, is Duncan's own creation. The dish is named for one of the most influential chefs in Duncan's career, Tommy Seay.

Duncan's career began informally when he worked part-time during college as a bus boy in various restaurants. Although he graduated in English, Duncan found restaurant work more intriguing.

Originally from Virginia, Duncan has traveled from Maryland, New York, Florida and Ohio working his way to the top of the restaurant business.

Working with various French chefs along the way proved to be excellent experience for the man, who by his early 30s, became maître d'hôtel from bus boy beginnings.

"Cooking is a form of pure art — a science," commented Duncan. He also feels that men for exceed women as cooks for they are more exacting and he has little to say about the homemaker's queen of French cooking, Julia Child.

"THERE IS NO substituting in true gourmet dishes," he said. His general advice: if a recipe calls for truffles — find them.

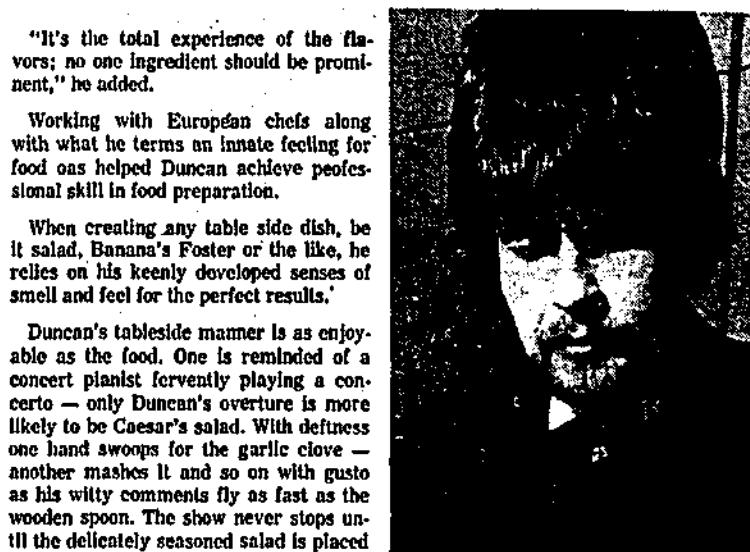

There are many variations of recipes, but the classic ones will remain just that, said Duncan. The classic dishes demand precision in preparation.

A subtle blending of flavors is what makes a dish excellent, according to Duncan.

LIBERAL SPLASHES of light rum and banana liqueur burst into blue flames. An expeditious flick of the wrist is all it takes Duncan to ignite the liquors by catching a flame from the burner below. This action can be accomplished with a gas range or a chafing dish but a match is necessary if using an electric source of heat. It's best to warm the liquors slightly if using matches to set the bananas on fire.

WITH SPEEDY EXPERTISE Duncan gives the sizzling bananas a generous sprinkling of brown sugar. Chopped pecans and cinnamon sticks are added as the brown sugar, butter and banana mixture continues to cook. He keeps basting the bananas until the sugar melts and turns a deeper shade of brown.

Seafoods break breakfast barrier

Do you rush off to work or send the kids off to school with a zero mark in nutrition? Then it's time to revise your thinking. For a running start on a successful day — break the breakfast barrier! Make every day a "better breakfast" day at your house by serving quickly prepared and cooked seafoods. Appetites will perk up, and you and your family will have energy to last throughout the morning. Versatile fish and shellfish are so tender that cooking time is minimal, and their delicate, distinctive flavor is just right to please early morning tastes.

Especialy appropriate for the hurried homemaker is the wide variety of convenience seafoods such as canned salmon. Try a Salmon-Sausage Bake for a real stick-to-the-rib breakfast entree that will keep your family going strong for hours. In this recipe the salmon is combined with cooked pork sausage in a thickened sauce blended with eggs and topped with buttery cornflake crumbs. The salmon-sausage entree is baked until heated through, about 20 to 25 minutes, and your hearty seafood breakfast is ready to enjoy.

Fish and shellfish are great to eat alone or combined with other foods in a myriad of satisfying breakfast, brunch or dinner entrees. Top O' The Mornin' With Fish And Shellfish (149.30.15), Test Kitchen Series No. 15, specializes in seafood recipes for breakfast or brunch. This full-color booklet has 21 taste-tempting recipes to help your family break the breakfast barrier. SALMON-SAUSAGE BAKE

- 1 can (1 pound) salmon
- 1/2 pound pork sausage meat
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon chopped chives
- 1/4 cup fine cornflake crumbs
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted

Drain and flake salmon. Break sausage into small pieces and fry over moderate heat until crumbly, stirring often. Blend in flour and salt. Add milk; cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Pour in fine stream over eggs, mixing well. Mix in salmon, lemon juice, and chives. Spoon into 4 lightly buttered 10-ounce baking dishes. Combine crumbs and butter or margarine; mix well. Sprinkle around edges of casseroles. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 20 to 25 minutes or until heated. Makes 4 servings.

Popular peppermint

It may not be among your favorite flavors, but there is a good chance you are getting a daily taste of peppermint.

Besides peppermint sticks, peppermint is widely used for flavoring mouthwashes, toothpastes, cough drops, chewing gum for masking the unpleasant taste and odor of numerous medicinal products.

The basic procedure involves sautéing bananas in butter, adding brown sugar, chopped pecans and cinnamon sticks.

Light rum (the dark is heavier and makes a nauseating color) and banana liqueur are added, flamed and served over banana or cinnamon flavored ice cream.

It sounds elegant and easy, but for us casserole cooks there are a few more details from the instructor.

This is a speedy operation so all of the ingredients should be assembled first. It could be dangerous running back to the kitchen for cinnamon sticks at a crucial moment.

Melt the butter in a skillet, chafing dish or similar utensil. Add the bananas, allowing one per person, which have been sliced lengthwise and cut in half. Duncan suggests leaving the peeling on to capture the flavor of the oils they contain. However, they should be removed with two forks after a couple of minutes.

AS THE BANANAS become tender, add brown sugar, cinnamon sticks and pecans. This should be cooked until the sugar melts.

Pour rum and banana liqueur over this and ignite. If using a gas stove, simply slide the pan back and catch the flame. If using an electric unit or chafing dish, make one dramatic pass with a kitchen match.

When the alcohol has burned away pour the mixture over the ice cream.

A flaming dessert is one of the most impressive things a hostess or host can perform, but the amounts and mechanics take a bit of practice.

WHEN THE FLAME goes out the bananas are served over cinnamon or banana ice cream. Although Duncan can prepare the Elegant banana's Foster in a matter of minutes with just the right amount of showmanship, any attempt at home is sure to provide an impressive finale. However, those counting calories would do well to forget about this yummy dessert — at home or the Top of the Towers penthouse restaurant.

by Fran Heckart

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has postponed until Aug. 19 the deadline by which meat processors must convert to new bacon packaging and cured meat labeling required by regulations issued last year.

Basically, the regulations provide that bacon packages have a "window" which must show the surface of a representative slice of bacon, and that bacon and other cured meat products such as hams and shoulders shall be labeled to show what ingredients were used in the curing process.

A few processors have already begun using the new packages, and more are expected to do so as machinery and packaging materials become available, according to official of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS).

The deadline — originally slated for last Monday — was postponed to avoid potential increases in consumer prices. If meat processors cannot obtain sufficient quantities of the required new packages on time, a market shortage of these products will occur.

Label and packaging manufacturer have indicated that they cannot meet the demand for the large number of new labels and packages which the meat processors would have needed by the initial deadline.

BACON COMES IN many forms, the best known, undoubtedly, is the cured, smoked bacon slices, available in $\frac{1}{4}$, 1-, and 2-pound packages.

As a matter of interest, bacon must be fat to be good — "the leaner, the better" is a fallacy. When cooked properly, a lot of the excess fat can be eliminated so it's best to select bacon on the fat side.

All sliced bacon can be used interchangeably. It's simply a matter of which kind you prefer. Over and above the standard sliced, the following finds are available.

Wafer-thin or thin-sliced bacon; more slices to a pound than in the more familiar sliced bacon, packaged in 8, 12, and 16 ounces. Thick-sliced bacon has fewer slices to a pound and is available in $\frac{1}{4}$ - and 2-pound packages. Cooking time should be increased a few minutes when using the thick-sliced variety.

Pre-fried or precooked bacon requires heating for 1 to 3 minutes and is available packed and canned. The packages contain 5 to 6 ounces (18 to 20 slices); and the canned about 7 ounces; which is the equivalent of 1 pound of uncooked bacon. The packaged requires refrigeration.

Slab bacon is sold by the pound, with the rind on, for home slicing. It keeps better than sliced bacon which is one of its major advantages. It is not, as too many people think, more flavorful than sliced; it's the same bacon only you do the slicing.

There is no best way to cook bacon so any one of the three following methods will produce excellent results.

TO PAN-FRY bacon place the slices, unseparated, right from the refrigerator, in a cold skillet. Turn heat to low. (As the bacon gets warm, the slices will separate.) Cook, turning strips frequently, until evenly brown. Do not allow the fat to get hot enough to smoke. Drain on absorbent paper.

The bake-method has several advantages. When prepared this way, the bacon does not need to be turned, most of the fat drains away and it does not need your individual attention.

Simply place separate slices on a rack in a shallow pan and place in a pre-heated 425-450-degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes or until nicely brown. Adjust the cooking time according to the thickness of the slices.

To broil place separated slices on broiling rack. Broil in a preheated broiler about 3 inches from the heat unit; turn just once to cook and brown evenly. The broiling temperature should be low and the approximate cooking time is 12 to 15 minutes.

Create a ham meal in minutes

Here's a company or family meal that can be ready to serve in just 20 minutes. What's more, it's so attractive and savory, your guests will never guess how quickly and easily it was prepared.

A Tropical Ham Slice is distinguished by a sweet-tart glaze made with apricot preserves, mustard and port wine. It takes just five minutes to stir the glaze together and spread it on the ham; just ten minutes under the broiler and it's done.

Saucy Herb Rice — a combination of pre-cooked rice and an envelope of sour cream sauce mix — is a delicious complement to the ham. Combine the ingredients while the ham is broiling and it will be finished at the same time.

Begin the meal with cranberry juice cocktail and accompany the ham with crusty French bread and a salad of pickled beets and lettuce wedges and for dessert, orange sherbert topped with crushed pineapple and a sprinkling of ground ginger. This 20 minute meal is not only good looking and tasting, it's also balanced to provide servings from each basic food group.

TROPICAL GRILLED HAM

1 ham slice
1/4 cup prepared yellow mustard
2 tablespoons apricot preserves
2 tablespoons port wine
2 bananas, peeled and quartered

Place ham slice on broiler pan. Stir together mustard, preserves and wine until well blended. Spoon or brush generously over ham. Broil 3 to 4-inches from heat for 5 minutes; turn. Arrange bananas around ham; spoon remaining mustard mixture over ham and bananas. Return to oven and broil about 5 minutes longer, until lightly browned. 4 servings.

Note: If preferred, omit wine and increase preserves to $\frac{1}{4}$ cup.

SAUCY HERB RICE

2 1/4 cups water
1/2 cup milk
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon herb seasoning
2 1/4 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1 envelope (1/4-oz.) sour cream sauce mix
Paprika

Combine water, milk, salt and herb seasoning in saucepan; bring to a boil. Remove from heat. Stir in rice and sauce mix with a fork. Cover; let stand 10 minutes, until liquid is absorbed. Stir lightly with a fork. Sprinkle with paprika. 6 servings.

Has Your Mirror Become An Enemy?

There comes a time when you confront a certain truth in your mirror. Your complexion is growing drier and older-looking. And you hate your mirror for being so honest.

Your reflection shows the need for a smoother, softer, silkier-looking complexion if you are to look younger. The dryness that accents aging lines and wrinkles must be eased away so your complexion can appear its most vital and radiant.

Now discover the secret shared by youthful-looking women in many countries around the world. This lovely secret is an unusual beauty blend, known in the United States as Oil of Olay moisturizing lotion.

Remarkable Oil of Olay works with nature to maintain your skin's oil-moisture balance, needed for the youngest complexion attainable. It helps retain your skin's own moisture, especially important as years pass. Wrinkle-accenting dryness is soothed away. With regular use, you soon notice important differences in the look of your skin.

Oil of Olay® twice a day. At drugstores everywhere. You will be surprised how quickly you may again regard your mirror as a friend.

Muffins with meat and cherry sauce make 'quickie' meal

Upon occasion winter weather can ground a woman since high winds and precipitation may suggest postponement of a shopping trip. Dinner need not be a disaster when the kitchen cupboard is well stocked to meet such an emergency. Canned meats, combined with other staples, can come to the aid of a stranded cook. For a tasty dinner from the cupboard shelf, mash canned luncheon meat and make into delicious meat muffins.

Add a cherry sauce topping to complete the entree in flavorful fashion.

CHERRY MEAT MUFFINS

2 cans (12 ounces each) luncheon meat
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 can (21 ounces) cherry pie filling

Mash the luncheon meat with a fork and combine with bread crumbs, eggs, brown sugar and mustard. Mix thoroughly and place equal amounts of the mixture into 8 to 12 greased muffin pans, filling 2/3 to ¾ full. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve with hot cherry pie filling as sauce. 6 to 8 servings.

Village zoning OK for business 'not a precedent'

by JOE FRANZ

Buffalo Grove officials said the decision by the village board Monday to grant rezoning of a 1.07-acre tract from residential to business will not set a precedent.

The board's action overruled the village plan commission and the newly adopted village master plan which called for residential use of the land.

Stan Lieberman, of Stan Lieberman Realty, Inc., 150 W. Dundee Rd., requested the zoning change so he could move his realty office there. His present office is no longer adequate due to expansion, he said.

The land is located on the north side of Dundee Road west of Golfview Terrace. The board unanimously approved the change to business use with several restrictions.

BOARD MEMBER Thomas Mahoney said he did not think the decision by the board Monday night to grant the zoning change would set a precedent for unlimited commercial development of Dundee Road in the future.

Plan commission chairman Carl Gernich agreed, saying the master plan was merely a guide and did not have to be rigidly adhered to.

"THE PLAN won't be effectuated 100 per cent as it is — there will have to be some bending because we can't tell developers what to do. Hopefully, we can get them to bend to," Gernich said.

The rezoning was granted on the conditions that Lieberman would not build a restaurant on the site. His final plans for the project will also be subject to review by the village appearance commission.

"We feel there is a serious need in the village for office space," Lieberman said. He said he wished to remain in Buffalo Grove, but at the present there was no office space available.

"We have no choice but to build if we are to remain in Buffalo Grove," he added.

THE MASTER PLAN, approved by the board Feb. 5 after 18 months of review, called for residential development at the location. The plan commission on Feb. 7 recommended that the village board reject the Lieberman petition for rezoning.

Lieberman plans to build a one-and two-story building for offices and specialty shops.

Lieberman told the board he had spoken with all adjacent land owners and they seemed pleased with the proposed project. He said the site would be "well landscaped" and attractive.

"We want Dundee Road to be an attractive front door for the village." I'm an inside developer as opposed to an outside developer and am interested in making the buildings an asset to the village," he added.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Culligan Water Conditioning Co., 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have determined that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause.

Builder's debt to park district to be discussed

Confusion surrounding a $25,000 debt owed the Buffalo Grove Park District by a local construction firm may be cleared up at tonight's board meeting.

Al Frank of Gregg Builders is expected to attend the meeting to discuss payment of the money pledged in 1971.

Frank promised to donate the $25,000 as part of an agreement with the village when it allowed construction of the Oak Creek Apartments, located west of the Ranch Mart shopping center on Dundee Road. The funds were intended for development of the park adjacent to Joyce Kilmer School.

At the time the agreement between Gregg and the village was negotiated, no escrow account was set up for the funds. The park district was left to collect the money, even though the park district is actually the third party beneficiary to the agreement.

So far, Gregg has paid only $3,000 of the debt. At the Feb. 5 meeting, the village board agreed not to approve a rezoning request by Gregg to allow recreation facilities next to Oak Creek until the dispute over the debt is settled.

Ken Rodeck, representing Gregg, said at that meeting there is no question about his firm's obligation, but that he wanted proof of work done at Kilmer before paying the debt in full.

Park Board Pres. William Kiddie has said the park district has disbursed nearly $36,000 or 82 per cent of the total cost of the Kilmer project, to date.

Village Pres. Gary Armstrong has directed Village Atty. Richard Itayan to verify the dispute has been worked out before the board acts on the zoning request.

In other business tonight, Wayne Barto, 801 Lehigh Ln., is to discuss plans for a park in the Mill Creek area.

Barto will speak to the board on behalf of a group of Mill Creek homeowners concerned about the development of the proposed park adjacent to Washington Irving School. The school, located just off Arlington Heights Road, south of Dundee Road, is expected to be completed by September.

$90,000 blaze in Mount Prospect

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pairitz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pairitz said. "The office machines were covered."

PAIRITZ SAID 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers,

Pairitz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived. The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being sprayed all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six communities that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 233-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-9390.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Pairitz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electronic controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hackmeister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culligan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Klees was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Druffel was burned on the face by a chemical.

The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire equipment and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect. Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, aided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

Educator Lola May to speak at Alcott

Educator Lola May will speak at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 26 at Louis May Alcott School, 530 Bernard Dr. in Buffalo Grove.

Motivation is the topic of Dr. May's address "Creating the Action that Counts."

Dr. May is the author of several math textbooks and has conducted information sessions on modern math for national television. She was also listed in Who's Who of American Women in 1969 and 1970.

Dr. May's lecture is sponsored by the Alcott PTA.

This Morning In Brief

The nation

The Justice Department has filed a civil antitrust suit against the 4,400-member National Association of Securities Dealers. Defendants include, among others, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith; Hornblower and Weeks; Bachs and Co.; and E. F. Hutton & Co.

The U.S. Supreme Court, ruling in a Virginia case, said states should be allowed greater variance from the one-man, one-vote rule in reapportioning their legislatures.

Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Ill., introduced in the House, an amendment to the U.S. Constitution that would bar abortions and euthanasia.

A rolling earthquake centered on the coast northwest of Los Angeles surged across Southern California yesterday.

smashing hundreds of windows, scattering merchandise, and injuring at least three persons. The jolt was the strongest since the San Fernando Valley tremor of Feb. 9, 1971.

A former Irish Republican Army member, Maria McGuire, said that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., helped IRA gunmen to enter the United States to raise funds for the fighting in Northern Ireland.

The state

Voting was reported "heavy" yesterday as unions representing 11,000 employees of the Chicago Transit Authority balloted on whether to strike. The CTA said it would shut down if there were such a strike.

The conviction of former Gov. Otto Kerner and former State Revenue Director Theodore Isaacs may have paved the way for prosecution of other Illinois politicians who acquired race track stock under similar circumstances.

The world

Israeli warplanes shot down a Libyan Boeing 727 airliner, killing 74 of the 83 persons aboard after it strayed over the occupied Sinai Peninsula and refused orders to land. Egypt called it "an act of mass murder" and threatened Arab retaliation.

A British sentry was killed with a single shot from a sniper in West Belfast while he guarded a group of workers. He was the third soldier killed in just over 12 hours.

The "Black December" group that invaded the Indian High Commission building in London, has vowed more such attacks.

The war

The Viet Cong charged that South Vietnamese aircraft raided a Communist-held airfield near the Cambodian border, causing "many deaths." The Saigon command denied the charge... In Laos, the Laotian government and Communist officials hoped their new peace agreement would endure.

The stock market retreated as investors took to the sidelines following news of trouble in the Middle East. Analysts said the decline reflected deeper investor concern than just "a reaction to the news." Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was only moderate, however. The widely followed Dow Jones industrial average, up about 2 points earlier, closed with a 9.25 loss at 974.34.

Restaurant ban ordered by city council officials

The Des Plaines City Council has declared a moratorium on restaurant construction in the city.

The council ordered City Planner Michael Richardson Tuesday night to prepare ordinance changes classifying most restaurant zoning as "special use" to tighten control over the increase of drive-ins throughout the city.

City ordinance allows restaurants in commercially zoned areas. Rezoning petitions for restaurants usually involve a switch from residential to commercial usage based on surrounding property uses. A request to rezone commercial for a Pizza Hut, Inc. restaurant at 901 Oakton St. has drawn criticism from neighboring residents and was deferred by the council Tuesday.

"Special-use" restaurant zoning "would mean we could look at the necessity for it," Richardson told the Herald yesterday. "If the property is commercial now, the owner can now get a building permit and build a restaurant."

"SPECIAL-USE" zoning will require evidence that the proposed restaurant would not increase traffic congestion, would not reflect lighting on residential areas and would require a "specific site plan," Richardson said.

"The requirements would be much more stringent," he said.

"What the council really wants to do is control the location and number of drive-ins," he said. City reports for 1972 indicate that 113 restaurants operate here. The total includes taverns that serve sandwiches, drive-ins and bowling alleys that serve food.

Drive-ins require location "in a place where there's a high volume of traffic," Richardson said. "It's mostly impulse buying. A lot of driveways add to traffic congestion."

"The buildings tend to be built so the only thing they can be used for is a restaurant. Some turn over two or three times. They fail at regular intervals," he said.

ALD. EWALD SWANSON (6th), chairman of the municipal development committee that proposed the moratorium, Tuesday asked Richardson to complete the ordinance changes by the March 5 council meeting.

"The problem is defining restaurants. No one has done it this way before," Richardson said. Number of restaurant seats or floor square footage "may not be what we want to use." Drive-ins could install seating or boost size to avoid the requirement.

CITY ATTY. ROBERT DILEONARDI told council members that Des Plaines could freeze the building permits "if in the process of amending the zoning ordinance."

The ban on permits will not apply to owners who received permits or petitioned for rezoning before Tuesday's council meeting.

"WE CAN'T include abandoned restaurants," Ald. Alan Abrams (8th) said. "A vacant building is no longer a restaurant," Mayor Herbert Behrel answered.

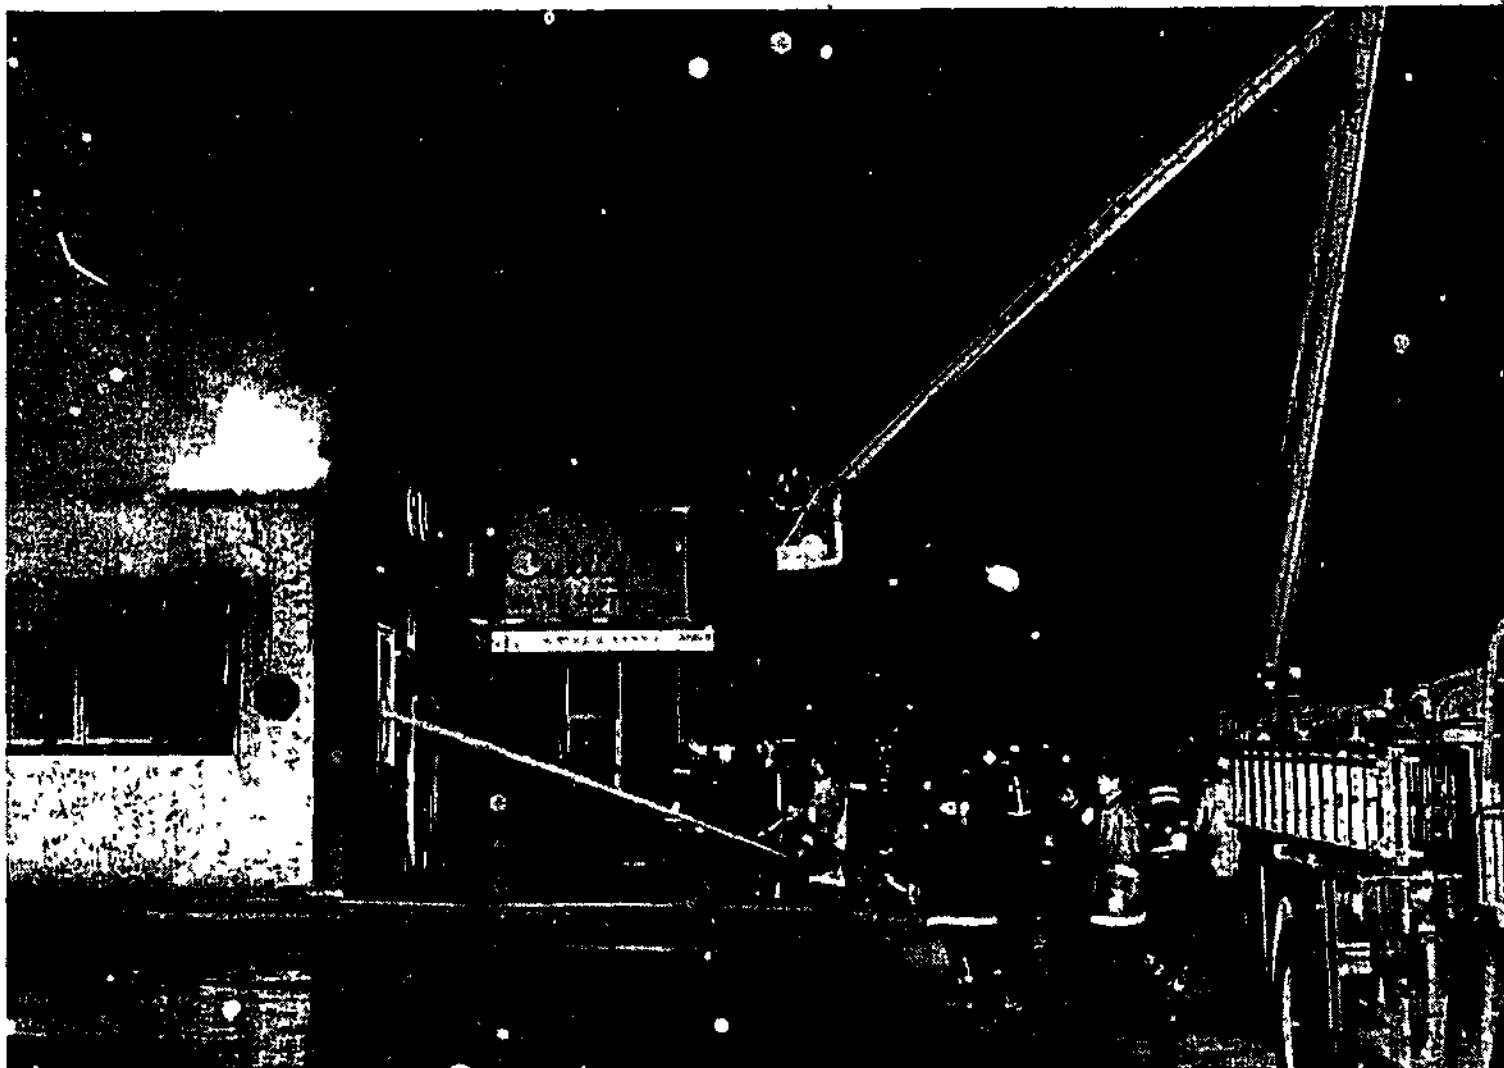

Richardson said downtown restaurants, cafeterias, office building lunch counters and "very large" eating establishments may not be included in the special-use classification.

"I'm against it (the moratorium) because it should be publicized for a few weeks to give people time to plan," Ald. Daniel Bonaguidi (7th) said. He moved that the council defer the Swanson motion.

No alderman seconded the deferral request.

"Apparently they don't want to defer it," Behrel said. The motion was then approved unanimously.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Culligan Water Conditioning Co., 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have determined that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause. (See Related Story on Page 3)

Move to reduce city treasurer post defeated

A surprise, last-minute move to reduce the city treasurer's salary to a part-time position at $6,000 a year failed at Tuesday's city council meeting.

DES PLAINES ALD. ALAN ABRAMS (8th) asked the council to reduce the proposed salary from a fulltime $13,500-a-year post during discussion of the 1973 city budget.

Final approval of the record $12.2 million budget Tuesday included a $12,000 treasurer's salary. The hike is effective after the city's spring election. Current Treasurer Irving Rateike now receives $8,500 a year in the part-time post.

IN OTHER ACTION, the council:

- Approved 18-month renting of the former Sears building at Miner and Parsons streets, for $13,911.10 a year. City officials expect to move into the 2,600 square foot of office space there before construction begins this summer of the proposed $2.2 million city hall at 1420-28 Miner.

- Passed a $18,647 proposal to allow token-coin parking in downtown Des Plaines. The project, which will require changes in downtown parking meters, is designed to promote "free" customer parking. The parking plan includes June installation of meters in the new Ellinwood lot.

- Approved a city dog pound contract that hikes cost of destroying stray animals as much as 250 per cent. Dr. Thomas T. Wright, owner of Wright Animal Hospital Ltd., asked the city Feb. 5 to renegotiate animal pound rates dating to Dec. 2, 1957. The new contract includes a hike from $1.25 a day to $2.50 for boarding cats; a hike from $1.50 to $3.50 for boarding dogs; and increase from $4 to $10 for destroying cats and a boost from $6 to $15 for destroying dogs. Des Plaines spent about $500 last year on stray animals.

- Purchased a parking lot east of 1885 Ellinwood from Des Plaines Tomorrow Corp. for $41,811.42. The land is the site of a proposed street if the controversial River Road overpass is constructed. Tomorrow Corp. is an arm of the Des Plaines Redevelopment Association, a private group working with the city to

Elementary district must reduce expenditures

Teaching staff to be cut by 32

The teaching staff will be reduced by 32 teachers next year in East Maine Elementary School Dist. 63 to keep the district's expenditures in line with declining enrollment.

Supt. G. Allan Gogo, in a response yesterday to the East Maine Education Association, said the staff reductions have been approved by the Board of Education. Gogo said the district has lost 620 of its 7,200 pupils since November 1970 and has projected a reduction of 186 students during the 1973-74 school year, causing a loss in state aid of $588,631.

The teaching staff in the district has not been reduced during the enrollment decline and student-teacher ratios have shrunk to about 16 to one, said Gogo.

BALLARD ELEMENTARY School will lose one teacher; Melzer will lose 3½;

Nathanson will lose none; Nelson, four;

Oak, one; Stevenson, 3½; Mark Twain, two; Washington, one; Wilson, 3; the instrumental music program will lose one teacher and Gemini and Apollo junior high schools will lose six teachers each, according to Gogo's report.

The decreases will bring student-teacher ratios in the elementary schools to 25 students per teacher and 19 students per teacher at the junior high level. The principals in each building are to determine how their staffs will be reorganized.

John Zagos, vice president of the teachers association, said teachers are charging Gogo is juggling ratio figures to slant his story. Ratios can be figured in a number of ways, according to Zagos. Only classroom teachers can be counted when figuring ratios, or special teachers, such as librarians, speech therapists and art instructors, can be counted as well.

In a report to the West Suburban Superintendent's study group, Gogo reported student-teacher ratios are 21.5 to one. At any rate, Zagos said, the ratio does not reflect the true class size in the district's schools of about 30 students per teacher. Teachers are asking Gogo for the exact formula he uses to compute ratios.

ALTHOUGH GOGO said the educational programs in the district's school will not be changed significantly, teachers charge the quality of Dist. 63 education will be seriously damaged.

About 37 per cent of the staff reductions are at the junior high school level, said Zagos. Such a large decrease will cause drastic changes in the school system, he said.

The staff reductions are the latest isue in an ongoing battle between the district's administration and teachers. The teachers have been asking for more voice in district budgeting and policy making. They voted earlier this month to affiliate with a national teachers union and will vote today on whether to join the National Education Association or the American Federation of Teachers.

Youth charged with marijuana possession

A 15-year-old Des Plaines youth was charged Monday with possession of marijuanna after he and four other youths allegedly were found smoking the weed at a

Clark Service Station, 1733 Oakton St.

Des Plaines police said policemen noticed a strong odor of marijuana smoke upon arriving at the station after they learned a "pot party" was being held there.

Three bags containing the weed and $50 cash were found by police in a back room of the station. The youth was charged after he reportedly told police the marijuana was his. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

The other youths were two 14-year-old boys, a 15-year-old boy and a 16-year-old girl.

Dorothy Oliver

Praise, compliments and congratulations are in order. I just conquered the Internal Revenue Service, the United States government and higher mathematics in one fell swoop.

This wonderful person, who has yet to balance her check book, who can never remember how much six times seven is, who always puts the decimal point in the wrong place when multiplying dollars and cents, and who consistently got checks on her report card for "listens to and follows directions," filled out her own income tax forms.

Last year, I firmly resolved to complete my return by myself. That resolve lasted about four minutes — right after the second word following the eighth "and" on the first page, I called my dad, pleaded illiteracy and begged his assistance.

ARMED WITH LIQUID fortitude — his was Grants, mine was Bacardi — he tackled my mountain of receipts, statements and forms as I peered over his shoulder watching every move. As he arranged things in two piles — "needed" and "why the hell did she keep that?" — I took notes, preparing myself for this year.

In 10 minutes he had completed the state form (I owned money and was immediately depressed); an hour later the federal form was finished (I got money back and I was ecstatic).

All through last year's vigil I was collecting information to use this year. I was preparing myself for do it yourself filling by picking my dad's brain.

Unfortunately, when I sat down to the forms, statements, and mountains of receipts the only thing I could remember was that I didn't have to keep my phone, electric and gas bills to fill out the 1040. It wasn't much of a start but I decided to give it a try anyway.

FILLED WITH confidence I read the cover page which explains to the taxpayer the trouble the government has gone to to keep the tax form simple and easy to understand. They even define words and phrases the layman might not be familiar with, the cover stated.

Oh well, thought I, if that be the case there will be no problem.

They lie. After you've attached the tag bearing your name and address, have filled in your Social Security number, marital status, number of dependents and gross (what an apt word) income the 1040 is a maze of confusion.

I found the definitions to be as confusing as the words they were defining. And when it came to itemizing deductions . . . well, it's a good thing I've got strong nerves and the ability to vent my frustration verbally rather than physically.

THREE HOURS into my itemization, Billy came tearing down the stairs wakened by my raving. He stood in stunned silence as I thumbed through the pages of the return screaming, "I know you're in there sales tax table and I'll find you."

Fifteen minutes later while I was lamenting having to cut my gasoline sales tax deduction in half because I have a dumb four cylinder car, Scott sleepily stumbled into the dining room offering his and his brother's assistance in finding the table I lost.

It only took me five hours to complete the federal form the first time. I had to redo 80 per cent of the thing simply because I forgot to adjust my gross (and it really is) income in the beginning. Even though I'll have money coming back this year again I was so mad at the IRS by the time I got done that I wasn't even happy, much less ecstatic.

At least it's over with. The government will get their chance to look over my form as soon as I have dad take a look at it, check my math, make sure I saved the right receipts, and make whatever adjustments necessary.

It really makes me feel good to have done this all by myself.

$90,000 blaze in Mount Prospect Culligan office

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pairitz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pairitz said. "The office machines were covered."

Commonwealth Edison Co reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

Auto service students will be enrolled in a four-year program and will be classified as part-time students at Oakton. They will work as apprentices with auto dealerships in the college district and will receive an associate degree from Oakton when they complete the program.

STUDENTS COMPLETING the two-year electronics program will receive an applied science degree from Oakton. The program includes courses in mathematics, network analysis and circuitry.

At the end of two years in the four-year machine technology program, the Oakton student will be certified as a general machinist by the college. The machine technology student will then enter a special field as a machinist for two more years for an applied science degree.

Oakton now offers a practical nursing program. The registered nursing program which will be offered next fall will combine classroom study with on-the-job training in a local hospital.

Oakton College seeks land next door for parking lot Oakton Community College hopes to buy 2.3 acres next door to the college's temporary campus, 7000 N. Nagle Ave., Morton Grove, to be used for a parking lot.

The Oakton board of trustees Tuesday night authorized president William Koehnlein to seek approval from the Illinois Junior College Board to buy the land.

The college now has a 10-year lease on the eight acres of land and five buildings used as the school's temporary campus. Paul Gilson, chairman of the board's site committee, stressed that acquisition of the 2.3 acres is in no way related to the college's attempt to obtain a permanent campus. The property will be used solely for parking for the temporary campus, he said.

A citizens' site committee appointed by the board to review the selection of a permanent campus is considering the temporary campus as one of the possible permanent sites.

THE LAND IS divided into two parcels on the southwest corner of the temporary campus. If the state board authorizes Oakton to purchase the land, negotiations between J. Clark Baker Real Estate Agency, broker for the owners, and the college attorney will begin. A referendum will not be required to purchase the land which is to be held for $250,000 in site acquisition funds now in the college building fund. The land will be paved by the college and used to park about 250 cars.

Parking problems at Oakton have become worse each semester as enrollment increases. Enrollment this spring is 3,043 students, up 27 per cent from one year ago. There are about 290 parking spaces available to students on the interim campus. Another 44 spaces are available to students in the forest preserve across the street. Other students are bused from a parking lot at Niles West High School which holds 220 cars.

In other action Tuesday night, the board of trustees approved five new vocational programs for next fall, agriculture marketing, automotive services, electronics technology, machine technology and registered nursing.

Awarding of spots on ballot rapped

Mayoral candidate Burton Kosmen yesterday criticized the awarding of ballot positions for the April 17 city elections by City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach.

Kosmen, who will be third behind David Wolf and Mayor Herbert Behrel on the ballot, noted all incumbents except Behrel had been awarded the top ballot positions in their respective races.

That, said Kosmen, is "a very unusual situation. I don't know if this was duplication or not, but this is Des Plaines politics as usual. I don't know if it was fair or not."

Mrs. Rohrbach said Kosmen's comments are "a challenge to my integrity." Names were drawn at random out of a hat Tuesday for each race, she said, and ballot positions were awarded on that basis.

"We handled this fairly. The law allows me to determine how the names will be placed," said Mrs. Rohrbach.

KOSMEN CHARGED the drawing time was announced as 11:30 a.m. Tuesday. When his representative, aldermanic candidate Pat O'Donnell, reached city hall about 11 a.m. the drawing was over.

"Mr. Kosmen called me about 9 p.m. Monday, my birthday, at home. I didn't like that. I had to call the mayor at home to find out when his press conference would be. Then, I called Mr. Kosmen on his unlisted phone and he asked me to forget the number. I don't remember if I said after or before the press conference (scheduled for 10:30 a.m.)," she said.

WHEN MRS. ROHRBACH arrived at her office about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, the candidates, George Oleo and Ald.

Wolf urges liquor commission

Mayoral candidate David Wolf yesterday called for an end to the mayor's role here as city liquor commissioner and urged his replacement by a commission.

Wolf also charged at a press conference in his home, 674 Laurel Ave., that incumbent Mayor Herbert Behrel will not be accountable to the public if he wins a fifth term.

Because Behrel has said he would retire in 1977 if he is victorious in the city's April 17 elections, Behrel would be in a position to "arbitrarily do just what he pleases" for the next four years, Wolf charged.

"I feel that my personal interest, commitment to the city and intention to raise my family and live here in Des Plaines the rest of my life would make me accountable at the completion of my first term in office if I am to be considered

"I decided to go ahead," she said.

ABRAMS SAID the proposal to switch the city treasurer to a fulltime post was based "on misinformation before the finance committee." The committee authorized the hike to $12,000 a year more than two months ago. The council amended the salary to $13,500 a year to equal the city clerk's last month.

Abrams said the council was "assured that fees currently paid to the superintendent of special assessments could be saved if the treasurer spread the roll." The assessments official recycles as much as three per cent for dividing project costs among homeowners.

The post requires "extensive real estate knowledge and ordinance changes," Abrams said, qualifications that a city treasurer might lack.

City Atty. Robert DiLeonardi told the council that the treasurer could divide the tax roll "but he may have to pay someone for advice."

ABRAMS CHARGED that the "council cried for a referendum" on a proposal to switch the mayor to part-time . . . but there never was a hearing on this."

The part-time proposal was defeated in a voice vote. Then, Ald. Lois Czubakowski (5th) asked that the salary drop from $13,500 to $12,000 a year. Behrel ruled that the motion was defeated in a voice vote. A roll call showed eight aldermen in favor of the cut and seven opposed. Behrel voted "aye" and the motion carried.

A "back-up" roll call on the part-time proposal was defeated 9 to 1.

Few other changes in the budget were proposed before approval. The council added $1,350 for bicentennial commission operation, transferred $25,000 for a public works truck to the forestry budget and moved the Rand Road sanitary sewer revenue sharing project to 1973 priority.

Oakton to use recycled paper for '73 catalog

The 1973 catalog at Oakton Community College will be printed on recycled paper thanks to the persistence of Oakton Trustee Robert Gutschick.

Gutschick, a student at the college, has been pushing for the use of recycled paper by the college since he was elected to the board in 1972. Tuesday night he won his point. The board voted 5 to 2 to use recycled paper for the catalog and voted unanimously to award the printing contract to the lowest bidder, Wozalla Publishing Co., Sturgis Point, Wis.

Rte. 53 crash injures two; squad car hit

Two persons, including an Illinois state policeman, are in good condition at Northwest Community Hospital recovering from injuries suffered in an auto accident late Tuesday on Ill. Rte. 53 near Northwest Highway.

Trooper James A. Warren, 28, and Ralph Worsey, 45, of 440 S. Lakeview Dr., Wauconda, were injured when Worsey's vehicle struck Warren's radar squad car, which was parked on the Rte. 53 median about 200 feet from U.S. Rte. 14.

Warren was reported in good condition suffering from a concussion and severe whiplash. Worsey was in fair condition yesterday suffering a broken arm and multiple contusions.

State police said Worsey's vehicle was traveling northbound on Rte. 53 at 68 miles per hour when it struck the state police squad car from behind. Police said the force of the impact shoved the squad car approximately 141 feet across the median into the next lane of traffic.

Both cars were demolished, according to state police.

Terrasal Park backup problem solution?

City weighs overhead sewers

Des Plaines may require installation of overhead sewers by Terrasal Park subdivision homeowners to relieve area sewer backups.

The "police power" requirement would tie in to revenue sharing sewer separation projects, designed to relieve what city officials called "an extreme health hazard."

The City Council unanimously authorized the engineering department to study the cost of the overhead sewer project.

The move followed a Tuesday morning meeting with officials of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.

"We need to get the job done. The whole problem can be solved if the city would show some leadership," City Atty. Robert Dileonardi told the council.

"The problem is not in dispute. There's adverse flooding ... inadequate handling of sanitary sewage," he said.

TWO SOLUTIONS were suggested:

- A special assessment of homeowners "to solve the areawide problems."
- A city police-power requirement that overhead sewers are installed in the townhouses. "Perhaps this is the most direct, likely to succeed and least expensive," Dileonardi said.

"Tied into the whole program would be disconnection of drainage tiles and redistribution of surface water along property lines," Dileonardi said.

FSLIC officials indicated "that they would pay the entire cost ... how much would depend on the total ... and the good graces of the bank in Washington, D.C.," Dileonardi said. FSLIC owns about 32 of the units and is acquiring 20 more. The insurance group assumed control of the 182-unit subdivision when Marshall Savings and Loan declared bankruptcy.

"They (the residents) just can't wait that long," Behrel said. But, a priority stepup would take a similar sized project from another ward, he warned.

SALE OF THE townhouses, constructed in the 1950s, was halted last year when "flooding and water damage occurred," William Barry, chief of the FSLIC real estate department, said. The group ordered installation of sump pumps, but the contractor did not receive a permit and installed undersize units, Behrel said.

"The work done by FSLIC added to the problem — throwing raw sewage into parking lots where children are playing," Behrel told the council.

The original townhouse plans showed overhead sewers, which were not installed.

Behrel said at his Tuesday press con-

Zettek to name 3 to housing commission

by CAROL RHYNE

Elk Grove Village Pres. Charles Zettek said this week he will appoint three residents to the village's housing commission at the village board meeting Tuesday.

The housing commission has been operating almost a year with only three of nine seats filled. During this period, the commission studied what was happening with housing in other communities, but no action was ever taken because the group lacked a quorum.

Zettek said this week he delayed naming new members to the commission after the resignations last year because he had wanted to appoint residents to all six vacancies at one time. He said he was unable to appoint six members so he decided to name the three residents who had consented to serve on the commission.

THE COMMISSION was created in the fall of 1970 to study housing problems and needs in the village.

Cathy Duoba, acting chairwoman, said yesterday she was "thrilled" to hear the commission would be getting new members and she hoped to see a lot from the "new blood." She said the commission has been handicapped for the past year with so few members and has lost its momentum.

SHE SAID the first thing to do will be to bring the members up to date on what the commission has done and what needs to be done. The commission has completed a survey of housing needs in the village, but Mrs. Duoba said no plan of action has been developed.

It was this housing survey, presented to the village trustees last spring, that contributed to the resignations of four of the seven members serving on the commission at the time.

THE 1971 HOUSING survey found a need for 1,055 low-income housing units and 622 moderate-income units in the village. In a letter sent to the housing commission in the spring of 1972, the village board criticized the recommendations of the commission and said the trustees were unsympathetic to low-income housing unless it was considered on an area-wide basis.

In a letter from the village president to the housing commission, Zettek told the commissioners to resign en masse if they were not willing to follow the village board's directive concerning the future work of the commission.

His ultimatum, Zettek made it clear that the board opposed low-income housing established by the village. He said only if such housing was planned on an area-wide basis, would it be considered by the board.

Former commission chairman Neil Cooney, president of the Bank of Elk Grove, resigned his chairmanship in April, 1972, and left the commission in May. Cooney, who had been chairman since the commission's formation, had argued that the commission had completed its work and had urged the trustees to work with area developers on the problem.

Also in May, Trustee Ed Kenna, the Rev. Maynard Beal and Donald Oehl resigned from the commission, leaving the group with its three current members, Mrs. Duoba, James Morita and Joseph Wellman.

Schaumburg Township Elementary School Dist. 54 and High School Dist. 211 will share the same basic school calendar for the 1973-1974 school year.

Opening and closing dates for schools are the same. School starts Sept. 4 on a Tuesday for all students, while the first day of school for high school and elementary teachers is Aug. 31. The last day of school for high school and elementary children is June 14, 1974.

Beginning golf for boys and girls will be open to children ages 11 to 16. The class will begin March 14 and will meet from 6:45 to 8 p.m. Wednesdays at Grant Wood School. Fee is $5.

An advanced course for adults will also begin March 14, meeting from 8 to 9:45 p.m. on Wednesdays, also at Grant Wood School. The "modern swing concept," used by the younger professionals on the golf tour, will be taught. Fee is $6.

All classes will be taught by Russ Conroy, who has taught golf in the adult education evening program at High School Dist. 214.

Students are asked to bring a five-iron and an eight-iron to the classes, if they have them. A few clubs will be provided by the park district.

Registration for the classes can be made at the park district office, 499 Biscayne Rd.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Culligan Water Conditioning Co., 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have do-terminated that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause.

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pafritz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pafritz said. "The office machines were covered."

Pafritz said 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers, Pafritz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived. The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being sprayed all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six communities that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 253-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-9390.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Pafritz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electronic controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hackmeister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culligan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Klees was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Druffel was burned on the face by a chemical. The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire equipment and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect. Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, aided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

Guzzardo had been employed by the Henn's Freight Lines. He had made a delivery for the freight company on North Orleans Street before the shooting.

No leads found in murder of Schaumburg truck driver

Chicago police said yesterday they have been unable to link any suspects to the murder of Schaumburg truck driver Joseph G. Guzzardo, 40, of 714 Boxwood Dr.

Area 6 Homicide Investigator Arthur Thompson said no leads have been uncovered in the incident. Guzzardo was shot yesterday afternoon outside the offices of United States Movidyn Corp., 836 N. Orleans, Chicago.

Thompson said it is now believed Guzzardo might have been shot resisting a robbery attempt.

"We have had a number of incidents like this in this area recently," he said. Police initially discounted robbery as a motive because about $50 had been found in Guzzardo's pockets after the shooting.

"The assailant may have panicked after the struggle and fled," he said.

Police said that while a large number of people are usually in the area during that time of day, they have been unable to locate any witness to the shooting.

Neighbor gets bus; service here next?

The transportation company that has approached Elk Grove Village for a local franchise received preliminary approval this week to provide bus service in Arlington Heights.

Under a type of partnership arrangement with Metron Systems Corp., Arlington Heights will purchase two buses at an estimated cost of $66,000 and lease the vehicles to the company for one year, interest free. Metron will manage the transportation system and provide working funds.

No target date for beginning service was set, pending approval of legal documents and proof of assets by the company.

According to plans, the bus service will be available on a subscription basis for commuters traveling to and from the Chicago and North Western Ry. station during the morning and evening rush hours. Routes will be established according to where the subscribers live.

DURING THE remainder of the day, a dial-a-ride system will operate, similar to a taxi service. With the dial-a-ride (or mini-bus) system, residents would be able to telephone for door-to-door service.

Metron officials also said a charter service is being considered that would transport residents and groups to athletic and cultural events.

The first year of operation in Arlington Heights will be on a test basis, with the village aiding in promotion and marketing of the service. The buses will be bought with village utility taxes.

Metron president Calude Luisada of Buffalo Grove previously said a round-trip ticket to the depot would be $1.50 daily, $15 a month. He has said the buses will travel to Randhurst, Northpoint and Woodfield shopping centers during non-rush hours.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE Trustee Nanci Vanderweil said yesterday she had been told of Arlington Heights' arrangement with Metron, but that Elk Grove Village had made no decision on Metron's offer. Mrs. Vanderweil, transportation committee chairwoman, said she planned to talk with her committee before setting up another meeting with Luisada.

In January, Luisada proposed a three-faced transportation program for Elk Grove Village that would include rush-hour commuter runs, a shoppers' route and a dial-a-ride service.

Elk Grove Village was the third municipality Luisada approached for permission to operate a transportation system. Metron officials have also sought permission to operate in Buffalo Grove.

Concern for underachieving child binds group together

by WANDALYN RICE

Each of the parents in the group gathered at Palatine High School had his or her own problems — but at the same time they were bound together by concern.

All of them concentrated on the young psychologist who was explaining children who fail in school sometimes do so because they have trouble coping with anger.

"Sometimes the anger may come through at home or school in passive ways," the psychologist explained. "He may be a nice, polite kid who has a good relationship with the teachers, but he just won't get his assignments done."

He added the child may be passive and agreeable at home, too, and yet not do what his parents want. "In his own way, he's frustrating people. He's dissatisfied with something and he makes other people dissatisfied."

"DOES ANY of that apply to your children?" he asked the parents. "How do they deal with anger? How do you deal with it?"

There was a brief silence. "I see my own son," one woman said. "He does that."

The discussion continued until a father asked "What if your kid is just a normal kid but isn't motivated?" He explained his high school age son "is lazy in school," gets "C's" and "D's" and added, "I don't think in today's world

Rte. 53 crash injures two; squad car hit

Two persons, including an Illinois state policeman, are in good condition at Northwest Community Hospital recovering from injuries suffered in an auto collision late Tuesday on Ill. Rte. 53 near Northwest Highway.

Trooper James A. Warren, 28, and Ralph Worsey, 43, of 440 S. Lakeview Dr., Wauconda, were injured when Worsey's vehicle struck Warren's radar squad car, which was parked on the Rte. 53 median about 200 feet from U.S. Rte. 14.

Warren was reported in good condition suffering from a concussion and severe whiplash. Worsey was in fair condition yesterday suffering a broken arm and multiple contusions.

State police said Worsey's vehicle was traveling northbound on Rte. 53 at 68 miles per hour when it struck the state police squad car from behind. Police said the force of the impact shoved the squad car approximately 141 feet across the median into the next lane of traffic.

Both cars were demolished, according to state police.

that's good enough. He says he wants to go to college."

"What kind of communication do you have with your son? Does he tell you what bothers him?" the psychologist asked.

"Oh, yeah. Our area of communication with him is to try to explain to him how important it is for him to do these things," the father said. "He just kind of clams up and doesn't say anything."

"WHY DON'T we see how it works," the psychologist suggested. "Let's have some role playing and maybe we can see the communication." After some hesitation, he and a woman began pretending they were a teen-age son and his mother. There was laughter as they got into an argument whether the boy was "doing his job" as a son.

The scene was a recent session of a seminar on "underachievement" being offered for the first time this winter by the continuing education division of High School Dist. 211. The parents and psychologist Richard Harris will have a total of seven meetings to discuss the problems of children who are not doing well in school.

Harris, a school psychologist in Glen Ellyn for the past several years, recently opened a private office in Schaumburg. He started the class, he said, to try to provide parents with information on what can cause children to have trouble in school so they can apply this knowledge to their own problems.

The first two classes, he said, were devoted to the problem of learning disabilities, the perception problems that can interfere with a child's learning. Since then, the group has been concentrating on what Harris calls the "underachievement syndrome."

THE SYNDROME, he explained, is caused by problems between members of a family and can result in children doing poorly in school. In counseling those children, he said, he focuses on the family and its relationships.

"I try to help parents realize what kind of communication they have with their kids and what it means," he said. "The task is to help parents realize that while the focus is on the child, the child's behavior is symptomatic of what is happening in the family."

The causes of the problems vary, he said, but sometimes parents may expect their children to do things to fulfill the parents' needs rather than the child's. "In some families," he said, "it's easier for parents to have a child with problems than it is for them to deal with problems of their own marriage."

The class offered in Dist. 211, he said, does not deal in the kind of counseling needed to solve those family problems, but it may help parents decide whether they want to get further help.

"I SEE THIS as a way of giving the parents some information as a basis for making a decision. As a side effect I would hope some parents find some practical techniques to help deal with their children," he said.

This winter's class has eight parents with children ranging in age from seven to high school. In the future, Harris may set up separate classes for parents with children with learning disabilities and split those with elementary age children from those with older children.

One thing the class does seem to do, he said, is to make parents feel less isolated when they try to deal with problems with their children. According to Harris, one of the class members said the best thing about the class was that it gave parents a place where they could talk about problems.

He said, "that was the important thing." He wanted other people to know about it too, because of that.

Trustees oppose plan to require deposit on cans

The Palatine Village Board has passed a resolution opposing state legislation requiring a 5-cent deposit on beer and soft drink cans.

Trustees termed the possible law a burden and expense on the consumer. Mayor Jack Moodie said, "The whole concept is ridiculous."

The village board action this week came in response to the village Environmental Control Board's stand that the law should be passed. The environmental unit contends such a regulation would help solve the litter problem.

The Illinois Pollution Control Board is studying the feasibility of a deposit on cans.

Only beer and soft drink cans would fall under the state regulation. Consumers would pay a deposit on both cans and bottles when purchasing the beverages, then would be reimbursed when the empty containers were returned.

WHY ONLY beverage containers?

"People don't litter the roads with soup cans," replied ECB chairman Wayne Browning.

The ECB's stand came after they received a letter from another suburban group asking their support as an environmental board. According to Browning, the Palatine ECB signed the letter along with several other environment groups to be sent to the Illinois Pollution Control Board in support of the can deposit.

Village trustees criticized ECB members, who are appointed, for taking the action that could imply village support of the deposit law. Contacted yesterday, Browning said the environmental body "was not making a recommendation that the village board vote to support the stand."

All but one of the trustees voted to oppose the deposit system. Tom Ahern, a liaison trustee between the village board and ECB, passed up the vote after the board rejected his suggestion to first discuss the issue with the ECB.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have determined that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause.

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pairitz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole

Slot car racing derby Saturday

Indian maidens and warriors will be facing off for the first annual Warrior Derby Saturday, when participants in the Countryside YMCA program compete for slot car racing victories.

Some 80 youths have entered the contest, set for the Slade Street Fire Station in Palatine. Slot car inspection starts at 9 a.m., with races beginning at 10 a.m. Championship races are expected to be run between noon and 1 p.m.

Warriors and maidens are youths third grade and older who belong to "tribes" with their fathers. Tribes include families from the Barrington, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Buffalo Grove areas.

More information is available from Al Sittaro, 283-4376. Registration has closed for the slot car derby. Team and individual awards, trophies and patches will go to winners.

roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pairitz said. "The office machines were covered."

PAIRITZ SAID 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers, Pairitz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived. The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being spread all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six communities that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 253-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-9390.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Pairitz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electronic controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Second condominium annex hearing set

A second public hearing on the proposed annexation of five acres of property at Palatine and Harrison roads was scheduled for March 20, after village plan commissioners heard initial details of a condominium development for the property Tuesday night.

The land is currently in unincorporated Palatine Township, just west of village boundaries. Condominiums with two bedrooms per unit are planned for the 5.13 acres owned by Charles J. Stuparis, who lives on the property now.

The Tuesday public hearing was continued to March to give neighboring homeowners an opportunity to testify.

that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hackmeister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culligan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Klee was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Drufel was burned on the face by a chemical.

The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire equipment and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect. Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, aided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

This Morning In Brief

The nation

The Justice Department has filed a civil antitrust suit against the 4,400-member National Association of Securities Dealers. Defendants include, among others, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith; Bachrach & Co.; and E. F. Hutton & Co.

The U.S. Supreme Court, ruling in a Virginia case, said states should be allowed greater variance from the one-man, one-vote rule in reapportioning their legislatures.

Rep. John N. Erlenborn, R-Ill., introduced in the House, an amendment to the U.S. Constitution that would bar abortions and euthanasia.

A rolling earthquake centered on the coast northwest of Los Angeles surged across Southern California yesterday, smashing hundreds of windows, scattering merchandise, and injuring at least three persons. The jolt was the strongest since the San Fernando Valley temblor of Feb. 9, 1971.

A former Irish Republican Army member, Maria McGuire, said that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., helped IRA gunmen to enter the United States to raise funds for the fighting in Northern Ireland.

The state

Voting was reported "heavy" yesterday as unions representing 11,000 employees of the Chicago Transit Authority balloted on whether to strike. The CTA said it would shut down if there were such a strike.

The conviction of former Gov. Otto Kerner and former State Revenue Director Theodore Isaacs may have paved the way for prosecution of other Illinois politicians who acquired race track stock under similar circumstances.

The world

Israeli warplanes shot down a Libyan Boeing 727 airliner, killing 74 of the 83 persons aboard after it strayed over the occupied Sinai Peninsula and refused orders to land. Egypt called it "an act of mass murder" and threatened Arab retaliation.

A British sentry was killed with a single shot from a sniper in West Belfast while he guarded a group of workers. He was the third soldier killed in just over 12 hours.

The "Black December" group that invaded the Indian High Commission building in London, has vowed more such attacks.

The war

The Viet Cong charged that South Vietnamese aircraft raided a Communist-held airfield near the Cambodian border, causing "many deaths." The Saigon command denied the charge... In Laos, the Laotian government and Communist officials hoped their new peace agreement would endure.

The market

The stock market retreated as investors took to the sidelines following news of trouble in the Middle East. Analysts said the decline reflected deeper investor concern than just "a reaction to the news." Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was only moderate, however. The widely followed Dow Jones industrial average, up about 2 points earlier, closed with a 9.25 loss at 974.34.

Control of water key to condo plan

The 40-acre Cobblestone Court condominium project is headed for village approval if the developer can submit engineering plans keeping excess water runoff from the adjoining park district lake.

Palatine village trustees generally favored the project, with a projected density of eight units per acre, lower than other recent area proposals.

The property is currently known as the Talbot ranch, just west of the entrance to the park district-owned Palatine Hills Golf Course on Northwest Highway.

In recent months, park district commissioners and attorneys for developer Bernard J. Clark and Associates have attempted to reach a compromise. The developer wants to use the park district's golf course road for access to Cobblestone Court. And the park district wants assurances the construction won't increase flooding on the golf course greens.

TUESDAY NIGHT, village trustees suggested they would approve the plan. According to village standards, excess water from the development must be kept on the site instead of running into the park district lake, a provision left out of the current plans.

Attorneys for the developer and park district are working on an agreement for the donation of one or more tennis courts on park district land to compensate for projected additional park use by Cobblestone Court residents.

The site plan and other details will be presented to the board at another meeting before the final approval will be given.

Cobblestone Court would include 42 3-bedroom condominiums in a total of seven buildings.

Rte. 53 crash injures two; squad car hit

The Simply Smile 4-H Club of Rolling Meadows is planning a birthday party Saturday for Mrs. Martha Johnson, a resident of Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Johnson is one of three grandparents the 4-Hers have adopted from the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged.

The girls in the club are baking a cake and Mrs. Johnson has invited friends and other residents of the home to her party.

The Simply Smile 4-H Club has 27 members ranging in age from 9 to 14. The club adopted the grandparents a year and a half ago after deciding it would be a good community project.

The club members hold a party for the grandparents each year at Christmas, send flowers at Easter, do something special for them on their birthdays and correspond with them regularly during the year.

The boys in the club are currently making bird houses they plan to put up near the home when spring arrives. The club also is planning to take the adopted grandparents to the 4-H Fair next summer.

Special city council meeting canceled

A special Rolling Meadows city council meeting originally scheduled for tonight to discuss budget matters for the coming fiscal year has been canceled.

The meeting has been rescheduled as a committee meeting of the whole at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday immediately preceding the regularly scheduled city council meeting.

The special meeting had originally been requested by the finance committee. The change also was requested by the finance committee.

Tandem bike awarded in Saturday drawing

Lynne Wiegelman, 19, of 500 N. Clark Dr., and Donald Speer, 22, of 917 Schira Dr., both of Palatine, won a tandem bicycle during a Saturday drawing.

The contest was sponsored by a group of downtown Palatine merchants. Additional prizes also were given to the two winners by the merchants.

Schools seek to combat vandalism

The external lighting of school buildings and the implementation of an anti-vandalism educational program are among a list of 11 recommendations that have been made to the River Trails Dist. 26 school board to help combat vandalism.

The recommendations were made to the board by the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Vandalism, formed several months ago. The committee, including Marsh Lupton, Robert Blomquist and Mary Ellen Lackore, met with representatives from the Mount Prospect Police Department, the school administration, teachers and students as well as residents, before making its recommendations.

"We have found that the general attitude does seem to prevail among police, parents, teachers and residents is that they all seem to favor a no-nonsense approach to the vandalism problem," Mrs. Lupton said. "One revealing thing to us in letters written by the children in the schools is how many children mentioned that parents should be more vigilant in supervising their children," she said.

"Since the lighting of buildings has been recommended by the police as the single most effective deterrent to vandalism," the committee said in its report, "the district would be well-advised to concentrate its antivandalism budget in effective lighting rather than purchasing after-the-fact alarm systems."

Within the educational program recommended, the committee also urged using the village juvenile officer as a resource person.

OTHER recommendations made by the committee included: Support of the district in working for a suburban juvenile court system, having the students repair whatever property they have damaged and encouraging teachers to "act decisively to control students' behavior before disruptive actions become chronic discipline problems."

Also recommended was a program to encourage students' pride in their schools and the drafting of a letter to all taxpayers stressing the cost of vandalism and offering suggestions on how homeowners can cooperate in reducing vandalism.

According to Board Pres. Lloyd DeMol, the board will have the vandalism committee's recommendations placed on an upcoming agenda to consider adopting a vandalism policy for the district.

Land purchase for fire station set

After a year and a half of negotiations, trustees for the Prospect Heights Fire Protection District have signed a contract for purchase of land needed for an addition to the Prospect Heights fire station.

The fire district has agreed to pay $35,000 for a 280,000-square-foot lot and home just east of the current fire station, near the corner of Rte. 83 and Camp McDonald Road. Because of the settlement, a condemnation suit filed by the fire district against Robert and Phyllis J. Cook, owners of the site, will be dropped. The suit was filed last July but never came to trial.

Bob Venit, attorney for the fire district, called the $35,000 price "a good compromise. He refused to say what fire district officials had originally offered for the site. "That's part of the negotiations," he said.

Venit estimated it would take 20 to 30 days to close the deal. The Cooks will then have 90 days to vacate the property. "Until the closing, we really can't do anything," Venit said.

PLANS for the three-bay, one-floor addition were drawn up in May, 1971, when voters approved a $275,000 bond referendum for an addition, remodeling of the station and more equipment. Trustees

In European study

William G. Brenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Brenner, 1781 Taft Ave., Rolling Meadows, is one of six Ripon College students selected to study the Arts of London and Florence during the coming semester.

Applicants were chosen to attend on the basis of academic achievement, motivation, maturity and other qualifications.

have slated $64,000 to pay for the land and to equip the new facility. About $140,000 is planned for construction of the addition, remodeling of the existing station and miscellaneous expenses such as legal fees. An additional $71,000 has been used to purchase a squad car and pumper truck and to pay a $16,000 debt on the 1968 pumper truck.

Under current plans for the addition, the trustees will have to get permission to relocate an alley that separates the current station from the Cook property. Venit said if trustees decide to use the alley, they will have to petition the Cook County Zoning Board to vacate it. He said a hearing would then be held for anyone to voice objections to relocating or vacating the alley.

Teachers, board open contract talks March 1

Contract negotiations between Elk Grove Township School Dist. 59 and the Teachers Council will begin March 1.

Negotiations are closed, as they have been in the past, by mutual agreement between the district and the teachers. The teachers' negotiating committee would not say what demands will be made.

Albeon Waltman, assistant superintendent for personnel, said, "I don't anticipate any problems with negotiations. I think they (the teachers council) are a very sensible group to work with. We have a very good relationship."

Eve Kaiser, chairman of the teachers negotiation committee, said, "I don't really foresee any big problems. I hope things can go smoothly."

Waltman said no actual ground rules are established for negotiations. "I don't feel any need to have ground rules. We work together fairly well."

During the 1970-71 school year, the teachers staged a one-day strike against the district. The strike was the first ever conducted by any Northwest suburban school teachers.

Response to city employe blood survey slight

The Rolling Meadows Board of Health may be sending city officials by next Monday the results of a survey among city employees on the interest in participating in a citywide blood bank program. The board, however, may not be sending a recommendation as to whether the city should start the program.

At a meeting last night, Board Pres. Kenneth Johnson said preliminary results of a questionnaire sent to city employees to determine interest in a blood bank program should be sent to Mayor Roland Meyer and City Mgr. James Watson "at least by next Monday." He said, however, that the board should reserve making a recommendation for or against the plan until more questionnaires are returned.

The questionnaires were distributed to city employees almost three weeks ago. The survey of city employees was seen as a preliminary step to determining whether community interest was substantial enough to warrant the city's participation in a blood banking program.

CITY SANITARIAN Donald Schindler told the board last night only 24 returns have been received. Of these, 17 are in favor of the program, four are against it, and three answered they could not participate in such a program for medical reasons.

Schindler said he did not know how many questionnaires had been sent out but estimated the city employs more than 100 persons.

Johnson said he felt even though only a small percentage of questionnaires have been returned, the board should not delay sending the results to city officials.

"I don't think we should wait any longer," he said. "We agreed when we proposed this that two weeks after the survey went out, the results should be sent to the mayor and the city manager. It's been almost three weeks now."

ALTHOUGH THE board would not be making a recommendation to join or not join blood bank program, Johnson indicated he did not think enough interest has been generated in the plan to merit citywide participation.

"I think the response shows what the interest is," he told the board. "If from all the city employees we are only getting 24, this is an indication of the interest."

Participation in a blood banking program was first discussed in October when a representative from the Red Cross appeared before the board to explain that organization's program. Like other blood bank plans, the Red Cross provides unlimited blood to participants in the program and their families provided four units of blood per 100 members donated yearly.

Programs of this type have been successful in Arlington Heights and Palatine.

After the Red Cross presentation, Johnson said the board would not recommend participation in any program because it was felt that choice should be left to the individual.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have determined that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause.

Don't doom your dog, get him license, ID tag

Man's best friend is in need of some help from his owners in Rolling Meadows, according to Patrolman Al Jurs.

Jurs, the city's service officer, said the police department is picking up an average of 10 stray dogs a week, many of which have no dog license or other identification.

Dogs without tags are taken to the Arlington Heights Animal Hospital where they are kept for seven days. If the dogs are not claimed by owners or persons willing to accept a pet, they are taken to the Anti-Cruelty Society in Chicago.

That move is a likely step toward the animal's death because dogs that are not claimed from the society are eventually destroyed.

TO AVOID that possibility, Jurs is urging pet owners to purchase licenses for their animals. Jurs calls the license a "go insurance policy" which protects the animal should it stray from its owner. If a pet is licensed, Jurs said police then have three means of identifying the pet. They are the owner's address, the license number, and the alphabetical listing of the owner's name.

If a dog is found by police and has the license, police return it to its owner and the owner is issued a warning or a fine, Jurs said. Dogs being held at the animal hospital cannot be released to owners until a release form is obtained from the police department, he said. The owner is then charged for the impoundment fees as well as other violations that may apply.

The city sold about 2,000 licenses last year, according to Jurs. Only about 1,200 have been sold to date, but Jurs estimates that as many as 2,000 unregistered dogs are in the city. He said this is because a number of pets in apartment complexes in the city are not licensed.

WHILE LICENSES usually are issued for dogs, Jurs said cat owners would be wise to purchase licenses, too. No city ordinance exists requiring cat owners to license their pets, but Jurs said most cats found by the city have no other form of identification.

Stray cats are kept at the public works building for only seven days and are then destroyed, Jurs added.

To encourage pet owners to license their animals, the police plan to conduct a residential check to find unlicensed pets. Jurs says the department will do this by referring to a log of past issued dog licenses in the city. If there is an indication that a dog is kept at a home and has not yet been licensed, police will notify the owner.

$90,000 blaze in Mount Prospect

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pairitz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pairitz said. "The office machines were covered."

PAIRITZ SAID 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers, Pairitz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived. The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being sprayed all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six communities that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 253-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-8330.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Pairitz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electronic controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hackmeister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culligan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Klee was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Drufel was burned on the face by a chemical.

The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire fighters and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, aided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

Slot car racing derby Saturday

Indian maidens and warriors will be facing off for the first annual Warrior Derby Saturday, when participants in the Countryside YMCA program compete for slot car racing victories.

Some 60 youths have entered the contest, set for the Slade Street Fire Station in Palatine. Slot car inspection starts at 9 a.m., with races beginning at 10 a.m. Championship races are expected to be run between noon and 1 p.m.

Warriors and maidens are youths third grade and older who belong to "tribes" with their fathers. Tribes include families from the Barrington, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Buffalo Grove areas.

More information is available from Al Sittar, 263-4370. Registration has closed for the slot car derby. Team and individual awards, trophies and patches will go to winners.

Car rams door of apartment

A Barrington Hills man has been charged on two counts by Rolling Meadows police after the car he was driving was struck by an auto and rammed through the front door of an apartment at the Georgetown Apartment complex late Tuesday.

Police have charged Robert Salvatore, 45, with drunken driving and with failing to yield the right of way in connection with the mishap. Salvatore refused to submit to a breathalyzer test, according to police, and posted $30 and his driver's license as bond.

A court date has been set for April 3.

According to a police investigation, Salvatore was leaving the Three Fountains apartment complex, attempting a left turn onto Algonquin Road. His auto was struck by one driven by Linda Sinn, 22, 1224 E. Algonquin, Schaumburg, who was traveling westbound on Algonquin.

Miss Sinn's auto struck the Salvatore vehicle as she swerved attempting to avoid the collision.

THE IMPACT of the collision pushed Salvatore's car through the front door and into the living room of Apt. 106 of the Georgetown Apartments, 2850 Algonquin.

Police said no one was in the apartment at the time of the incident. The names of the apartment's residents were not immediately available.

Salvatore was not injured, although police said the entire front end of his vehicle to the windshield crashed through the apartment door and wall.

Miss Sinn suffered a broken finger, a knee laceration and whiplash, according to police. She was treated and released from Northwest Community Hospital.

She was not charged in connection with the mishap.

Simply Smile 4-H Club to hold party for aged

The Simply Smile 4-H Club of Rolling Meadows is planning a birthday party Saturday for Mrs. Martha Johnson, a resident of Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Johnson is one of three grandparents the 4-Hers have adopted from the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged.

The girls in the club are baking a cake and Mrs. Johnson has invited friends and other residents of the home to her party.

The Simply Smile 4-H Club has 27 members ranging in age from 9 to 14. The club adopted the grandparents a year and a half ago after deciding it would be a good community project.

The club members hold a party for the grandparents each year at Christmas, send flowers at Easter, do something special for them on their birthdays and correspond with them regularly during the year.

The boys in the club are currently making bird houses they plan to put up near the home when spring arrives. The club also is planning to take the adopted grandparents to the 4-H Fair next summer.

Rte. 53 crash injures two; squad car hit

Two persons, including an Illinois state policeman, are in good condition at Northwest Community Hospital recovering from injuries suffered in an auto collision late Tuesday on Ill. Rte. 53 near Northwest Highway.

Trooper James A. Warren, 28, and Ralph Worsey, 45, of 440 S. Lakeview Dr., Wauconda, were injured when Worsey's vehicle struck Warren's radar squad car, which was parked on the Rte. 53 median about 200 feet from U.S. Rte. 14.

Warren was reported in good condition suffering from a concussion and severe whiplash. Worsey was in fair condition yesterday suffering a broken arm and multiple contusions.

State police said Worsey's vehicle was traveling northbound on Rte. 53 at 68 miles per hour when it struck the state police squad car from behind. Police said the force of the impact shoved the squad car approximately 141 feet across the median into the next lane of traffic.

Both cars were demolished, according to state police.

Third candidate files income disclosure form

George Corral, a candidate for alderman in Rolling Meadows' 4th Ward, has filed a statement with the Cook County clerk listing his sources of income.

Corral said yesterday he filed the statement Tuesday to comply with requirements of the 1972 state ethics law. The law requires candidates for elected office as well as elected officials, zoning board members, plan commission members, and employees of the city earning more than $20,000 a year to file the statement.

Corral is the third candidate to file. Others are 3rd Ward challenger Richard Nolan and 5th Ward hopeful Bernard Macklin. Mrs. Dean Wandsee, a candidate in the 1st Ward, said she plans to file her statement.

Incumbents seeking reelection, Merrill Wuerch (1st), Thomas Waldron (2nd), Stephen Eberhard (3rd), Daniel Weber (4th) and Fred Jacobson (5th), have statements on file as part of the requirement pertaining to elected officials.

The language of the law indicates statements of economic interest should have been filed by candidates at the time nominating petitions were filed. However, no penalty is described for late filing.

Incomplete or false statements can result in a fine of up to $1,000 or one-year imprisonment or both. Failure to file the statement would result in the removal from office of an official, Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott has ruled.

The road and bridge fund expense was held at $175,300, the figure agreed on at the first hearing. The current budget figure for roads and bridges is $176,000.

The general assistance budget was also held at the previously agreed figure of

Still no settlement in IBEW strike against General Time

A meeting Tuesday between striking members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and General Time Co. in Rolling Meadows has failed again to resolve the continuing strike at the company.

The strike is now in its 21st week and spokesmen say there is little hope for a settlement soon. A spokesman involved

A RESCUE TEAM attempting to free State Trooper James Warren from his demolished radar squad car on Ill. Rte. 53 near Northwest Highway was one of several police and medical units called to the scene of a two-car accident late Tuesday. Warren's squad car was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by Ralph Worsey of Wauconda. State police estimated Worsey was traveling almost 70 miles per hour when the impact occurred. Warren was listed in good condition yesterday at Northwest Community Hospital. Worsey was reported in fair condition.

Auditors OK tentative '73 budget

The Elk Grove Township Board of Auditors has agreed on a tentative budget of $439,012 for the 1973-74 fiscal year, which begins March 1.

The proposed budget is about $3,000 less than the current fiscal budget.

The budget will be put on public display at the township office, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, for 30 days beginning Monday. The budget will officially be adopted after a public hearing March 27.

The final figures for the tentative budget were agreed on by the auditors at a budget hearing Tuesday. This was the second budget hearing by the township.

DURING THE MEETING, township Auditor Richard Hall said all figures in the budget are maximum estimates of coming expenses and the township would not necessarily spend the entire amounts.

Few changes were made in the estimated expenses at Tuesday's meeting from the figures agreed on at the first meeting Feb. 13.

A total of $185,312 was proposed for the town fund. This fund covers all township expenses except those under the general assistance fund and the road and bridge fund. The proposed fund figure is only $700 more than the current budget allocation.

The biggest reductions in the town fund were made in the elimination of expenses for the township collector's office and for bond interest in the coming year.

The collector's office is no longer a functioning agency at the township level and no funds were budgeted.

DURING THE CURRENT FISCAL YEAR, the township has paid off all outstanding bonds and is now operating on a cash flow basis.

At Tuesday's meeting the officials lowered the youth committee budget to $22,000. This would provide for maintaining the youth budget at its current level plus a $10,000 expense estimate for the committee to become affiliated with the Bridge, a Palatine township youth agency.

The road and bridge fund expense was held at $175,300, the figure agreed on at the first hearing. The current budget figure for roads and bridges is $176,000.

The general assistance budget was also held at the previously agreed figure of $78,400. This year's general assistance total is $80,450.

THE OFFICIALS also budgeted expenses for the township sewer fund. This is not a tax money fund, but is financed through revenue from billing sewer users. Total revenue is estimated at $12,000.

Township officials have yet to receive any federal revenue sharing funds. A special set of budget hearings will have to be held to budget the revenue sharing money when it is received.

Officials still are trying to correct problems which have prevented the township from getting its revenue sharing.

When the township application was submitted, the federal agency mistakenly identified the township as a non-taxing body, and non-taxing bodies are not eligible for revenue sharing.

Village to pay back taxes on Chino Park

Park district ownership and maintenance of Chino Park in Hoffman Estates may have come a step closer this week with agreement by the village board to pay $3,000 in delinquent taxes on the site. The park is east of the old municipal building at Evanston Street and Illinois Boulevard.

The village board has agreed to deed most of the park site to the park district, but action on the transfer has been delayed more than a year, stalled on the question of who should pay delinquent taxes.

The property formerly was owned by Hoffman Estates Homeowners Association, which transferred title to the village when Hoffman Estates was incorporated. When the village acquired the land, it was entitled to tax exempt status for it, but the exemption was not immediately obtained, and the taxes were not paid.

Village Atty. Edward Hofert told the board Cook County Circuit Court had agreed to issue a decree granting tax exempt status for years after 1959, when the village was incorporated, forgiving $4,100 in back taxes. Still remaining to be paid would be $3,000, he said, for the years when the homeowners association held the title.

HOFERT SAID his consulting attorney, who handled the case for the village, recommended accepting the decree and paying the $3,000 even though he thought the village could obtain forgiveness for all the back taxes on an appeal. The appeal would cost $1,000 to $1,200, said Hofert, and the gain to the village would be less than $3,000. Hofert also noted if the village pays the taxes two-thirds of the money would go to school districts serving village residents.

The board opinion on the question was split, with Trustees Edward Hennessy and Dyrle Rathman voting against paying the delinquent taxes, and Trustees Bruce Lind, Diane Jensen, Virginia Hayter and William Cowin voting for the payment.

In other action Tuesday, the board approved a new system of charging water rates for commercial buildings split into several offices or stores. The costs will be the same as before, reported Public Works Supt. John Hossack, but now the village will permit all water consumption to be recorded on one meter, with the bill going to the building owner. Previously the village required separate meters for each section of the building.

ACTION ALSO was taken to legalize bingo in the village. In a previous meeting, the board directed Hofert to prepare an ordinance legalizing bingo to make the village statutes agree with state law, and to permit civic groups to hold bingo games. Bingo now is permitted only if it is licensed by the state, under the new ordinance.

The board also approved new speed limits for certain areas in Winston Knolls and the moving of a sign advertising Barrington properties.

Expenditure of up to $225 was authorized for three village officers to attend a seminar on municipal finance March 11-13 at Arlington Park Towers, Arlington Heights. The seminar is sponsored by the Illinois Municipal Officers Association, at a cost of $50 per man. The additional $75 is for expenses for the three men for three days. To attend are the village treasurer, finance director and chairman of the board's finance committee.

Another $55 was approved for membership of the board's police and fire commission in the Illinois Association of Fire and Police Commissioners.

No leads found in murder of local man

Chicago police said yesterday they have been unable to link any suspects to the murder of Schaumburg truck driver Joseph G. Gazzardo, 40, of 714 Boxwood Dr.

Area 6 homicide investigator Arthur Thompson said no leads have been uncovered in the incident. Gazzardo was shot yesterday afternoon outside the offices of United States Movidyn Corp., 336 N. Orleans, Chicago.

Thompson said it is now believed Gazzardo might have been shot resisting a robbery attempt.

"We have had a number of incidents like this in this area recently," he said.

Police initially discounted robbery as a motive because about $50 had been found in Gazzardo's pockets after the shooting.

"The assailant may have panicked after the struggle and fled," he said.

Police said that while a large number of people are usually in the area during that time of day, they have been unable to locate any witness to the shooting.

Gazzardo had been employed by the Illinois Freight Lines. He had made a delivery for the freight company on North Orleans Street before the shooting.

2 school districts share same calendar

Schaumburg Township Elementary School Dist. 54 and High School Dist. 211 will share the same basic school calendar for the 1973-1974 school year.

Opening and closing dates for schools are the same. School starts Sept. 4 on a Tuesday for all students, while the first day of school for high school and elementary teachers is Aug. 31. The last day of school for high school and elementary children is June 14, 1974.

Children will be in class for 181 teaching days and will receive days off on nine legal holidays besides Thanksgiving, winter and spring recesses.

Institute days or teacher work shops sessions may be different in the districts. These dates have not yet been finalized.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have determined that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause.

$90,000 blaze in Mount Prospect

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pairitz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pairitz said. "The office machines were covered."

PAIRITZ SAID 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers,

Pairitz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived. The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being sprayed all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six communities that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 233-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-9390.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Pairitz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electronic controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hackmeister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culligan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Klees was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Druffel was burned on the face by a chemical.

The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire equipment and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect. Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, sided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

Village, police ready to talk

Basic procedure has been established for salary and benefit negotiations between the Village of Hoffman Estates and the Fraternal Order of Police, representing police department employees.

FOP already has selected the men for its team of negotiators. Mayor Frederick Downey will name board members to represent the village at next Monday's meeting.

Each side has agreed to have three members on its negotiating team, accepting a recommendation Tuesday night from Village Mgr. George Longmeyer.

The three FOP negotiators are Patrolmen Donald Martin and Sergeants James Dutton and James Kilosowski.

After Downey appoints the board team Monday, the six negotiators will schedule their first session to open the talks. All negotiations are to be conducted in private, by mutual agreement of the two sides.

Schools to submit plan under protest

Under protest Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54 officials will submit a "program plan" to Michael Bakals, state superintendent of public instruction.

The plan, using new standards, must be submitted by Sept. 1 to receive recognition and financial aid from the state.

Dist. 54's board of education supports the stand of Decatur school officials who have asked new standards not be implemented until a state board of education takes over the responsibilities of Bakals' office.

The school boards do not oppose changes per se in the state's program of evaluation and recognition of schools, said Donnie Rudd, Dist. 54 school board member.

"What we oppose is Bakals' effort to implement these newly revised recognition rules only a short time before the state board of education assumes that duty," he added.

"Many of the changes proposed were good ones," said Rudd, adding, "By and large Bakals has done more than anyone to improve education in Illinois."

The new guidelines are to become effective July 1.

Parks vote $1,700 for July Fourth fireworks

The Hoffman Estates Park District voted Tuesday to donate $1,700 to the Fourth of July celebration to purchase fireworks.

The decision, which had been deferred for two weeks by the park board of commissioners, represents the second major contribution received by the committee planning the Independence Day celebration. Earlier this month the village board approved a $5,500 contribution to the festivities.

Park Commissioner George Seaver said growth of the village over the event's 13-year history has constantly increased costs. It is also becoming more difficult to obtain donations from local businessmen, he added.

Park Board Pres. Tom Barber said that while he was not against making the contribution, he felt the effort should still be made to obtain contributions from business.

CHARLES RITZ, vice president of the committee, thanked the park board for the donation and assured them every effort would be made to encourage full participation from all segments of the community.

"We hope to make this the best Fourth of July ever," Ritz added. He said plans are under way for the daylong event which last year drew an estimated 35,000 persons to a parade, fireworks display and other events.

RITZ AND Seaver, who is president of the planning committee, said volunteers are needed now to help with the organizational work.

"This may only be February, but work has already begun to plan for the celebration," Seaver said.

In other action, the park board awarded a contract for $2,451 to the Fox Valley Fence Co. for three baseball backstops. The board also approved a low bid of $4,400 for sand and clay mix to improve eight baseball diamonds. Both projects are part of the park improvement program approved by voters in June, 1972.

THE BOARD scheduled a special meeting for 9 p.m. today to review bids received for construction work at Highpoint Park. The project includes enlarging the retention lake at the park and raising another portion of land above the level which regularly floods.

Policies regarding the use of the newly erected community sign, donated by the Hoffman Estates Jaycees, also were approved by the board.

The sign will be made available to community groups for a fee of $10 a week for each side of the sign used. Under the agreement, the Jaycees are allowed to use the sign for 15 weeks each year at no charge. The sign is located on Higgins Road at the park district offices.

Timmons to seek trustee seat in Shoemaker's place

The name of Melvin E. Timmons will appear on the ballot for the Hoffman Estates village government election April 17, although the deadline for filing petitions for ballot listing has passed.

Timmons is running in the place of R. Carl Shoemaker, chosen as trustee candidate in the Dec. 10 Republican convention for the village race. Shoemaker has withdrawn his name from candidacy because he is moving March 5 to Richland, Wis. Procedures have been established in state statutes for the removal of Shoemaker's name from the ballot, and the insertion of Timmons' name in its place.

Robert Lyons, campaign manager for the GOP slate, yesterday explained the procedure, which eliminates any need for a write-in candidacy.

UNDER STATE LAW, party primaries are to be held Feb. 27 in any municipality where there is opposition within a party for state positions. Because there is no opposition for GOP slating in Hoffman Estates, no primary will be held. But after the primary, Shoemaker is legally able to file an affidavit requesting the dropping of his name from the ballot, said Lyons.

Also after the primary, the GOP township committeemen for the four townships which contain portions of Hoffman Estates will meet and vote on a replacement for Shoemaker. These townships are Schaumburg, Palatine, Hanover and Barrington.

When the committeemen certify Timmons as the approved candidate, affidavits will be filed with the village clerk that will place Timmons on the ballot rather than Shoemaker.

Lyons indicated the committeemen are expected to approve Timmons with no difficulty, since precinct captains and other members of the village central committee recommended him at a Monday meeting.

Bridge sponsoring outing to Texas for local youth

Schaumburg Township young people interested in joining other young Northwest suburban youths for an April camping trip may register for a trip to Texas.

The Bridge, a youth services bureau in Palatine is sponsoring the trip and will offer some of its professional and volunteer staff as adult resource persons.

David Russell of The Bridge is accepting registrations and may be contacted for information by calling 359-7490.

Schaumburg Township youth worker Jerry Lipsch said the trip is planned for April 20-20. Terming the trip a living experience, Lipsch said the group will live on open land on a private ranch near Uvalde, Tex. Esther Kulp, a registered nurse, and Russell, who has led three previous camping trips to Texas, will be with the group.

The Bridge will have medical accident insurance on all participants but will not assume any liability.

The trip costs $65 a person and includes travel, food, insurance, staff and other living expenses.

Transportation will be by chartered Greyhound bus, including a one-day side trip to Mexico.

The Bridge is accepting cash donations from church groups, service clubs or other groups who want to help sponsor their own young people or donate funds to The Bridge to help defray trip expenses.

Russell said The Bridge also needs six-man tents and group cooking gear.

Parent's group discusses problem of underachiever

by WANDALYN RICE

Each of the parents in the group gathered at Palatine High School had his or her own problems — but at the same time they were bound together by concern.

All of them concentrated on the young psychologist who was explaining children who fail in school sometimes do so because they have trouble coping with anger.

"Sometimes the anger may come through at home or school in passive ways," the psychologist explained. "He may be a nice, polite kid who has a good relationship with the teachers, but he just won't get his assignments done."

He added the child may be passive and agreeable at home, too, and yet not do what his parents want. "In his own way, he's frustrating people. He's dissatisfied with something and he makes other people dissatisfied."

"DOES ANY of that apply to your children?" he asked the parents. "How do they deal with anger? How do you deal with it?"

There was a brief silence. "I see my own son," one woman said. "He does that."

The discussion continued until a father asked "What if your kid is just a normal kid but isn't motivated?" He explained his high school age son "is lazy in school," gets "C's" and "D's" and added, "I don't think in today's world that's good enough. He says he wants to go to college."

"What kind of communication do you have with your son? Does he tell you what bothers him?" the psychologist asked.

"Oh, yeah. Our area of communication with him is to try to explain to him how important it is for him to do these things," the father said. "He just kind of clams up and doesn't say anything."

"WHY DON'T we see how it works," the psychologist suggested. "Let's have some role playing and maybe we can see the communication." After some hesitation, he and a woman began pretending they were a teen-age son and his mother. There was laughter as they got into an argument whether the boy was "doing his job" as a son.

The scene was a recent session of a seminar on "underachievement" being offered for the first time this winter by the continuing education division of High School Dist. 211. The parents and psychologist Richard Harris will have a total of seven meetings to discuss the problems of children who are not doing well in school.

Harris, a school psychologist in Glen Ellyn for the past several years, recently opened a private office in Schaumburg. He started the class, he said, to try to provide parents with information on what can cause children to have trouble in school so they can apply this knowledge to their own problems.

The first two classes, he said, were devoted to the problem of learning disabilities, the perception problems that can interfere with a child's learning. Since then, the group has been concentrating on what Harris calls the "underachievement syndrome."

THE SYNDROME, he explained, is caused by problems between members of a family and can result in children doing poorly in school. In counseling those children, he said, he focuses on the family and its relationships.

"I try to help parents realize what kind of communication they have with their kids and what it means," he said. "The task is to help parents realize that while the focus is on the child, the child's behavior is symptomatic of what is happening in the family."

The causes of the problems vary, he said, but sometimes parents may expect their children to do things to fulfill the parents' needs rather than the child's. "In some families," he said, "it's easier for parents to have a child with problems than it is for them to deal with problems of their own marriage."

The class offered in Dist. 211, he said, does not deal in the kind of counseling needed to solve those family problems, but it may help parents decide whether they want to get further help.

"I SEE THIS as a way of giving the parents some information as a basis for making a decision. As a side effect I would hope some parents find some practical techniques to help deal with their children," he said.

Car rams door of apartment

A Barrington Hills man has been charged on two counts by Rolling Meadows police after the car he was driving was struck by an auto and rammed through the front door of an apartment at the Georgetown Apartment complex late Tuesday.

Police have charged Robert Salvatore, 45, with drunken driving and with failing to yield the right of way in connection with the mishap. Salvatore refused to submit to a breathalyzer test, according to police, and posted $50 and his driver's license as bond.

A court date has been set for April 3.

According to a police investigation, Salvatore was leaving the Three Fountains apartment complex, attempting a left turn onto Algonquin Road. His auto was struck by one driven by Linda Sinn, 22, 1224 E. Algonquin, Schaumburg, who was traveling westbound on Algonquin.

Miss Sinn's auto struck the Salvatore vehicle as she swerved attempting to avoid the collision.

Chief doubts cause will be determined

$90,000 blaze damages Culligan water building here

by TOM VON MALDER

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Palritz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Palritz said. "The office machines were covered."

PAIRITZ SAID 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers, Palritz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived. The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being sprayed all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six communities that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 233-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-0390.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Palritz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electronic controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hackmeister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culli-gan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Kees was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Druffel was burned on the face by a chemical.

The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire equipment and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect. Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, aided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have determined that the fire did start in the loft of the building. They said arson was definitely not a cause.

Village sets new hearing on Huntington zoning

The Mount Prospect Village Board this week continued to its March 6 meeting the public hearing on the change in the zoning ordinance and annexation agreement of the Huntington Commons Planned Unit Development.

The changes asked for are to permit the construction of a Venture Department store at the northwest corner of Dempster Street and Elmhurst Road. Members of the village board have already said they favor construction of the store but the current agreements would not permit it.

Trustee Donald B. Furst asked for the continuance because he said the matter was still in his finance committee. He scheduled a special committee meeting for March 1 to resolve the matter.

IN OTHER ACTION, the Village Board:

Approved the fire protection annual agreement with the Forest River Fire District.

Annexed a lot and a half on Ojibway Trail.

Passed a Motor Fuel Tax fund resolution to allocate funds to widen and repave Lincoln Street from Seo-Gwan Avenue to Weller Creek.

Awarded the contract for the Well 18 pump house to R. T. Meyer of Northbrook for $107,490.

Passed a second Motor Fuel Tax resolution for $30,539 to cover the village's first installment of the public benefit portion of the Hatlen Heights area storm sewer special assessment.

Adopted an amended stop sign and yield sign ordinance and sight distance ordinance.

The state

Voting was reported "heavy" yesterday as unions representing 11,000 employees of the Chicago Transit Authority balloted on whether to strike. The CTA said it would shut down if there were such a strike.

The conviction of former Gov. Otto Kerner and former State Revenue Director Theodore Isaacs may have paved the way for prosecution of other Illinois politicians who acquired race track stock under similar circumstances.

The world

Israeli warplanes shot down a Libyan Boeing 727 airliner, killing 74 of the 83 persons aboard after it strayed over the occupied Sinai Peninsula and refused orders to land. Egypt called it "an act of mass murder" and threatened Arab retaliation.

CommentaryMinton's first shot misses

by TOM VON MALDER

Quietly last week, by means of answering letters sent by certified mail, the opening salvos were taken in the Mount Prospect 1973 mayoral campaign.

The results of this initial, although not too serious, confrontation show that incumbent Pres. Robert D. Telchert has a good put-down technique and that challenger Michael Minton does not yet have his facts exactly straight about what is happening in the village.

One has to take this confrontation lightly because the use of certified mail indicates that Minton, who sent the first letter, was merely trying to get something put into the historical record.

MINTON'S letter, dated Feb. 12, apparently is meant to be read as a charge that he has been getting the runaround by the village while trying to gather ammunition for his campaign.

Three times, Minton wrote, he asked or tried to ask Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley to "make available any and all documents, memorandum, correspondence, village code regulations, board meeting minutes, board readings, and results of polls and referendums." He listed a series of events from the last five years for which he wanted this information.

Then he demanded that Telchert make all the information available by last Friday, four days after he sent the letter.

Although Minton has yet to disclose any platform for his campaign (despite saying he would last month), his list is a clear indication of what he would like to make issues. It included: "Huntington Commons, projected multiple building developments, the $415,000 loan from a local bank, the annexation of the area termed "New Town," police and fire manpower and services, expenditures in the proposed village budget, salaries of all officials and employees of the village, water and flooding programs, and the proposed 12-story retirement complex."

THERE ARE some obvious mistakes in Minton's letter that should never have been made by a serious candidate for public office. What he refers to as a "twelve-store retirement complex" is actually a proposed 13-story building.

Tom Von Mader

Furthermore, the proposed village budget he asked for is not ready yet. Repeated articles in the Herald have said that Eppley hopes to have the proposed budget ready the first week in March.

In his reply of Feb. 15, Telchert said, "While I am sympathetic with your lack of knowledge of village affairs and understand your desire to create some type of campaign issue, I cannot expect the village employees to set aside village work for your private purposes."

The mayor wrote that he treated Minton's complaint as a "sincere" one. However, he said that talks with Eppley and the village clerk's office had revealed that "every document you have requested has been supplied to you."

TEICHERT continued that he felt Minton's real complaint was not that he did not have access to the materials, but that he wanted village employees to do the research for him.

"I am afraid you will have to do your own research and inspecting just as we all do," he wrote. "The information is available to you and every member of the public during each working day of the year."

He concluded by calling Minton's letter "a public gimmick" and invited him to address the village board Tuesday if he still had a complaint.

Minton, who was present at the village board meeting Tuesday, did not address the board. As he has over the past couple of months, he sat and listened and chatted with residents in the hallways with his campaign talk.

Schools seek to combat vandalism

The external lighting of school buildings and the implementation of an anti-vandalism educational program are among a list of 11 recommendations that have been made to the River Trails Dist. 26 school board to help combat vandalism.

The recommendations were made to the board by the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Vandalism, formed several months ago. The committee, including Marsha Lupton, Robert Blomquist and Mary Ellen Lackore, met with representatives from the Mount Prospect Police Department, the school administration, teachers and students as well as residents, before making its recommendations.

"We have found that the general attitude that does seem to prevail among police, parents, teachers and residents is that they all seem to favor a no-nonsense approach to the vandalism problem," Mrs. Lupton said. "One revealing thing to us in letters written by the children in the schools is how many children mentioned that parents should be more vigilant in supervising their children," she said.

"Since the lighting of buildings has been recommended by the police as the single most effective deterrent to vandalism," the committee said in its report, "the district would be well-advised to concentrate its antivandalism budget in effective lighting rather than purchasing after-the-fact alarm systems."

Within the educational program recommended, the committee also urged using the village juvenile officer as a resource person.

OTHER recommendations made by the committee included: Support of the district in working for a suburban juvenile court system, having the students repair whatever property they have damaged and encouraging teachers to "act decisively to control students' behavior before disruptive actions become chronic discipline problems."

Also recommended was a program to encourage students' pride in their schools and the drafting of a letter to all taxpayers stressing the cost of vandalism and offering suggestions on how homeowners can cooperate in reducing vandalism.

According to Board Pres. Lloyd Demel, the board will have the vandalism committee's recommendations placed on an upcoming agenda to consider adopting a vandalism policy for the district.

Two village homes hit by burglars

More than $2,000 worth of silverware, furs and jewelry was taken in one of two Mount Prospect home burglaries last weekend.

Police said a 12-piece silverware set, a gold coffee service, fur coats and pearl necklaces and earrings were taken, along with $101 in cash from the Robert J. Bychowski home, 1404 S. Birch Dr. The rear family room doors had been pried open while the occupants were not at home, between 5 and 11:45 p.m. Saturday.

Footprints in the rear yard led over a fence to Fern Drive, police said.

The second burglary took place early Sunday morning at 705 Ironwood Dr., the Louis J. Divis residence.

Reported as stolen so far are three watches and $25 in cash. Police said the home had been ransacked.

Auditors OK tentative '73 budget

The Elk Grove Township Board of Auditors has agreed on a tentative budget of $439,912 for the 1973-74 fiscal year, which begins March 1.

The proposed budget is about $3,000 less than the current fiscal budget.

The budget will be put on public display at the township office, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, for 30 days beginning Monday. The budget will officially be adopted after a public hearing March 27.

The final figures for the tentative budget were agreed on by the auditors at a budget hearing Tuesday. This was the second budget hearing by the township.

DURING THE MEETING, township Auditor Richard Hall said all figures in the budget are maximum estimates of coming expenses and the township would not necessarily spend the entire amounts.

Few changes were made in the estimated expenses at Tuesday's meeting from the figures agreed on at the first meeting Feb. 13.

A total of $165,312 was proposed for the town fund. This fund covers all township expenses except those under the general assistance fund and the road and bridge fund. The proposed fund figure is only $700 more than the current budget allocation.

The biggest reductions in the town fund were made in the elimination of expenses for the township collector's office and for bond interest in the coming year.

The collector's office is no longer a functioning agency at the township level and no funds were budgeted.

DURING THE current fiscal year, the Business license rule passed

The Mount Prospect Village Board Tuesday gave the village manager the power to close any business that has failed to purchase a business license by Nov. 1 each year.

In a unanimous vote and with no discussion, the board adopted the amendment to the business license code. The amendment also calls for fines if the licenses are purchased late.

Licenses will be required by May 1 each year, but there will be a one-month grace period to purchase the stickers. Thereafter, a 20 per cent surcharge will be added to licenses bought between July 1 and Sept. 1, and after Sept. 1 the surcharge will be 50 per cent. The schedule of fees for the licenses is outlined in the ordinance.

The board members waived the customary two readings of an ordinance, as they had announced they would.

The amendment was prompted early last month when board members learned that some 40 businesses had failed to purchase licenses in the first eight months of the current fiscal year.

Licenses are used to help defray the costs of inspections by the fire and health departments, and for other regulatory functions.

At the first budget meeting township officials suggested $27,000 be allocated for the township youth committee — more than double the current $12,000 allocation.

At Tuesday's meeting the officials lowered the youth committee budget to $22,000. This would provide for maintaining the youth budget at its current level plus a $10,000 expense estimate for the committee to become affiliated with the Bridge, a Palatine township youth agency.

The road and bridge fund expense was held at $175,300, the figure agreed on at the first hearing. The current budget figure for roads and bridges is $176,000.

The general assistance budget was also held at the previously agreed figure of $78,400. This year's general assistance total is $80,450.

THE OFFICIALS also budgeted expenses for the township sewer fund. This is not a tax money fund, but is financed through revenue from billing sewer users. Total revenue is estimated at $12,000.

Township officials have yet to receive any federal revenue sharing funds. A special set of budget hearings will have to be held to budget the revenue sharing money when it is received.

Officials still are trying to correct problems which have prevented the township from getting its revenue sharing. When the township application was submitted, the federal agency mistakenly identified the township as a nontaxing body, and nontaxing bodies are not eligible for revenue sharing.

cum for an addition, remodeling of the station and more equipment. Trustees have slated $64,000 to pay for the land and to equip the new facility. About $140,000 is planned for construction of the addition, remodeling of the existing station and miscellaneous expenses such as legal fees. An additional $71,000 has been used to purchase a squad car and pumper truck and to pay a $16,000 debt on the 1968 pumper truck.

Under current plans for the addition, the trustees will have to get permission to relocate an alley that separates the current station from the Cook property. Venit said if trustees decide to use the alley, they will have to petition the Cook County Zoning Board to vacate it. He said a hearing would then be held for anyone to voice objections to relocating or vacating the alley.

First Federal seeking branch in village

Illinois' largest savings and loan institution hopes to start a full-service branch operation in Mount Prospect.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago has filed an application to open a branch at the intersection of Rand and Elmhurst roads, or in the immediate vicinity. The location was made public last week.

George Allison, senior vice president of the firm, said Friday that while they have chosen a specific location in the village, they will not make the site public at this time. He said that the law does not require them to disclose the exact location.

Allison said it will take about four months for a decision to be made on the application. After publication, he said a 10-day period exists for persons wishing to make comments on the proposed location. Those comments must be in writing to the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago, which has first jurisdiction over the application.

THIS 10-DAY PERIOD, on request, can be extended up to 20 days longer, Allison said. Then the FHLB at its discretion can schedule a public hearing on the application.

Once the FHLB makes its recommendation, it is up to the national FHLB organization in Washington to make the final decision.

The Randhurst Shopping Center and the Wedgewood Terrace area are both located near the intersection listed by the savings institution. Village officials have taken repeated stands against the addition of any commercial uses in the Wedgewood area, which is a triangle formed by Rand Road, Euclid Avenue and Elmhurst Road.

Teachers, board open contract talks March 1

Contract negotiations between Elk Grove Township School Dist. 55 and the Teachers Council will begin March 1.

Negotiations are closed, as they have been in the past, by mutual agreement between the district and the teachers. The teachers' negotiating committee would not say what demands will be made.

Albeon Waltman, assistant superintendent for personnel, said, "I don't anticipate any problems with negotiations. I think they (the teachers council) are a very sensible group to work with. We have a very good relationship."

Eve Kaiser, chairman of the teachers negotiation committee, said, "I don't really foresee any big problems. I hope things can go smoothly."

Waltman said no actual ground rules are established for negotiations. "I don't feel any need to have ground rules. We work together fairly well."

During the 1970-71 school year, the teachers staged a one-day strike against the district. The strike was the first ever conducted by any Northwest suburban school teachers.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE at the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building in Mount Prospect caused $30,000 damage to trucks alone. When the

Rte. 53 accident injures two

Two persons, including an Illinois state policeman, are in good condition at Northwest Community Hospital recovering from injuries suffered in an auto collision late Tuesday on Ill. Rte. 53 near Northwest Highway.

Trooper James A. Warren, 28, and

Ralph Worsey, 45, of 440 S. Lakeview Dr., Wauconda, were injured when Worsey's vehicle struck Warren's radar squad car, which was parked on the Rte. 53 median about 200 feet from U.S. Rte. 14.

Worsey was reported in good condition suffering from a concussion and severe whiplash. Worsey was in fair condition yesterday suffering a broken arm and multiple contusions.

State police said Worsey's vehicle was traveling northbound on Rte. 53 at 68 miles per hour when it struck the state police squad car from behind. Police said the force of the impact shoved the squad car approximately 141 feet across the median into the next lane of traffic.

Both cars were demolished, according to state police.

Burglary outbreak hits southwest side of village

A rash of home burglaries have been reported this year to Arlington Heights police, most of them in the southwest sections of the village.

Residential burglaries in Arlington Heights have more than doubled during the month of January over those that occurred in January 1972, according to the latest monthly police report.

Twenty burglaries and attempts were reported last month. Only nine were reported during January of last year.

The increase is due to multiple burglaries which occurred in short periods of time, perhaps by one or more persons, according to Capt. Maurice J. English of the Arlington Heights Police Dept. Out of the 20 burglaries, approximately nine occurred in a period of three nights in the same residential area. Three to four cases occurred within a three-to-four-hour interval. Although the burglaries happened throughout the village, most of them occurred in the southwest quadrant.

MOST OF THE burglaries are still under investigation because of lack of information. In most of the cases, the loss has been minimal as substantial amounts were taken in only two or three cases.

"We believe that there are people who have seen someone or something in the neighborhood that would be helpful for us to resolve these cases," said Capt. English. "We encourage these people to call in the information to the detective division. Their names and the information they give would be held in strict confidence. We try to make our investigation as good as the information provided for us by these people."

In an effort to recover stolen goods, the police and fire departments are encouraging the public to utilize Operation Identification, a program in which people mark all valuables with engraving pens. This will allow police to trace stolen articles back to their owners. However, less than 50 persons in the community were reported to have used this program. The pens are available at police and fire stations.

WHEN THE ROOF collapsed yesterday morning at Culligan Water Conditioning Co., 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect, it probably forever hid the cause of the $90,000 fire. Fire officials have de-

Battle shaping up over revenue bonds for parks

An Analysis

Revenue bonds may soon become a major method of financing park district facilities.

The possible use of revenue bonds is causing a subtle battle among Arlington Heights Park District officials. The battle may well become a public explosion soon after the board elections in April.

Thomas Thornton, director of parks and recreation, is determined to beef up the park district. If voters won't approve a tax raise for new facilities like a $1.5 million ice facility, he wants to build them anyway by selling revenue bonds which would be paid off with money generated by the facility.

But commissioner Kay Muller, who admits she's the chief antagonist in the dispute, says building facilities which must generate revenue is defeating the purpose of providing the public with public recreation.

Thornton contends recreational facilities should all be public and somehow the public sector has slipped and fallen behind private enterprise. Public facilities must be increased, he said, to catch up to the private ones. If revenue bonds must be used, then that's how it will have to be.

PEOPLE don't understand the importance of money-making facilities to the future of the park system, says Thornton. Therefore it's up to the park system to do what's best.

Mrs. Muller says that maybe the private sector is providing for the recreational needs and the park district shouldn't dirty its hands in the money-making market.

"We are here to serve the people, not to make money," said Mrs. Muller.

"But our rates wouldn't be as high as the public facility," said Thornton.

"Maybe not quite as high, but pretty darn close," said Mrs. Muller.

"But they'd only be high until the facility was paid off, then we could lower the rates," said Thornton.

Thornton is particularly interested in selling revenue bonds as soon as possible for an indoor ice facility. In December, voters turned down a referendum, which included an ice facility by a four-to-one margin.

On Tuesday, Thornton suggested that the two board members who are running unopposed be invited to a meeting in the near future to discuss an ice facility, and hopefully give him the green light to start negotiations with financial firms.

BUT THE park board cooled Thornton's heels and said he would have to wait until after the election since there is a contest between three current board members for two two-year seats.

While Mrs. Muller is firmly opposed to building an ice facility with revenue bonds and Thornton says it has to be that way, the rest of the board members are in the middle of the road.

It would be nice to have an ice facility, but there are a lot of unanswered ifs, say the board members. Could we sell the bonds? Would the facility generate enough revenue to pay off the bonds?

Mrs. Muller says the real question is do the people want the facility? If they do, they would have voted positively on the last referendum.

And Thornton says the people aren't quite sure what they want, but he knows what that park district needs for a better recreational program.

A fire of undetermined origin caused $90,000 damage yesterday to the Culligan Water Conditioning Co. building at 3 W. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Lawrence A. Pairitz said the fire, discovered at 4 a.m. by a policeman, apparently started in the loft area over the garage-storage section. "We will probably never learn the cause," he said, "because the whole roof area collapsed."

Heavy wooden roof beams fell on trucks parked inside the garage, causing an estimated $30,000 damage to the trucks. Structural damage was placed at $50,000 and was confined primarily to the eastern portion of the building.

The office area, where area residents who use the Culligan water softening materials send their payments, escaped fire damage. "There was some damage to the rug by water and some smoke damage in the office area," Pairitz said. "The office machines were covered."

PAIRITZ SAID 40 per cent of the building was involved in the fire. "The fire companies held the fire to the point it had reached when we got there," he said. "That's all we can really ask of them."

The fire presented two major dangers,

Pairitz said. The first was the degree of involvement it had reached by the time fire equipment arrived.

The roof collapsed shortly afterward. The second danger was the embers that were being sprayed all over the downtown area.

Some of the 60 firemen from six communities that responded to the two-alarm blaze were sent to check roofs across the street in case the embers had started other fires.

CULLIGAN OFFICIALS yesterday said the regular service number of 233-1040 will be in service today. However, if callers cannot get through on that line, they should call the Libertyville office, 362-0390.

Some cleanup had begun early yesterday afternoon and it is expected the firm will retain its Mount Prospect location.

Initially, Mount Prospect police thought that arson or burglary could have been involved. An overhead door was found to be open some 4½ feet and there was a report of a safe partially open.

However, the "safe" turned out to be an old refrigerator and Pairitz said the fire apparently damaged the door's electronic controls, partially opening it. Arson has since been ruled out.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reported that electricity in the commercial area south of Culligan to Northwest Highway was knocked out by the fire until 10:45 a.m.

THE FIRE in the one-story brick building was discovered by Patrolman Edward Hackmeister while he was returning to the police station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., after being on patrol. Hackmeister said he could smell wood burning and decided to follow the wind in reverse. When he reached the intersection of Central Road and Maple Street, he could see flames coming from the Culligan building roof.

Two Mount Prospect firemen suffered minor injuries. Michael Kles was treated at Northwest Community Hospital for a cut hand and Edward Druffel was burned on the face by a chemical.

The fire was out by 5:20 a.m., after almost 300,000 gallons of water were used. Through the mutual aid system, Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Prospect Heights sent fire equipment and men. Elk Grove Village sent its chief and an engine to stand by at Fire Station One in Mount Prospect. Mount Prospect had four engines, a squad, an ambulance, a snorkel and aerial ladder at the scene.

Mount Prospect Civil Defense volunteers helped police control traffic, which was rerouted from Central and Main Street. Public works crews, under Herb Weeks, aided with the water supply and the Salvation Army truck supplied coffee for the firemen.

Requires observation, conferences

by CINDY TEW

Student evaluation means more than taking tests in Arlington Heights School Dist. 25.

And tests are more than a means for differentiating between good students and bad ones.

Students are evaluated on how they are doing in subject areas as well as observed for untestable traits like maturity and attitude. Each test, teacher observation, and student conference cannot be isolated as proof a child is succeeding or failing in the classroom.

"TEST DATA IN Isolation can be grossly misunderstood. It's very important to know what that data means in the context of each individual child's growth," said Donald V. Strong, superintendent.

Genevieve Weirich, learning disabilities teacher at Greenbrier School, said the most important function of tests is to diagnose children's strengths and weaknesses.

"We want to evaluate each child to see where he needs help and to find out how each child learns best," she said.

The only test given on a district-wide basis is the California Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills. It is given to third through seventh graders each spring. Other tests are given at teacher discretion throughout the year to test a multitude of student progress.

As the district becomes more and more individualized, with students progressing in subjects at their own rate, the method of testing is becoming more individualized, too.

WHEN CHILDREN begin a new unit I give them a pretest to determine what areas they need work in and at the end of the unit I give them a post test, to see if they accomplished what they set out to learn," said James Modoc who teaches his fourth and fifth graders individually at Greenbrier School.

"Sometimes a group of children are involved in a test and other times testing is done individually — it depends on whether or not more than one child is at the same level in any given subject," he said.

The district also offers a multitude of standardized national tests for teachers to use to find out in what areas certain children need more help.

Teachers, administrators, board of education members and most parents agree the publishing of achievement test scores in newspapers like the Chicago public schools do hurt rather than help the children. In Chicago, achievement test scores are printed as an average for each school building.

"We don't have to do big broadside testing for advertising purposes. Our kids are well above the national norm. We know that," said Strong.

ALL TAXPAYERS have to do is look at the success of the students as they move to high school and college to see their money is being well spent.

"I'm thoroughly against publishing the test scores. It simply would not benefit the children," said Modoc, who is also acting president of the Arlington Teachers Association. "The test scores only tell us what the children are doing at one point in time."

The publishing of test scores, most educators say, would simply pit building against building and teacher against teacher. Instead of catering to the needs of individual students, as the district strives to do, teachers would begin teaching students to come up with the right test scores.

A few teachers have said they would like to see test scores published, and the district has no confidence in their teachers if they think teachers would teach solely for tests. But most teachers agree if the district philosophy were to publish high test scores, it would also become the philosophy of the teachers.

"Teachers would naturally start teaching for the tests, not to improve each individual student," said Modoc.

WILLIAM BECK, a board of education member, says the test scores in themselves are a trap to people who don't know what is behind the numbers.

"The achievement test scores taken yearly are a benchmark for students, teachers and parents, but are not as valuable as the individual tests," said Beck. "Test scores are sometimes a trap because some kids may be working way above their ability when they test at grade level, while others may be shuffling off according to their ability, if they test at grade level."

Test scores, along with all other methods of diagnosing students' progress, are not secrets in the district. In fact teachers do all they can to get parents to come in for conferences to discuss their child's progress.

"This year we have increased reporting periods. We send out four report forms a year and teachers are given enough time to hold two parent conferences per child," said Strong. Last year two report forms went home and only one parent conference was required.

"WE ARE ALWAYS glad to see parents come in — most of us wish more parents would come in more often," said Modoc. "They can see test scores of their child projected on a class or national curve, I'll tell them anything they want to know about their child."

Modoc says he understands why some of the taxpayers want to see proof the school district is doing its job. But he says the achievement scores on one test are no way to measure the district.

According to Modoc, test scores along with the rest of each child's school profile is a personal matter.

"It's no one else's business what other children are doing," said Modoc.

Wheeling school board previews contract talks

Contract negotiations between the Wheeling Faculty Council and the Dist. 21 Board of Education are to be discussed in an executive session at the school board's regular meeting at 8 p.m. tonight.

Earlier this week, negotiating teams from the board and the WFC approved the ground rules for the talks on next year's contract.

Negotiations last year were open to the public. However, all sessions regarding the 1973-74 teacher contract will be closed.

The following statement was issued by both parties Tuesday:

- "The Wheeling Faculty Council and School Dist. 21 negotiating teams met from 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 19.
- Ground rules as previously agreed upon were approved as printed. Comparative proposals were exchanged and explained.

The next meeting of the negotiating team is scheduled for March 5 at 4 p.m."

MARGO RICHTER, WFC chairman, yesterday refused to discuss Monday's session or to disclose the topic of the March 5 meeting.

Dist. 21 Assistant Supt., John Barger, was unavailable for comment. Barger is the spokesman for the board's negotiating team.

The board is also scheduled tonight to approve an application for refunding of the Omni-House Youth Services Bureau. The application is for a $65,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. The grant is made through the school district.

LAST YEAR the bureau received a grant for more than $120,000. Because of ILEC rules only half that amount can be granted on a yearly basis.

Other items on tonight's agenda are:

- Approval of tax shelter annuities.
- Approval of judges for the April 14 school board election.
- Acceptance of teacher resignations.
- Hiring of new principals for Twain and Whitman schools.
- Selection of a representative to a School District Organization Study.

The board will also hear a special report on the district's health services and a legislative report from Supt. Ken Gill.

The meeting will be in the board room of the Dist. 21 Administration Center, 999 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

Teachers, board open contract talks March 1

Contract negotiations between Elk Grove Township School Dist. 59 and the Teachers Council will begin March 1.

Negotiations are closed, as they have been in the past, by mutual agreement between the district and the teachers. The teachers' negotiating committee would not say what demands will be made.

Albeon Waltman, assistant superintendent for personnel, said, "I don't anticipate any problems with negotiations. I think they (the teachers council) are a very sensible group to work with. We have a very good relationship."

Eve Kalsner, chairman of the teachers negotiation committee, said, "I don't really foresee any big problems. I hope things go smoothly."

Auditors OK tentative '73 budget

The Elk Grove Township Board of Auditors has agreed on a tentative budget of $439,012 for the 1973-74 fiscal year, which begins March 1.

The proposed budget is about $3,000 less than the current fiscal budget.

The budget will be put on public display at the township office, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, for 30 days beginning Monday. The budget will officially be adopted after a public hearing March 27.

The final figures for the tentative budget were agreed on by the auditors at a budget hearing Tuesday. This was the second budget hearing by the township.

DURING THE MEETING, township Auditor Richard Hall said all figures in the budget are maximum estimates of coming expenses and the township would not necessarily spend the entire amounts.

Few changes were made in the estimated expenses at Tuesday's meeting from the figures agreed on at the first meeting Feb. 13.

A total of $185,312 was proposed for the town fund. This fund covers all township expenses except those under the general assistance fund and the road and bridge fund. The proposed fund figure is only $700 more than the current budget allocation.

The biggest reductions in the town fund were made in the elimination of expenses for the township collector's office and for bond interest in the coming year.

The collector's office is no longer a functioning agency at the township level and no funds were budgeted.

DURING THE current fiscal year, the township has paid off all outstanding bonds and is now operating on a cash flow basis.

At the first budget meeting township officials suggested $27,000 be allocated for the township youth committee — more than double the current $12,000 allocation.

At Tuesday's meeting the officials lowered the youth committee budget to $22,000. This would provide for maintaining the youth budget at its current level plus a $10,000 expense estimate for the committee to become affiliated with the Bridge, a Palatine township youth agency.

The road and bridge fund expense was held at $175,300, the figure agreed on at the first hearing. The current budget figure for roads and bridges is $176,000.

The general assistance budget was also held at the previously agreed figure of $78,400. This year's general assistance total is $80,450.

THE OFFICIALS also budgeted expenses for the township sewer fund. This is not a tax money fund, but is financed through revenue from billing sewer users. Total revenue is estimated at $12,000.

Township officials have yet to receive any federal revenue sharing funds. A special set of budget hearings will have to be held to budget the revenue sharing money when it is received.

Officials still are trying to correct problems which have prevented the township from getting its revenue sharing. When the township application was submitted, the federal agency mistakenly identified the township as a nontaxing body, and nontaxing bodies are not eligible for revenue sharing.
